CHOCTAWS FIGHT FOR SPEAKER'S CHAIR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—A special from Washington to the World says: Maj. C. G. Starr, Twenty-fifth infantry, who had two companies on guard in the Choctaw nation at the annual meeting of the Indians, reports that he made all the participants leave their pistols and rifles outside the council house, and adds: "I was told that there was fighting inside, and found five men in a struggle for actual possession of the speaker's chair. As they seemed about equal in their chances for it, I left them alone."

Held Midnight Session.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The government's "guillotine scheme," with regard to the education bill, was put in operation in the house of commons last night. Five clauses of the bill, with numerous amendments, were voted without discussion. Members of the opposition challenged every vote, with the result that 20 divisions were taken between 11 o'clock and 3 this morning, when the house adjourned.

A NEW LIGHT ON MYSTERY IN BELLEVUE

Some Denials Add Interest to Groetzinger Case.

NOT A PATIENT AT ALEXANDRIA

Money in Underwear Said to Furnish Needed Funds.

A DETECTIVE AT WORK

A little light is beginning to illuminate the mystery of the whereabouts of Emil Groetzinger during the absent-minded wanderings which followed his strange disappearance from his Bellevue home on the night of October 21.

He was not a patient in the hospital in Alexandria, Va., as reported; he is not in Philadelphia; he is not being treated by a Washington specialist, nor was he robbed of all his money—a goodly-sized roll of bills, said to have been secreted in his underclothing, being fortunately on hand to pay car fare on his mysterious itinerary.

These facts came to the surface last night. Mrs. Groetzinger admitted that her husband had not been a patient at Alexandria, thus corroborating the dispatches in The Gazette last week which stated that no man of that name was confined there. Groetzinger's first message to his wife was sent from New York, and in it he appointed Washington as the place of meeting.

Had Some Money Hidden.

They did not go to a hotel in Washington. Groetzinger said he did not wish newspaper notoriety, and in order to avoid reporters, they stopped at a quiet lodging house. There he told his wife the whole story of his wanderings. He declared that he had been sandbagged near Jackman street, in Bellevue, and after that knew nothing until he suddenly came to his senses in a reading room in New York, while scanning the Pittsburgh newspapers.

He said his watch was missing, and that $125 in his wallet, his sister's property, also was gone. The only possible means that he could have had to reach New York, so he said, was that he had sewed a roll of bills in his underclothing.

Mrs. Groetzinger suggested that a message should be sent home, and to this her husband added that it would be unwise to file the telegram in Washington, because the newspapers would be on his trail in an hour, and advised going to some small town nearby. The nearest telegraph station outside of Washington is in Alexandria, on the Virginia side of the Potomac. The couple boarded a trolley car and went there, filing a message to the effect that Groetzinger was in an Alexandria hospital suffering from a nervous disorder.

To Foil Newspapers.

Imagining that the newspapers had been foiled they boarded the next car and returned to Washington—a ride of nearly an hour over an electric line that is trying to the best of nerves. Shortly afterward they went to Philadelphia and there sought a nerve specialist.

While they were speeding back to Philadelphia, the Washington correspondent for The Gazette was examining the list of patients in the Alexandria hospital, and a few minutes later wired to Pittsburgh that there was but one male patient in the institution, and that he was not Groetzinger.

In Philadelphia they summoned a specialist and a detective. The latter gave an expert view of the case. He said that he had known men to be beaten with a sandbag and suffer mental aberration for even a longer period than his client. He is working on the mystery.

In giving these facts to a reporter for The Gazette last night, Mrs. Groetzinger said her husband had left Philadelphia, and that she would not give the place of his recuperation, except to say that he was still in the east. The specialist is a Philadelphia physician. Mrs. Groetzinger says her husband bears no visible wounds, but that he is almost on the verge of nervous collapse. She expects him to return home next week.

WIFE OF GREAT HUMORIST RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS

MRS. OLIVIA L. CLEMENS,

The wife of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) has been dangerously sick, but is reported to be recovering at her home at Riverdale-on-Hudson. Mr. Clemens has been almost constantly at her bedside for several weeks.

REPUBLICAN PLURALITY IS ALMOST 49,000

MAJOR BROWN GOT MORE THAN 52,000

Old Organization Elects Its Candidate for Director of the Poor.

TOTAL VOTE WAS 114,906

The Republican state candidates received pluralities in this county ranging from 48,591 for Pennypacker to 52,863 for I. B. Brown. It is the greatest plurality in the history of the county, and the total vote of 114,906 is almost equal to the record-breaker of 1896, when the poll was 118,174.

The plurality of McKinley in 1896 was 48,109, but the margin for Pennypacker exceeds that by 482. The greatest plurality ever given to a previous candidate for governor was 38,475 for Hastings in 1894. Stone left his home county with but 18,721 to his credit. The presidential vote two years ago was 102,624, or 12,282 less than the total poll this year.

William M. Brown, for lieutenant governor, and I. B. Brown, for secretary of internal affairs, received larger pluralities than Pennypacker. William Brown ran 325 votes ahead of Pennypacker, and his opponent, George W. Guthrie, polled 776 votes fewer than Pattison. Maj. Brown exceeded the vote of Pennypacker by 1,526, and his opponent, James Nolan, ran 2,779 votes below Pattison.

Citizens Helped State Ticket.

The orders of the secretary of the commonwealth to count separately the vote polled for each ticket on the ballot was ignored in this county, and the election officers returned the vote for each candidate in a lump. This makes it impossible to tell how many votes were polled for Pennypacker in the Republican and Citizens columns, or how Pattison fared in the Democratic and "Muddy Water" columns. It is clearly shown, however, that Pennypacker's great plurality was obtained by the Citizens indorsement.

The returning board has completed the count for all officers, save those on the county ticket. The vote for state candidates follows:

Governor—Samuel W. Pennypacker, 80,191; Robert E. Pattison, 31,600; S. C. Swallow, 1,361; William Adams, 1,231; J. W. Slayton, 523; total, 114,906; Pennypacker over Pattison, 48,591.

Lieutenant governor — William M. Brown, 80,516; George W. Guthrie, 30,824; L. L. Crumlish, 1,250; Donald L. Munro, 1,059; J. Mahlon Barnes, 454; total, 114,143; Brown over Guthrie, 49,692.

Secretary of internal affairs—Isaac B. Brown, 81,724; James Nolan, 28,861; M. S. Marquis, 1,275; Frank Feehan, 1,018; Harry C. Gould, 447; total, 113,325; Brown over Nolan, 52,863.

Vote for Legislators.

The following is the vote in the unreported legislative and senatorial districts:

Second legislative district — *John Francies, 5,236; *J. E. Powell, 5,021; John H. Henderson, 4,580; William T. Marshall, 4,610; J. F. McClelland, 72; C. K. Strobel, 61.

Seventh legislative district—*William B. Kirker, 5,772; *J. M. Esler, 5,657; R. E. Mevay, 4,848; oGorge T. Owens, 4,700.

In the legislative district those marked with an asterisk were elected.

Forty-second senatorial district—John M. Goehring, 11,094; Charles A. Muehlbronner, 10,234; Enos Schwartz, 83; Goehring over Muehlbronner, 1,860.

Forty-fourth senatorial district—William S. Woods, 21,964; Thomas J. Ford, 19,623; F. C. Britain, 611; P. C. Tesson, 175, Woods over Ford, 2,341.

William H. Guy was elected director of poor over James Purcell, the Citizens candidate, by a plurality of 726. Guy received 20,807 and Purcell 20,081 votes. The electors of Pittsburgh and Allegheny do not vote for poor director, although the office is a county one. Guy is the only nominee on the old organization's county ticket to pull through. Many wagers were made that the old organization would not elect a man on its county ticket. The question now arises whether or not Guy was a county candidate, as he was not voted for by the whole county, or just a district nominee.

LESSENING COST IN TIN MILLS

American Tin Plate Co. Has New Method of Production.

NOW BEING TESTED

The American Tin Plate Company is planning innovations at its plants which may revolutionize and materially reduce labor costs. An experimental plant is in course of erection and if it proves a success the system will go into many other plants. It is claimed for the system that under operations similar to the present ones the productive capacity of the same number of mills will be much increased.

With the company now in position to make more plate than is consumed, it will follow that not nearly all of the plants will be equipped with the new system. The changes, if made all around, will mean an expenditure of millions of dollars.

Among the workmen there has been a rumor that the Monessen system is to be abandoned at the Star and the Monongahela plants in Pittsburgh and the old system substituted. This report probably arises from the purpose of the company to try the still newer system.

Since the culmination of the steel strike a year ago, the men of the Amalgamated association have kept out of the Pittsburgh plants and the association has done nothing toward organizing the new men since July 1, after which, under the terms of the wage agreement, it had that opportunity. If the old system were put into the Pittsburgh plants, few of the skilled men working there now would be available, and the change would probably have brought back hundreds of men who have been out of the mills since the strike started. On this account leaders of the Amalgamated association have been watching for the change.

The big Rankin mills of the American Steel and Wire Company were yesterday put on a three-turn system. The move will add about 200 skilled men to the list of 1,200 employes of the works. More important still the change is said to be in the way of experiment, which, if satisfactory, will result in a three-turn system being adopted at all the plants of the company.

THEODORE HAVEKOTTE FOUND IN THE OHIO RIVER

His Mind Affected Over Losing Mining Ventures and He Is Supposed to Have Committed Suicide Ten Days Ago.

Theodore Havekotte, formerly a well-known business man of this city, disappeared from his home at No. 3 Winthrop street, Allegheny, on Sunday night, November 2. His body was found in the Ohio river, near the mouth of Jacks run, Yesterday morning.

There is little or no doubt that he committed suicide. He had met with financial reverses in some Mexican mining operations and was in a despondent frame of mind.

The night Havekotte left his home he was seen by his son to start down Jacks run in the direction of the river. It was not supposed at that time, however, that he had any suicidal intentions, but about the only conclusion to be drawn now is that he walked from his home to the river and threw himself in.

Related to Well Known Men.

The body, after being taken to the morgue, was identified as that of Havekotte by his brother-in-law, Charles L. Walther, president of the Walther-Robertson Drug Company. Otto Burgdorf, a former well-known bank cashier, is also a brother-in-law of Havekotte. The suicide was well known in Masonic circles, being a member of Pittsburgh commandery No. 1, Knights Templar. He was 53 years old and leaves a son, aged about 16 years, and two daughters, who are younger.

Havekotte's mining losses not only affected his mind, but shattered his health. While he was stationed in Mexico with the Somanki Mining Company he contracted malarial fever and was troubled with violent chills. Preceding these attacks his mental condition would become strained and he would be seized with a mania to wander away. On several occasions he was known to disappear for several days at a time.

Havekotte Often Wandered Away.

About four weeks ago he went away on one of his strange trips, not knowing where he was going. That time he took a boat and went to Morgantown, W. Va. While there he recovered his reason and sent word to Mr. Walther, his brother-in-law, who had him brought home. About a month before that Havekotte wandered away and walked to Butler. One night last June he was found walking along the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, near the East Liberty station, not knowing who he was or where he was going. It is also related that while he was in Mexico he left the mining camp and wandered away into the mountains. When he was found, five days afterward, he was nearly dead from starvation, cold and exposure.

Knowing that he was subject to these wandering spells, Havekotte is said to have given Mr. Walther a power of attorney so that he could attend to any business matters in which Havekotte had an interest, should it become necessary so to do during any of his strange absences. When Havekotte disappeared from his home on November 2 it was supposed that he was again away on one of his aimless trips and while, as usual, quiet efforts were made to obtain some trace of him, no thought was given to the suggestion that he might have committed suicide.

Havekotte became interested in mining enterprises about five years ago. About a year ago he is said to have borrowed considerable money from a banking institution of this city, through a business man. The merchant gave his note for the amount and it was indorsed by Havekotte. It is said that this money was scattered and lost in mining enterprises.

Went Into Insurance Business.

This failure seemed to affect Havekotte's reason. Last June he returned home and decided to cease giving his personal attention to his Mexican mining ventures and to gradually give up his interests there entirely. He became interested in the insurance business and it was partly through the medium of an insurance agency card found in one of his pockets that his identification was brought about yesterday. The address of Mr. Walther was also found.

Mrs. Walther, a sister to Havekotte, said at her home in Termon avenue, Allegheny, that her brother had probably drowned himself on account of his shattered health and business troubles. The night he left his home in Winthrop street, which he had occupied only about one month, Havekotte waited until his children had retired and then started out. His son, from a window, saw his father walk in the direction of the High bridge over Jacks run. That, so far as is known, was the last seen of him alive. Yesterday morning a number of men saw the body of a man come to the surface of the water just below Jacks run in the Ohio river. They secured a boat and brought the body to shore.

Havekotte several years ago was identified with a tailoring firm in Liberty avenue. His wife died about eight years ago.

Late last night it was reported that Havekotte had recently transferred some investments he held to members of his family and had given some personal possessions away. It is also said he sent a letter to a friend indicating that they would not meet again. Havekotte was a son of the late John Havekotte, who was a well-known merchant tailor.

The deceased was for a long time a director in the German National bank.

FOUR DEAD AND FORTY INJURED

Furnace Boiler Explodes Among Workmen With Awful Results.

BURIED IN DEBRIS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lebanon, Nov. 13.—The explosion of a large boiler in scrap puddle furnace No. 3, at the west works of the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company, late this afternoon, caused the death of four workmen and about 40 others were more or less seriously injured. The dead are:

JACOB BRICKER, aged 67, of Sunnyside, a laborer; leaves a wife and six children.

WALTER TURNER of this city, a puddler; leaves a wife and one child.

JAMES HISSINGER of this city, a puddler; leaves a wife and four children.

WILLIAM OAKES, aged 45, puddler; leaves widow.

Among the worst injured are:

JAMES NINE, single, aged 25, puddler's helper; badly hurt internally and leg broken; condition critical.

AARON POTTEIGER, puddler, married; lacerations of hands and head and serious internal injuries; condition critical.

Others who received injuries were: Francis Murray, seriously burned about body; Frank Arnold, puddler's helper; George P. Meyer, puddler's helper; Joseph Gris, aged 50, coal stoker; Daniel McCormick, puddler, general injuries; John Cochran; Pius Kline, puddler, struck by a flying piece of iron; James Horgan, struck by a piece of iron; Sylvester Wolf, boss puddler, struck by flying timber; Cornelius Mader, Penrose Hurlich, John Habble, Michael K. Spang, John Hosbery, Wilson Lash, Simon Pottieger, injured very severely, and Frank Dissinger.

The calamity is the worst that ever occurred in Lebanon. The ruin of the nine immediate puddle furnaces was complete. Thousands of persons were attracted to the scene. Weeping women and children crowded about the place, making frantic efforts to obtain tidings of their loved ones. The excitement was so intense that little comfort could be given them. Physicians were called from every quarter of the city and the hospital ambulances and other vehicles were hurried into service. The offices of the works were converted into a hospital and a corps of nurses from the Good Samaritan hospital was sought to the place.

Into this temporary hospital the maimed and scalded workmen were carried and given attention. Some have their eyes burned out, others their hands blown off. It is impossible to learn the names of the injured. Many of them, it is believed, cannot live through the night. Women and children thronged the entrance to the works crying and begging to be allowed inside.

It is feared the list of dead will be materially increased when the ruins of the nine wrecked puddle furnaces are explored. The exploded boiler was hurled high into the air and passed over the offices, burying itself in the south bank of Quittapahilla creek, several hundred yards away. The plant has been closed and workmen are removing the debris.

DIRE THREATS FROM NIHILISTS

Slow Poison or Insanity for the Millionaires Unless They Pay.

A GERMAN ARRESTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

Death, slow and painful, or long years of hopeless insanity, has been the threat made to J. P. Morgan, Russell Sage, John W. Gates and scores of other men of great wealth in this city. The threats have been conveyed in letters to which are attached the names of six men, with the information that they form a Nihilist committee.

The only alternative left to the men singled out as the victims of Nihilism is payment of large sums of money for immunity. Some have been informed that $1,000 will save them from destruction, while others have been called upon to pay a much larger amount.

William Becker, a stalwart German, was arrested today at the general delivery window in the New York postoffice, where he called for answers to the letters demanding money.

Threatening letters have been received by wealthy New Yorkers ever since October 1. During all that time detectives have been in search of the writer.

Although the letters demanding money purported to be authorized by Russian Nihilists who were sent to this country on a mission of death, East Indian poison of a subtle nature was said to be the agent of which they intended to make use. The letters were all addressed with black ink and they were written with a fluid that resembled blood. The envelopes were all marked "Personal, important and private."

Although all these letters were worded in the same general way, some were more specific in describing the fate of the victim should he neglect the warning or refuse to comply with the demand made upo nhim. The writer of the letters showed himself to be illiterate.

Detective Davis was on watch this afternoon, when about 5 o'clock the man stepped up to the general delivery window and asked if there were any letters for C. C. Barton. Davis had just placed his hand on the shoulder of the man at the delivery window and had informed him that he was under arrest, when his prisoner turned and grappled with him. The two men fell to the floor and the struggle which ensued caused quite a panic among the women who happened to be in the postoffice in greater number than usual.

Davis, who is very muscular, put up a good struggle, but he was slowly being worsted when his fellow-detectives entered and went to his assistance. The prisoner at once surrendered and made no objection when handcuffs were slipped upon his wrists.

In his cell tonight Barton went and told the detectives that he had never done anything wrong in his life and that he called for mail to oblige a chance acquaintance whom he had met in City Hall park. Later he took more courage and announced his intention of killing all of the men who had been instrumental in bringing about his arrest. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

QUAY AND PENROSE TO VISIT INDIANS

Will See Delawares Dance and Take Part in a Big Turkey and Deer Hunt.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—Senator Quay, Senator Penrose, Richard C. Adams and Walter Logan are coming west to see the great annual dance of the Delaware Indians, which will be held November 17 at Dewey, I. T. While in the Indian territory a big turkey and deer hunt will be held with famous Indian hunters as guides.

Mr. Adams is the financial agent in Washington of the Indians and Mr. Logan is the accredited attorney of the Delaware Indians in their $16,000,000 claim against the government.

D. D. Thomas of this city has received the following letter from Mr. Adams:

"I will be at Dewey the 17th, accompanied by Senators Quay and Penrose. I will probably leave Washington the afternoon of the 12th and arrive in St. Louis the night of the 13th. Senator Quay will meet me the 15th and go on to Dewey. It is likely Walter Logan will be with me also."

Banquet to Chaffee.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Representatives of the seven great commercial organizations of San Francisco met Gen. Chaffee at a reception at the chamber of commerce today. Addresses were made by prominent business men and Gen. Chaffee also made a short speech. Gen. Chaffee and his party left for Chicago tonight.

CANADA IS WARNED AGAINST UNCLE SAM

Government Organ Urges Creation of Military to Resist His Advances.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 13.—The Halifax Chronicle, the leading government paper in the maritime provinces, continues its editorial campaign in favor of the creation of a strong Canadian military force. It says:

"The Americans, in their present frame of mind, are neither good nor safe neighbors. It is beyond dispute that the longing which many of them have always had for our territory is reaching an acute stage. The more desirable Canada becomes, the more they covet it. Only a fear of the undertaking would be at all likely to be effective in staying it. Therefore, Canada should not lose time in preparing to defend herself. Unless she is ready to defend herself she cannot be defended.

"This is no mere alarmist note of warning. When an American like Archbishop Ireland is talking openly of annexation to stimulate the American appetite for territorial gain, it is high time for a friendly yet firm intimation to our neighbors that our country is our own, and to have ready, say, half a million young, well-armed and capable troops in case of sudden necessity."

MOROCCO REBELS BEATEN IN BATTLE.

SHOT TO PLAY HERO BEFORE SWEETHEART

Chum of the Alleged Slayer of Johnstown Man Tells His Story of the Tragedy.

SOUTH BEND, IND., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Lloyd Mow, chum of Earl Nixon, who shot and killed John Riffle of Johnstown, Pa., early Sunday morning, today made a statement. He admits that Nixon fired upon Riffle without cause, the boy's object being to play the hero before his sweetheart, Anna Carl, an Oliver hotel attache, who was in the buggy with him.

State's Attorney Clark has charged Nixon with murder in the second degree.

Coroner Renno will render a verdict tomorrow. The state's attorney and the police are at variance in the case, the police contending that Riffle attempted to rob Nixon.

Riffle's body was shipped to Johnstown. His relatives will assist the state in the prosecution, and the trial promises to be one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of this county.

ROBBERS DISAPPOINTED.

Bind and Gag Woman and Ransack House in Vain Search for Money.

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—While R. N. Campbell, a wealthy farmer of the Speechley oil district, near Middletown, was absent from home on Tuesday night three masked men drove up to the house about 10 o'clock, forced an entrance, bound Mrs. Campbell hand and foot, gagged her with a corn-cob and ransacked the house for money, but got nothing.

Mr. Campbell returned about 11 o'clock, just a few minutes after the robbers had made their escape. Campbell usually has a good deal of money about him, and it was this that the robbers were after.

VOLCANIC ERUPTION IN SAMOAN ISLANDS

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND, Nov. 13.—According to advices received here from Apia, Samoa, via Tangia, a volcanic eruption has broken out in Savaii, the westernmost and largest island of the Samoan group. Six craters are reported to be emitting flames. In one village in the vicinity the earth is covered two inches deep with ashes.

STROMBOLI VOLCANO HAS BROKEN FORTH.

ROME, Nov. 13.—The volcano on Strombolo island, off the north coast of Sicily, has commenced a terrible eruption. A colossal column of fire is rising and incandescent stones are being emitted from the craters. Many houses on the island have been destroyed.

CASSATT SAYS HIS RAILROAD MUST LEAD THE PROCESSION.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 13.—In presenting to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company his proposal for the 10 per cent increase of wages to employes, President Cassatt is reported to have said:

"The country is passing through an unexampled period of prosperity, and, as far as the Pennsylvania is concerned, this prosperity is bound to continue for at least two years, if contracts are kept. It is time that our employes be given a share in this prosperity.

"All the railroads in the United States and all employers of labor are contemplating an advance in wages. The cost of living has increased 20 to 25 per cent, but wages have not increased accordingly. This movement is bound to come, and the Pennsylvania may as well lead as follow. We have more business offered than we can handle, and can't see our way out of trouble unless we keep our men loyal to the company and help them while they help us.

"I, therefore, recommend a flat increase of 10 per cent in wages, and advise that this announcement be made to the employes first and to the public later."

ONE SIX-YEAR-OLD VICTIM OF FOOTBALL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—A special from Wilkesbarre to the World says: Football has claimed its youngest victim on record, it is believed, in Edward Beddington, aged 6, who died today at his home at Brownton. Two youthful teams played a game last Saturday, and the boy was one of the "backs" for his side. He was running with the ball when the opposing side tackled him, and as he fell the boys stumbled over him. After the game he complained of feeling ill and the night his condition became serious. Physicians found that he had been injured internally. Peritonitis set in, causing death.

MINISTER WU BIDS FAREWELL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, who is about to return to his home to become imperial minister of commerce, spoke his farewell to America this evening at a dinner tendered in his honor at Delmonico's by the American Asiatic association and the Silk Association of America. He will leave Washington for San Francisco next Tuesday.

UNCLE SAM TO PROBE MME. TINGLEY'S CULT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Katherine Tingley's Universal brotherhood is to be the subject of investigation by the United States government. This announcement is made by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. The investigation will be conducted independently of the action taken by the New York and California Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

FREIGHT TIED UP WEST OF THE CITY

A Few Miles Out Is a Fatal Zone, Within Which No Goods May Enter.

WOES OF MERCHANTS

Wholesale Trade in Cereals, Flour, Canned and Other Commodities May Be Diverted to Punxsutawney, Account of Delay.

The freight congestion has grown worse in two weeks. No Pittsburgh merchants is thinking seriously of moving his establishment to Steubenville, Butler or Clearfield, but every Pittsburgh wholesaler is envying his brothers in these three little towns the superior facilities afforded them by the railroads. It takes a carload of flour from four to six weeks to come from Chicago to Pittsburgh, but Clearfield merchants can get a carload of flour from Chicago in 10 days or two weeks.

Merchants interviewed yesterday say that some magic half-circle, within which no train loaded with flour, cereals, canned goods, dried and fresh fruits and many other kinds of goods may enter, seems to bound Pittsburgh on the west. The zone marked off by this half-circle extends only a few miles from the city, and although not defined by any natural marks, it is clearly defined by events.

Mysterious Disappearances.

Cars loaded with the goods named reach the edge of the zone, and then, if they are intended for Pittsburgh merchants, they disappear, while if they are to go to Butler, Steubenville or other place that does not require a trip through Pittsburgh, they continue promptly on their journey.

Formerly merchants could make a fair estimate of the time in which goods from the west could be received. Now they are all "at sea." Merchants are seriously thinking of ordering goods shipped around Pittsburgh and to the east of the city, to try if shipments from eastern points can then be brought into Pittsburgh more promptly than if sent directly from the west. Some of them fear that Butler, Clearfield or Punxsutawney merchants may "get onto" the situation, and by sending agents here, capture the trade in flour, dried fruits and canned goods.

It is aggravating to a merchant to order a shipment of flour, for instance, from the mills in Minneapolis.

Cannot Be Located.

The flour starts from that point, passes through Chicago all right and comes bounding east, the merchant being able to trace its progress by reports from the railroad officials. Finally the shipment arrives within a few miles of Pittsburgh and the merchant notifies his customer that the flour will be at the freight depot the next day and will be delivered promptly.

He goes with his bill of lading to the proper place to take over his goods, and is then informed that they are not there. Where they are the railroad does not know, nor can he sometimes learn until two, three and four weeks have elapsed, when the merchant receives word that his cars are on some side track in Allegheny.

Railroads formerly had so much trouble from shippers' delay in emptying their cars that they instituted the per diem penalty charge, but the merchants cannot enforce a per diem penalty on the railroads for delay.

Of course the result is that wholesale merchants are losing trade every day, besides losing money. Quotations in certain goods are frequently changed at the producing or main shipping point, and by the time six weeks and the long-wanted car roll along, quotations are down and the retailer refuses to pay for his goods by quotations of six weeks before.

It has been suggested to the railroads that they give flour and cereals and other quick-selling freight swifter transit than the "coarser" freight that seems to encumber the roads, but no attention has been paid to these suggestions.

Jobbers fear that they will lose their trade in the smaller towns west of the city, for country merchants are learning that they can get freight from Steubenville and Wheeling much more conveniently than from Pittsburgh. Butler is becoming quite a center for country merchants, and a maintenance of the Pittsburgh congestion threatens to develop smaller towns into rivals.

MASCAGNI HAPPIER.

Visited by Italian Ambassador and Gets Fine Reception in Providence.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Mascagni met Signor Edmondo Mayer des Planches, Italian ambassador, today and the troubles of the composer were talked over at the Hotel Lenox.

While it is understood that the ambassador will use his good offices to assist Mascagni, his visit to Boston was at the invitation of the Circola Italiano, before which he delivered an address this evening. Mascagni left Boston in good spirits for his evening performance at Providence.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Mascagni's nerves must have tingled with joy at the ovation which his countrymen and the entire audience gave him this evening in Providence. It was his first appearance since his managerial difficulties in Boston. The entire Italian colony of the city lined the sides of the hall, standing patiently and applauding vehemently every number on the program. If the manager of the Providence concert will not change his decision not to manage him in the future, Mascagni will be his own manager.

DEUTSCHLAND'S MISHAP.

Again Limps Into Port With One Engine Almost Wrecked During a Gale.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—With but one of her great engines in use the Deutschland, crack liner of the Hamburg-American fleet, came into the harbor this evening, finishing her first trip since the serious accident to the vessel in April. For the second time, stress of gale and wave were too great to be overcome, and besides the partially wrecked engine, battered bulwarks told of the struggle against the elements for six days past.

That the engine was not totally wrecked was because of the quick work of the engineer in charge at the time, who shut off the main steam valve instantly. A great bolt of the third crank shaft broke and the released piston burst the head of the low pressure cylinder.

The accident occurred at 5:20 o'clock this morning, when the Deutschland was between 50 and 60 miles west of Nantucket lightship, and the shock awoke nearly every one of the 500 cabin passengers.

BURTON SAYS HE WISHES TO BE SPEAKER

Cleveland Congressman Joins Contest for Seat to Be Vacated by Henderson.

HE TALKS TO BANKERS

Tells Them New Crises in Business World Are Likely to Come. Association Elects Officers and Adjourns.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who addressed the convention of the American Bankers' association today, admitted his candidacy for the speakership of the house of representatives. Burton said it is a free-for-all affair, and he saw no reason why he should not be a candidate. He said he would go to Washington week after next and would soon afterward make a positive statement. The convention adjourned sine die at 1 p. m. The nominating committee submitted the following nominations:

For president, Caldwell Hardie, president Norfolk National bank, Norfolk, Va.; first vice president, Frank G. Bigelow, president First National bank, Milwaukee; executive council, John Skelton Williams, president Richmond Trust and Safe Deposit Company, Richmond, Va.; W. T. Fenton, cashier First National Bank of the Republic, Chicago; D. Sloan, president Lonaconing Savings bank, Lonaconing, Md.; Arthur Reynolds, president Des Moines National bank, Des Moines, Ia., and James T. Hayden, president Whitney National bank, New Orleans. Vice presidents representing each state in the convention were also nominated.

Secretary Shaw's Regrets.

The following telegram was read from Secretary of the Treasury Shaw:

"Please convey my greetings and best wishes to your association and my regret at not being able to be present. I certainly hope that which statesmanship has failed to accomplish may be consummated through commerce and that portion of our common country most favored by nature may become at last equal sharer in the nation's prosperity."

Congressman T. E. Burton of Cleveland delivered an address on "Financial Crises," in the course of which he said:

"In order to explain the singular phenomenon that the most advanced and progressive countries suffer most from crisis and depressions, it is necessary to seek their causes. Their underlying causes can be traced to the inevitable changes which characterize modern industrial and commercial progress, to the aggressive spirit and energy of progressive people. These changes require the constant absorption of exceptionally large amounts of capital in great enterprises, the completion of which requires a considerable time, or which when completed are not immediately profitable. This class of investments disturbs the normal relation between expenditures for the future, and those required for early utilization.

"The question when another crisis will occur presents an interesting inquiry. The answer is rendered much more difficult by the different conditions which prevail preceding each successive crisis, and especially at the present time. The exceptional conditions of the present are much more marked in our own country than elsewhere. We have attained a commanding position unknown in any other country. Our development has not only been great, but it has been attended by an unusual degree of equilibrium between production and consumption, by skill and aggressiveness in obtaining access to new markets, and by a recognition of community of interests not known before. In several foreign countries, if we may judge by the ordinary indications, the unequaled prosperity of recent years has reached and passed its zenith; but such does not seem to be the case in the United States. Though surely a diminished purchasing power in other countries must in time have an injurious effect upon our country.

"One general factor of the most important nature, which cannot be overlooked in the present situation, is the great increase in the production of gold in the past 10 or 12 years. This increase stimulates trade by increasing the monetary basis and by rendering it easier for the debtor to meet obligations. Such an increase would naturally be attended by a very considerable increase in prices, but this increase in prices has been very much diminished by the cheapening processes of invention, and by improvements in managing business enterprises.

"It must be expected, however, that so great a prosperity cannot continue without abatement. Still it is certain that such crises as may occur, will be but temporary checks in the great forward movement. This is especially true in our own favored land. Our aim should be to establish such a degree of steadiness, and to exercise such a caution in our business growth as will reduce to a minimum the deleterious effects of crises and depressions.

At the close of Mr. Barton's address the new officers were installed and George H. Russel of Detroit, on behalf of the association, presented the retiring president, Myron T. Herrick, with a beautiful silver punchbowl.

The new executive council met after the adjournment of the convention and elected the following: Chairman, F. F. Swinney of Kansas City; treasurer, George F. Orde, Chicago; secretary, James R. Branch; assistant secretary, W. G. Fitzwilson. Joseph G. Brown of Raleigh, N. C., was elected to fill the vacancy on the council caused by the promotion of Mr. Bigelow to first vice president.

This afternoon the visitors enjoyed a ride on the river and a visit to the Kenilworth sugar estate.

Congressman from Cleveland, Who Announces His Candidacy for Speaker of the House in the Fifty-eighth Congress.

COMMITTEE IS GUARDING CITY

Councilmen Scan Pennsylvania Railroad Ordinances Closely.

MANY CHANGES MADE

Only the East End Franchise Was Considered Last Night—Company Must Pay Damages. Nullifying Clause Withdrawn.

The councilmanic committee on corporations proceeded last night so cautiously in the consideration of the Pennsylvania railroad ordinances that only one ordinance was completely gone over. The committee put off consideration of the other ordinances until its next meeting. The only ordinance passed upon, and, with numerous amendments, affirmatively recommended, was the one granting to the Pennsylvania railroad a franchise to run a branch from the crossing of the main line at Fifth avenue, East End, to the Allegheny river, over Hamilton avenue, Kelly and other streets and through Highland park.

Interested spectators were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Miss Kennard and Miss Bradley. The ladies represent the Twentieth Century club, which organization backs the Daughters of the Revolution in their fight to save the block house.

Did Not Reach Downtown.

The ordinance, in which the ladies are interested granting rights of way along Duquesne way and on the point, did not come up. Norman Brown, assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, and H. B. Naylor, representing Henry Phipps, owner of property on Duquesne way, were also present.

John S. Lamble moved that the ordinances be considered section by section and with the amendments offered be referred to a special committee. The motion was voted down, the committee objecting to referring to a special committee in advance. The ordinance for the branch from Fifth avenue to the Allegheny river was then taken up and each section was read and considered separately.

East End Improvement.

The branch line is to begin at Fifth avenue and at the crossing at Dallas avenue the two lines are to meet in the form of a "Y." The forks of the "Y" and the line thus formed cross a number of streets, such as Hamilton avenue and Kelly street, and make necessary the condemnation of several cul de sac streets. Engineer Brown explained that the railroad owns the property abutting on both sides of the streets, and the vacations were recommended by the committee, although Dr. McNeil said he would on the floor of councils further investigate the proposed vacation of Tennis and Lytle streets.

The ordinance proposed that the railroad company be allowed to put the piers or columns of bridges crossing the main thoroughfares within the curb line, but the amendment adopted compels it to place them within the boundaries of its own property.

To Divide Subsequent Costs.

In all cases where the city desires to open or extend streets, requiring the building of a bridge or a passageway above or below the railroad grade, the railroad and the city are to pay half the cost.

In article 2, section 2, the provision that the city was to pay for damages caused by the proposed depression of Hamilton avenue was stricken out, leaving the railroad to bear the brunt of any damage suits that may be brought.

An amendment was inserted requiring the railroad to floor all bridges tightly so that no filth may fall in the street. An amendment forbidding the use of bituminous coal in the locomotive engines of the branch lines was adopted, after some discussion. The city may compel the use of smoke consumers.

Dr. McNeil said the people of his district did not want the railroad, unless something were done to prevent smoke. The amendment assesses a fine on the railroad of $50 for every day that an engine burns soft coal. Another amendment provides that any changing of grades or re-location of sewers must be paid for by the railroad company.

Must Decide Quickly.

The railroad is required to file an acceptance of the ordinance within 90 days after its passage. All the amendments were presented by Mr. Wasson, who had them written beforehand, as if he had studied the matter.

W. C. Reitz brought up the subject of compensation, saying that the franchise was worth many thousands of dollars to the railroad. W. S. Woods reminded him that there was another ordinance, yet to be considered, by which the railroad agrees to give the city about 96 acres of land, in exchange for a right of way through a part of Highland park. The land had cost the company $160,000 cash, he said, and it had to pay $10,000 more to clear off some incumbrances. Mr. Wasson also reminded Mr. Reitz that the company agreed to build the Lincoln avenue bridge at a cost of $200,000. The talk of compensation was precipitated by Mr. Ammon, who requested the privilege of the floor, and as a taxpayer, asked what income the city received for the franchise.

Ordinance Recommended.

Mrs. Ammon wished to ask Engineer Brown a question and Mr. Brown consented to answer. It had been said that the railroad, from Larimer avenue to the river would be out of sight most of the way, but Mr. Brown admitted in answer to Mrs. Ammon that it would be visible from Beechwood boulevard, where it passed through depressions.

On motion of Mr. Wasson the ordinance granting the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad, the Wabash extension, a franchise was reconsidered, and Mr. Wasson moved to strike out the section authorizing councils at any time to repeal the ordinance, in case the railroad fails to comply with the stipulations under which the franchise is granted.

Mr. Wasson said the section put it in the power of men with money to control future councils and make trouble for the company. He believed the courts could be relied on to do justice and he, therefore, moved that the section be stricken out. The motion was carried.

CAR FAMINE IN EVIDENCE.

Scarcity Causes Heavy Decrease of Coke Production in Connellsville Region.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Coke production in the Connellsville region last week took a slump of upward 50,000 tons. Failure of the railroads to supply cars was the cause. A car famine is again in evidence.

The figures of coke shipments caused the banking of 20 furnaces in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys and of four in the Chicago and Milwaukee districts. Coke contracts for next year continue to be made, but so-called independent companies are [illegible] for furnace coke at ovens with furnishers paying $4 50 to $5 on cars here for the first half of 1903.

Youth Who Kicked [illegible] Blow Insulter of a Girl Let Off Easily.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Edwin J. Haggenkotter, a youth charged with the murder of John Doditzsky on May 31, was permitted to enter a plea of guilty to assault and battery today and was sentenced to one year in the county prison from the date of commitment. An investigation of the case, District Attorney Weaver said, did not warrant a conviction of homicide.

Roditzsky's death was the result of an insult to Bertha Yard, a young girl. He had been drinking and when he accosted Miss Yard she appealed to a crowd of boys standing nearby to hold him while she went for a policeman. Young Haggenkotter, more zealous than the others, struck the intoxicated man, felling him to the ground. He was treated at St. Mary's hospital for a slight scalp wound and left the institution, but was returned the next day with a fracture at the base of his skull, and died without regaining consciousness. There was much doubt whether the fracture had been caused by Haggenkotter's blow or a subsequent fall from a doorstep.

RAIDED WOMAN ANGRY.

She Is Likely to Sue a Dozen Church Members for Damages.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—As the result of a raid upon the house of Mrs. Emma Littlefield in Clifton, N. J., soon after midnight of Wednesday, a dozen members of the Clifton Reformed church probably will find themselves defendants in damage suits.

At 2 o'clock in the morning when the vigilants approached the Littlefield house, and though they heard the strains of "The Holy City" coming from the place, it is said they battered in the door and declared everybody within under arrest. It is charged that Justice Finn established court then and there and each person caught was placed under bonds of $1,000. It is said there was a wild scramble for bondsmen, lasting nearly all night.

Mrs. Littlefield says the invaders of her house had no warrant and that she will hold them responsible.

GUFFEY AND GALEY VENTURE.

The Oil Operators Invest Heavily in Lima Field Territory.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 13.—Guffey & Galey, the oil operators, have entered the Western Trenton rock country of the Lima oil fields. Last night they closed an important purchase as a preliminary, buying from the Miller Oil Company the Edward Hanley tract, 120 acres, two wells doing 120 barrels; the O. P. Kepphart, 40 acres; the E. A. Burry, 100 acres; the Charles A. Post, 171 acres; the L. H. Post, 80 acres, and the Samuel Stewart, 75 acres—in all 546 acres in Amanda township, near Spencerville.

The purchase price was $27,000. Six months ago George Davis, the Wapakoneta oil producer, sold these same leases to the Miller people for $5,500.

German Reichstag Authorizes Tariff on United States Imports.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The reichstag today adopted, by 192 to 71, the paragraph of the new tariff bill, authorizing the government to retaliate on any country discriminating against German goods. The agrarians openly affirmed that it was necessary to arm the government with weapons for reprisal, especially against the United States' customs practices.

The session was of unprecedented length. The dilatory tactics of the Socialists and moderate Radical members occupied the time of the house.

NEW LIFE BREATHED INTO THE OLD K. OF L.

Order Reorganized and Expects to Draw Strength from the Federation.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The Knights of Labor, up till a few years ago the leading labor organization of the world, but which declined on account of this, [illegible] life, has just been reorganized here on a footing that the promoters claim will before many months bring it back to its old prominence.

Some 100 delegates, representing district assemblies from all parts of the country, have been holding secret meetings at the Temperance house for two days, and today official information was given out.

John W. Hayes of Washington, general secretary-treasurer of the knights, has been thrown out of office. It is said this action will bring the warring factions together, and that already applications have been received from organized bodies representing nearly 300,000 workingmen, asking for affiliation with the reorganized Knights of Labor.

Henry A. Hicks, general master workman, presided at the meetings. Many of the delegates who have been fighting one another are now harmonious. J. F. Durlacher, master workman of district assembly No. 49 of New York, who gave out the information, says it is likely the coal miners under President Mitchell will affiliate with the Knights, as there is a feeling against the American Federation of Labor.

Simon Burns, former general master workman, and head of the Window Glass Workers' association, is among the delegates. That will mean the glass workers will affiliate. John Carmody of district assembly No. 128 of New York, representing the United Hatters, is also here, and this body of workmen will join. The delegates say there will be a general movement throughout the country to flock to their ranks, which means a big desertion of the American Federation of Labor. The delegates here have full authority to act and the officers will be elected some time tomorrow.

EXPERIMENTAL STEEL ROAD.

Track is the Gift of Schwab and Part of It to Be Laid Monday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Gen. Stone, chief of the bureau of public road inquiry, department of agriculture; Maj. F. P. Jones and Jefferson Seligman, chairman of the special committee of the Automobile Club of America, made a tour of inspection today preparatory to the laying of sections of an experimental steel road in this city.

The tracks—the gift of Charles M. Schwab—have arrived and are ready to be laid. The material for the first experimental section will be deposited at the point chosen for the trial on Saturday, and work on the section will begin on Monday.

SHOT WHILE TRYING TO MAKE HIS ESCAPE

Pittsburgh Man Was Fatally Wounded by a Policeman in Butler.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 13.—Edward Miller, a boiler maker whose home is said to be in Pittsburgh, was probably fatally wounded last night while resisting arrest. Miller had been making trouble at Mrs. Angert's boarding house on West street, and Policeman James McGrady was sent to arrest him. Miller started to go with the officer to the lockup, but after a short distance he struck the officer a terrific blow on the face, knocking him down, and then started to run. McGrady called to Miller to halt and then fired one shot with his revolver.

The ball struck Miller in the back. He was removed to the hospital, where his condition today is anything but favorable.

Burgess A. G. Smith sustains Officer McGrady's course in the matter, and says that it has come to a question whether the thugs or the police will run the town. Officer McGrady is on duty today and will not be arrested unless there should be a fatal termination of Miller's injuries.

FROG IS SACRIFICED TO SHOW DEATH AGONY

Jurors Watch Its Convulsions to Learn How Murdered Boys Died.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 13.—A frog was poisoned in court today to show a jury the agonies of a human being dying as a result of being poisoned with strychnine. Paul Woodward, who is alleged to have lured two boys, Brice Jennings and Paul Coffin, from this city into the woods, and caused their death with strychnine, was on trial.

Prof. Marshall of the University of Pennsylvania was testifying. He took some of the poison extracted from the liver of Paul Coffin and forced it into a live frog. In a few minutes the frog went into convulsions.

The professor explained the action of the drug as the frog, writhing, exhibited all the agonies the boy had suffered as he died.

REBEL PAPERS CAPTURED.

Capt. Marmaduke Tells of the Lesson Which Bogota's Cannon Gave to Insurgents.

PANAMA, Nov. 13.—The government gunboat Bogota returned to this port last night to repair a slight damage to one of her pumps. She brought valuable revolutionary correspondence captured by members of her crew. From these papers it seems that the revolutionists are without suit, provisions and other necessaries, and that there is much sickness in their camps.

As soon as her pump is repaired the Bogota will again sail in search of the revolutionary fleet.

Capt. Marmaduke of the Bogota thinks the recent work of his ship's cannon will make the revolutionists more careful in the future. He says the death of Richard Kane, the ship's armorer, was paid for dearly by the rebels.

Miller Is Indicted.

DUBOIS, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The grand jury today returned true bills against L. M. Miller, the young man who is under arrest, charged with complicity in the death of Agnes Tompkins, the young Dubois girl, who died under mysterious circumstances at the St. Elmo hotel at Punxsutawney, a few weeks ago.

BIGGAR CASE AGAIN BEFORE THE COURTS

Hendricks and Stanton Plead Not Guilty to Charge of Conspiracy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

FREEHOLD, N. J., Nov. 13.—Dr. C. C. Hendricks, proprietor of a sanitarium at Bayonne, where Laura Biggar stayed for a short time after the death of the late Henry M. Bennett, to whom she claims to have been married, and Samuel Stanton, formerly a justice of the peace in Hoboken, who, with Hendricks and Miss Biggar are alleged to have entered into a conspiracy to defraud the other heirs of the Bennett estate, were called before Judge Heisley here today to plead to an indictment charging them with conspiracy.

Each entered a plea of not guilty; Stanton also entered a similar plea to a further indictment charging him with perjury. The trial was set for November 24.

It is not known whether a true bill has been found against Miss Biggar, as she was not in court and the indictment, if there be one, has not been recorded.

Miss Biggar is under bonds to appear in court next week to answer any indictment that may be found.

BANQUET TO VISITORS.

Foreign Delegates to New York Chamber of Commerce Entertained in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—A banquet was given at the Arlington hotel tonight in honor of representatives of foreign commercial bodies who came to America to attend the dedication of the New York Chamber of Commerce building and who arrived in Washington from the metropolis for a short visit today. In addition to the foreigners, there were present Secretary Shaw, Postmaster-General Payne, Admiral Dewey, Gens. Corbin, Young and Wood, members of the diplomatic corps and local business men.

A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the committee on reception of the New York chamber of commerce, introduced the speakers, among whom was Secretary Shaw.

Gen. S. B. M. Young was to have been one of the speakers, but left the hall early without having had an opportunity to deliver his address.

A MURDEROUS STRANGER.

Rushes Into a Mansion, Tries to Kill Its Inmates and Mortally Wounds One.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Armed with a long knife, a stranger broke into the handsome home of W. R. Gardener at Bath Beach about 9 o'clock tonight. He pursued Mrs. Gardener to the front veranda, where he tried to kill Carl Buckmuller, a retired hotel keeper; inflicted what is likely to prove a fatal stab wound upon John McMahon, and slashed McMahon's son Frank across the left cheek from the nose to a point behind the ear.

The murderer stranger then fled to the Dyker meadow, where the police, who were beating up the bushes in the park there, believed late tonight they had him surrounded.

Train Had a Close Call.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—A serious wreck was narrowly averted on the Erie & Pittsburgh railroad near Wheatland this morning. Passenger train No. 217, northbound, while running at a high rate of speed, ran into the rear end of a freight car near the bridge which crosses the Shenango river. The caboose was shattered and the engine badly demolished. No one was hurt.

Forty Still Missing.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Nov. 13.—Forty persons, who were on board the British steamer Elingamite, which was wrecked November 9, on one of the Three Kings islands off the north coast of New Zealand, are still missing, in spite of the careful search which has been and is still being made of the coast and islands adjacent to the scene of the wreck.

PERRY LIKELY TO FORGE TWO MURDER CHARGES

Evidence Implicates Young Negro in Both Victims of "Jack the Slugger."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 13.—The finding of the watch chain stolen from Agnes McPhee, who was murdered October 3, in the possession of a young woman who knew George L. O. Perry, accused of the murder of Clara A. Morton, prompted the police today to direct their efforts toward a more complete unraveling of the McPhee case.

Both Perry and the young woman were induced to discuss the matter today, and considerable important information was obtained. Although the police would not go into details, it was disclosed that there is a strong likelihood that the charge against Perry may be changed to include the murder in Somerville besides that of Miss Morton, and that the young woman who had the chain may become the chief witness for the state.

The police do not believe that the negro who has been arrested in New York is the man wanted here in connection with the assault case.

BURGLAR IN BIG HOTEL.

He Holds Up Two Guests, Locks Them in a Room and Coolly Walks Off With Booty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—With help near at hand, two men were held up at the point of a revolver in the Hotel Vendome early this morning and threatened with instant death if they made an outcry. Discovered as he was gathering up his booty in a room on the eighth floor, the burglar turned his revolver upon the patrons and compelled them to hide under the bed clothing while he pocketed his booty and locked them in the room.

When the intruder had gone, the men ran to a window and made an outcry, but they were not heard and the burglar escaped.

LEBAUDY AIRSHIP'S FLIGHT.

Sails in a Circle and Returns to Shed Whence It Started.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(Copyright Cable.)—The new Lebaudy airship made its first free evolutions today. They were pronounced to be entirely successful.

Trials were made from a shed at Noisson, near Nantes, from noon to 3:30 o'clock, going out, forming a circle in flight and returning to the shed without accident, except a slight damage to the rudder requiring a postponement of the maneuvers for the day. The wind was very light.

GRAND OPERA REPERTORY.

Maurice Grau Announces "Othello" as the Opening Bill.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Maurice Grau today announced the complete repertory for the first week of the season at the Metropolitan opera house. "Otello" will be the opening bill a week from next Monday night, with Mme. Eames, Mme. Louise Homer, M. Alvarez and Signor Scotti in the cast.

"The Barber," with Mme. Sembrich, for Wednesday, and Herr Anthes' debut in "Lohengrin" for Friday, too, have been announced.

Czarina Also Is Melancholy.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In a dispatch from Lividia, Russia, the correspondent of the Daily Mail says the czarina has fallen into a condition of deep melancholy which takes the form of preserving silence for long periods, even in the presence of guests. Her majesty's condition is causing her doctors considerable anxiety.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. NEW PUBLICATIONS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Messrs. HARPER & BROTHERS beg to announce a second edition of Woodrow Wilson's History of the American People only two weeks after publication. They beg to express the gratification of author and publisher over the quick appreciation and unprecedented reception accorded this monumental work.

ADVERTISEMENT.

A HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

By Woodrow Wilson, Ph. D., LL. D. Litt. D.
President of Princeton University.

This great work marks an era in American letters and in American history. It represents the chief work of the greatest living historical writer, is all-embracing in character and scope, and is written in that delightful style which translates historical facts into the Romance of a Nation. Its range is from the fourteenth century down to the accession of Theodore Roosevelt. There are five large volumes printed from new type specially cast in 1902, and upon paper made for this work alone, from our own formula. Profusely illustrated with portraits, maps in color, plans, records and rare contemporary pictures.

A PASSING CHANCE

Pianos at Frederick's Reduced 20%

Genuine Chickering, Hardman, Steinway, Kroeger, McPhail, Behr Bros., Schomacker, Haines & Co.
Pianos 20% Below Regular Net Selling Prices—For a Few Days Only at the Old Reliable Music Store of

W. F. FREDERICK, 633 Smithfield St.

TO MAKE ROOM FOR COMING HOLIDAY STOCK.

This store always leads.
Has its own way of doing things.
We always know just what we can do.
We have never undertaken a clearance sale of this kind that was not a glorious success.
We knew we could make room for them when we gave contracts for four hundred pianos especially for the holiday season.
And we bought them because we knew we could sell them.
This immense stock is already coming in. Seventy-five of the most beautiful instruments we ever saw are already received (and some already sold), and the fast freights are hurrying the others forward.
This is just what we expected.
Now we are carrying out the other part of our plan. We must clean our floors to make room. We had not the slightest doubt about the appreciation of our plan on the part of the people. The first day of this great sale proved it, and not expected too much. These great piano bargains are going out so fast that they will not need to keep this sale up many days. We have set no time limit. If you get here too late don't blame us. Just remember, this is a sale for a few days. We know that purpose will be accomplished. We may not know the day we will be, but we have provided among other things that all our new stock, these startling will be withdrawn.
Do you want a Piano?
Do you want one cheap?
Do you want to save $100?
You can do it by buying now.
Think of it—how extraordinary—all the above named Pianos at 20 per cent discount for cash.
10 per cent discount for time.
And these discounts apply to every new piano in this house.
On all pianos remaining of a recent purchase from a retiring dealer we will make a reduction of $150 to $200 from regular prices—and they are new ones, too; never off the floor; just as they came from the factory.
And on a lot of used pianos which are in perfect condition, we make prices ranging from $150 upward.
Don't miss this chance.
It will not be open long.

TWO RECORDERS ARE IN FLORIDA

Friends Say That Brown and von Bonnhorst Have Gone to See Quay.

STATE JOB FOR LATTER

He Has Been Mentioned for a Cabinet Position or the Resident Clerkship of the House. Hensel Made a Mistake.

The city and county recorders are missing. In political quarters it is believed that Brown and Von Bonnhorst might be found at San Lucie, Fla.

When Recorder Brown left the city Monday he told some of his friends that he was going to Atlantic City, Old Port Comfort and probably Florida before his return next Monday. Recorder von Bonnhorst preceded him, and yesterday it was said that he had gone to Florida.

Just now San Lucie is the Mecca of state politicians. Senator Quay and a number of Philadelphia friends are there. When they return north they will have a clear idea about whom they will urge Gov. Pennypacker to appoint; will probably have talked over the speakerships of the next house, and decided on a candidate for mayor of Philadelphia.

State Office for Von Bonnhorst.

There is a general belief here that the future official address of George M. von Bonnhorst will be Harrisburg. Just what state office he will hold is not marked off. Some of his friends place him in a cabinet position, and others mention him as resident clerk of the house of representatives. They all agree, however, that he will get something. Just what Recorder Brown is doing in Florida is not so easy to guess. It is not probable that he is there to give the cause of Von Bonnhorst a "boost," neither is it likely that he went that distance to "knock."

The Philadelphia story that made Thomas S. Bigelow the next secretary of the commonwealth was promptly denied yesterday by Mr. Bigelow, who said: "There is no public office which I want or would take. There is no truth in the report that I am to go into Gov. Pennypacker's cabinet. I am not after any office or other preferment in politics."

William M. Brown of New Castle, lieutenant governor-elect, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. He said that the result of the election was a great pleasure to him, and predicted that factional strife in the state is about at an end. He also predicted that Judge Pennypacker will select his own cabinet.

Hensel Driven to Cover.

The presence of Brown recalled an amusing occurrence of the recent campaign. George W. Guthrie, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, made the charge a number of times that the Republicans had refused to re-apportion the state into senatorial districts because of political reasons. One night from the stump Brown offered to give $1,000 to charity if the Democrats would produce a fair senatorial apportionment bill prior to the election. W. U. Hensel of Lancaster, attorney general under Pattison, was put to work on the task. A day or two later he appeared at Norristown, where he was billed for a speech with Pattison. Hensel said he had prepared the apportionment and would make it public in the meeting that night. A newspaper man was examining the measure just before the gathering, and discovered that instead of making 50 districts, as required, Hensel had provided for but 49. The attorney general begged that nothing be said and the bill has never been heard of since.

The relations between Maj. I. B. Brown, secretary of internal affairs-elect, and Capt. J. M. Clark of New Castle, chief of the bureau of industrial statistics of the internal affairs department, have been so strained for a couple of years that Clark expects to retire the first of the year. He desires to remain in the service of the commonwealth and is said to be endeavoring to secure the appointment to the office of state chairman.

Since it is probable that Judge J. I. Mitchell of the superior court, will retire because of illhealth, the friends of Judge Josiah Cohen are hopeful of his appointment to this bench. Gov. Stone will fill the vacancy.

WETMORE NOT READY TO CHOOSE WEAPONS

More Anxious to Let Arlund Affair Drop Than to Fight Duel.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—Moses C. Wetmore returned this morning from Kansas City and proceeded at once to the Planters' hotel, where last Monday night he was attacked by Peter Arlund of Louisville for an alleged insult offered to a woman friend of Arlund. Col. Wetmore declined to discuss the matter of Arlund's challenge to fight a duel or to say whether or not he should accept the challenge.

"I am not going to talk about this matter any further," he declared. "There has been entirely too much said and written about it already."

At police headquarters it was said that Col. Wetmore had notified Chief Kiely to drop inquiries started at his request to discover the identity of the blonde who told Arlund Wetmore had insulted her.

"Col. Wetmore told me," said Chief Kiely "that he had lost interest in the matter and, so far as he was concerned, the matter might be allowed to drop."

Nothing was heard from Arlund today directly, but he is expected back here Tuesday. The challenge to a duel is generally regarded as a joke, but friends of Arlund say he is very much in earnest and is absolutely reckless. Wetmore seems to regard the matter seriously.

MANY TOWNS WILL GET FREE DELIVERY

Inspecting Officer Favors It for Crafton, Idlewood, Ingram and Sheraden.

W. P. Roberts, assistant superintendent of free delivery in the postoffice department, is in this city investigating the complaints with reference to the mail service in the boroughs. In company with Postmaster Holliday he has been making a tour of the boroughs and will make recommendations to the postmaster general for the establishment of new stations.

As a result of yesterday's inspection it will be recommended that Crafton, Idlewood, Ingram, Sheraden and Elliott have a free delivery, in charge of the Pittsburgh postoffice. Crafton will have a carrier station and all except Elliott will be supplied through the main office. It will be recommended that a sub-station be established at Elliott. Mr. Roberts will examine the postal conditions at Edgewood and Swissvale today and if necessary will recommend the establishment of free delivery stations at these places.

FREE BATHS DELAYED.

House Cannot Be Erected in Allegheny Because Money Is Needed to Fight Smallpox.

Allegheny cannot have a free bath house this year because the money necessary to build it is required to fight smallpox. Next year the city will appropriate $30,000 for the bath house.

It had been intended to advertise for bids for the erection of a bath house in the Third ward. Last night at the suggestion of Director Albrecht of the department of safety, the councilmanic committee on free baths recommended negatively the ordinance authorizing the advertisement for bids. Director Albrecht said that by the end of the year there would be a deficit of $7,000 in the bureau of health's appropriation on account of the large number of smallpox cases the city has had to care for. He will ask that $10,000 of the appropriation for baths be transferred to the smallpox fund.

INDIANA COAL COMBINE.

Daily Conferences Looking to the Organization of a Combine With $25,000,000 Capital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Leading miners in the soft coal belt of Indiana are in the city holding daily conferences which may result in another soft coal combine. Options are held on over 50 operating properties in that region, and in case the deal goes through it will be financed by the Rock Island party. About $25,000,000 will be involved.

The prospectus states that it is the intention to organize the Indiana Fuel Company, which will absorb practically all the soft coal producers in the Indiana coal belt on which options are now held. Of the $25,000,000 capital stock $12,500,000 will be 7 per cent preferred stock and a similar amount of common stock.

FATHER OF THE SENATE.

Grady, About to Serve His 27th Year, Picks Scott for President Pro Tem.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Senator Grady, "father" of the state senate, said tonight that Senator Scott would have no opposition for re-election as president pro tem, the position held by him during the recess. Senator Scott has been favorably considered for mayor of Philadelphia, but he declares he is not a candidate.

This session will give Senator Grady a record of 27 years' continuous service. By virtue of seniority, he will preside at the senate's organization, also act as chairman of the Republican caucus which will name the next United States senator.

It was Senator Grady's opinion that E. W. Smiley of Venango would be re-elected chief clerk. He said Herman P. Miller of Dauphin would be a candidate for re-election as librarian, and that several others are willing to serve.

Reading to Raise Wages.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—When asked what the Reading Railway Company proposed to do about an increase of wages for their employes, Vice President Voorhees said the wages would be adjusted to the current rates in this territory. The matter, he said, has been under consideration for some time and a formal announcement would shortly be made.

DID NOT KNOW SHE HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Gertrude Warner Scott Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root.

GENTLEMEN:—My trouble began with pain in my stomach and back, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the county, and consulted another. None of them suspected that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me that I had cancer of the stomach and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk any more than a child a month old, and I only weighed ninety pounds. One day my brother saw in a paper your advertisement of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle at our drug store and I took it. My family could see a change in me, for the better, so they obtained more and I continued the use of Swamp-Root regularly. I was so weak and run down that it took considerable time to build me up again. I am now well, thanks to Swamp-Root, and weigh 148 pounds, and am keeping house for my husband and brother. Swamp-Root cured me after the doctors had failed to do me a particle of good.

Gertrude Warner Scott

(Gertrude Warner Scott.)

Women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free by mail.

Sample Bottle of Swamp-Root Free by Mail.

EDITORIAL NOTE—If you have the slightest symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble, or if there is a trace of it in your family history, send at once to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who will gladly send you by mail, immediately, without cost to you, a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, and a book telling all about Swamp-Root and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh "Daily Gazette."

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Ladies' Tailored Dresses and Walking Suits $10, $15 and $25.

The $10 Suits sold for $15 and $18.
The $15 Suits were considered fine values for $20 and $25.
The $25 Suits were sold for much more.

Don't expect all sizes of each kind—if they were here, that is all sizes, we would never think of reducing the prices.

Simply because there are one, two or three of a style left, the natural result of the large Suit selling of the past two months, brings these Suits into the category of greatest bargains.

They are pleasant Suits in different styles—Blouse, Norfolk, Fly Front, Box and Empire Coats with skirts in the several styles of side pleats, box pleats, flare bottoms, 5, 7 and 9 gores.

Some of the Suits are entirely lined with silk. Others only have the Jackets lined. The materials are Cheviots, Zibelines, Broadcloths, Tweeds and Scotch Mixtures, in the universally popular colors of black, brown, blue and green.

We submit the above as one of the very best opportunities that has occurred this season for purchasing finely tailored Suits for very much less than they are really worth.

Some of the Underprices on Millinery.

When we begin to share the profit on Millinery, women at once understand there is little use in trying to get anything so fashionable, or so good, for prices anywhere near our quotations.

Picked out at random as a guide for today's buyers of Millinery.

Phipps & Atchison sample Golf and Outing Hats, $3.50 were $7.50 and $5 were $10. Hundreds of them.

The handsomest of trimmed Hats and Toques, $7.50 and $10 specimens reduced to $5; the $12 to $15 Hats and Toques reduced to $7.50.

Beautiful run-about Hats, $2 and $2.50—just half of former prices.

Untrimmed Hats for 50c—half and many away below half of former prices. Every shape—every color.

Beautiful Flowers, which you can use in your own way, 10c a bunch instead of 25c, and 25c instead of 50c.

For boys and girls the greatest line of broad stitched brim Hats for $1.50 anyone ever saw. See them for the best YOUNGISH Hat money can buy.

Sundry Requisites for the Thanksgiving Table.

Don't put off getting your table fixings until the last moment. Take time and look through this section of the Basement where the household sundries are, and you will find ever so many things that you need, both staple and novelties, of which the following is only a hint:

These Side Combs come to us from Austria. They are made of selected red shell which has a beautiful mottled effect. The teeth are hand finished.

Owing to our importing direct we offer them at the foregoing prices.

Queen Quality Shoes for Women.

The very first requisite of a Shoe is that it shall fit the foot with absolute accuracy—closely yet not tightly—with no waste space, yet with no pressure.

Queen Quality is the one Shoe for women which is made so that it fits the foot just as a Paris-made glove fits the hand.

Have you ever noticed that but few other Shoes talk about fit? They talk about style and beauty and form, and other things that mean nothing, but they say little about fit, which is only another way of saying comfortableness.

Queen Quality fits because it has an entirely different construction which, by the way, add many dollars to the weekly payroll of the manufacturer, but not one cent to the cost of the Shoe. No woman can afford to ignore her Shoes unless she hands in her resignation to polite society. Her Shoes determine her walk, and her walk decides her style, her carriage, her posture, her whole attitude as she moves about.

A ladies' Shoe should always be light in weight and flexible to the foot, so as to enable her to walk in an easy, graceful manner. This is a special charm that has made Queen Quality Shoe so popular.

They are firm and neat in shape as so many Shoes are, but they go farther than this—farther than any other Shoe—in actually creating an elastic, graceful step, which is worth ten years of youthfulness to a middle-aged woman. We are sole distributing agents for Pittsburgh.

All styles of Boots, $3. A few that have special touches of artistic work upon them are sold for $3.50.

The Queen Quality Literay Contest.

Have you secured a Contest Blank on which to write your opinion of the Shoes? We mean of course from actual experience. Your opinion in something like 200 words may possibly gain you the head prize of $1,000. The manufacturer in Boston is giving away $5,000 in gold divided into 100 prizes, comprised in this list:

1ST PRIZE			$1,000
2d Prize	$500	4th Prize	$300
3d Prize	400	5th Prize	200
6th to 10th (5 prizes)		each	100
11th to 20th (10 prizes)		each	75
21st to 30th (10 prizes)		each	50
31st to 40th (10 prizes)		each	25
41st to 50th (10 prizes)		each	20
51st to 60th (10 prizes)		each	15
61st to 70th (10 prizes)		each	10
71st to 100th (30 prizes)		each	5

You are to write about

1st—"That Comfortable Feeling" of a "Queen Quality" shoe. (Showing where and how they fit better than any other shoe, which is the cause of "That Comfortable Feeling.")

2d.—The "Satisfying Qualities" of a "Queen Quality" shoe. (Showing why women who have once tried "Queen Quality" always wear them afterwards.)

3d.—The exclusive "Style and Individuality" of a "Queen Quality" shoe. (Showing why "Queen Quality" is the recognized leader of shoe fashions.)

Fine Group of Handkerchiefs, 25c.

For Women and Girls.

Dainty Handkerchiefs, really as dainty as they can be made—and for which you pay only a quarter of a dollar.

All have linen centers—pure linen—otherwise they are totally dissimilar. Some have Van Dyke points of lace, some footing edged with lace, some with lace insertions and lace edges, some hemstitched, some embroidered.

More Handkerchief goodness and beauty than we ever before gave for 25c.

Fancy Handkerchiefs, the linen finer, the ornamentations finer, 50c each.

Silk and Wool Imported Crepes, 75c.

These are regular $1-a-yard goods but we know some stores that get $1.25 a yard for them.

You all remember the recent sale we had of these Imported Crepes, the one that gave women a theme on which to talk bargains, the one in which 4,000 yards disappeared in a few days.

This offer is an exact counterpart, and we know it will meet with the same hearty reception.

Today, then, under the dome—75c a yard for $1 Imported Silk and Wool Crepes.

All shades of blues, from the delicate light to the rich dark navy. Then there are reds, castors, greens, the soft grays—in fact, every color for women's wear in home or on the street.

A Lot of Dress Trimmings.

Some new things, some short lengths of fine trimmings for one-third and one-fourth of former prices, and some news of enameled buttons—the whole a money-saving proposition for today.

Small Braid and Pendants, the Braid made half round and flat, plain and fancy colors, 5c, 10c, 12c, 20c each. Pendants, plain black, 5c, 10c, 12c and 20c each. Plain white, 8c, 12c, 20c each. All common colors, 25c each. We make pendants to order to match any color of goods.

The sale of short lengths of fine Trimmings this week brought many buyers, and no wonder—the idea of $1.50 and $2 goods selling for 50c a yard was almost past belief. Additional short ends for today at the same price of 50c a yard.

Jet Rufflings, new this season, very effective and inexpensive, 20c, 25c and 30c each.

Grape trimmings by the dozen, 75c, $1 and $1.50. By the yard, $1.25, $1.50 and up to $2.50. Black or white.

Enameled buttons to match any color of goods, any size and almost any price, 10c, 25c, 35c and 50c a dozen.

Women's Dollar Gloves.

A dollar seems little enough to pay for a Glove at any time, but when you buy either of the under-mentioned Gloves for a dollar a pair the significance of the little price is at once manifest. No such Gloves sold in the greater city for so small a price—generally 25c and 50c more.

For $1 a pair, Mocha Gloves, one clasp, strapped seams, the materials with a soft velvety finish. All colors, including delicate tans and soft grays.

For $1 a pair, a special Suede Glove in a mannish effect. We had this street glove made expressly to our order. It is quite heavy and very warm. All colors.

For $1 a pair, a medium weight two-clasp Kid Glove, finished with embroidered back. It comes in all the pretty colors besides white and black.

For finer Gloves, and on up to the very finest made, just ask any of the salespeople at the Glove counter. They will show you anything desired. We say this because we have everything that is at all worthy in Kid Gloves.

Paper Oddities for Dish Decorations.

We have the only complete assortment of Paper Meat, Fowl and Croquette Decorations in the city. Ask for them in the House Furnishing section of the Basement.

ANNUAL SESSION OF LABOR HOSTS

American Federation Opens 22d Annual Convention in New Orleans.

REPORTS ARE HEARD

Growth of Organization Greater Than Any Previous Year in Its History — Gompers Discusses Compulsory Arbitration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—The American Federation of Labor opened its twenty-second annual convention today with addresses of welcome. In reply President Gompers declared that it was amazing to note the ignorance among so-called educated people regarding the aims and objects of organization.

"No man as an educator," said President Gompers, "posing as a strike breaker, is fit for the position he holds. Compared to such a man Benedict Arnold was a martyr and Judas Iscariot a saint."

President Gompers delivered an impassioned warning that the immediate future of trade and labor assemblies was seriously endangered by the conflicting claims of jurisdiction made by different bodies. Unless such things were approached in calmness and handled with moderation, he declared, the labor organization of the country would soon be involved in a conflict which would dwarf all the struggles in which labor organizations have been engaged.

President Gomper's Report.

In his annual report President Samuel Gompers said:

Six new national unions were formed during the year, and two are now in the process of formation, while others will soon be in a position to have a national or international charter formed from existing local unions of the trade. There have been organized and chartered 3,500 new locals, with an added membership of not less than 500,000.

Apart from the miners' strike there has been no general trade contest involving large numbers of any particular craft, nor have there been so large a number of strikes during the past year as in former years. Of those reported the great preponderance have been for higher wages and reductions in the hours of labor, and these have been largely successful. One organization reported that it has increased the wages of its members fully $1,000,000 per annum, while there are few whose membership working more than eight hours per day have not secured a reduction in their working time, and the organizations largely having the eight-hour work-day have extended the beneficence of that rule.

After giving a history of the miners' strike, he says:

Remedy Worse Than Disease.

During and since the strike many have been led to advocate the system of compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. They contend that strikes of this character must be averted; and on the one hand friends who desire to legally compel employers to submit matters in controversy with labor, to arbitration; and on the other hand the subtle enemies of organized labor have stimulated and advocated compulsory arbitration. Those of our friends who advocated this policy are likely to provoked at the unreasonableness and obduracy of employers who refuse to submit a matter in controversy with organized labor to voluntary arbitration, and permit their indignation to warp their judgment; in other words, observing the difficulty of attaining justice, they would recur to an imaginary remedy which indeed, if enacted into law, would prove a much greater injury and danger than the ill of which we complain.

The view of organized labor want arbitration, but only arbitration as a last resort after conciliation has absolutely failed, and then arbitration only, voluntarily entered into by both the organized workers and employers, and the award voluntarily, honorably and faithfully adhered to by both sides.

Recently the unfounded charge against organized labor has been repeated to the effect that trade unions violate agreements entered into with employers; and the uninformed, and particularly those employers antagonistic to organized labor, urge as a remedy for this imagined evil, the compulsory incorporation of the trade unions so that, as those referred to urge, "the trade unions may be held legally responsible" for the faithful carrying out of agreements, and to be liable in damages in the event of their violation.

Would Outlaw Unions.

On the surface this proposition seems fair; but when we bear in mind the fact that often judges have deep-seated prejudice against organizations of labor, that the far-fetched interpretation in the Taff-Vale case, where an organization of labor in Great Britain was muleted in damages for the actions of an individual member, and the law passed by the British parliament as a "concession to labor," and that the enunciation of judicial principles is mutually interpreted and held by the judiciary of all English-speaking countries, it is not difficult to divine the purpose that the advocates of compulsory incorporation of trade unions have in view. They would mulct or outlaw our unions, the organizations which are the factors in our modern life to work for human progress by natural, rational, peaceable and evolutionary means.

Discussing the anti-injunction bill, now before the United States senate, Mr. Gompers says:

We reiterate our position that organized labor seeks no immunity from the law, for violations committed by any one of its members; but it insists that that which is lawful when done by other persons shall not be regarded as unlawful when done by wage-earners either as individuals or in association.

We demand, too, that the common law practice shall apply to wage-earners as well as to all others; that is, that no injunction shall be issued where there is another remedy provided by law.

Attitude of President.

In a recent address delivered by President Roosevelt he publicly proclaimed his conviction in favor of wage-earners organizing for their mutual and common protection, and this has been verified by his action as well as in personal conversation. Certainly, when the president of the United States will give his adhesion to the necessity as well as the wisdom of the wage-earners organizing, it should be not only a convincing factor with the yet unorganized, but should disarm or put to quietus upon narrow-minded, short-sighted and prejudiced employers.

It is very gratifying to find the president of the United States in his last message devoting a considerable portion thereof to questions affecting industry and of benefit o the wage-earners.

The report of National Secretary Frank Morrison covered the 11 months ended with September 30 last. The Federation's aggregate income for this time was $144,498 and the expenditures $119,086. Mr. Morrison also stated that for the 11 months 1,024 unions were chartered. These additions increased the total number of unions to 3,659. The membership is shown by the per capita tax to be 1,025,300, a gain of four-fold in the past six years.

The report submitted by National Treasurer John B. Lennon showed the total receipts of the order for the entire year to have been $152,312 and the total expenses $120,086.

Paper In Hands of Trust Company.

The Sewickley Valley, of which Mr. G. F. Muller was owner and editor until his serious accident in September last, and which has since been run by James Adair and Miss Evelyn Muller, Mr. Muller's sister, today goes into the hands of the Equitable Trust Company of Pittsburgh until disposed of by court. Mr. Muller will not be in condition to continue the paper and for that reason it has been placed in the hands of court for disposition.

WILL BE A TREAT.

Spear & Co.'s Enterprise Will Benefit Thousands.

The large stock of furniture secured by Spear & Co. in New York city, and now being shipped to their Pittsburgh store, 708 and 710 Penn avenue, will be a chance for the people of this vicinity to participate in the greatest sale of high-class furniture ever offered. As it will take until about February 1 before they can open the New York establishment Spear & Co.'s store at this place will be a Mecca for customers in search of furniture bargains. The stock secured is one of the finest in the country. It is all new, up-to-date furniture, and the people hereabouts are fortunate in having an opportunity to secure a part of it.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES STARTED BY THE B. & O.

New Yards at New Castle Junction Will Be Largest in World.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 13.—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad broke ground here today for the erection of a $50,000 roundhouse at New Castle Junction, which is now the main line division point from Connellsville on the east to Chicago Junction on the west, and Fairmont on the south. The proposed enlargement of the junction yards here will be one of the biggest undertakings of the Baltimore & Ohio within recent years.

A hill four miles long, and ranging from 20 to 30 feet in height, is to be cut back for fully a distance of 100 yards from the present yard tracks to make room for additional tracks. The engineers estimate that more than 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth are to be removed. This will extend the yard tracks from the junction to below the new industrial town of West Pittsburgh, three and one-half miles to the south.

The earth removed will be sufficient to make all fills on the double track now being constructed between this city and Youngstown. The work will cost over $500,000, and the number of yard tracks will then be increased from 12 to 20, averaging over three miles in length. This will give tracks sufficient to accommodate about 4,000 cars and will make the junction yards about 400 more cars capacity than those at Conway, now the largest yards in the world.

In addition extensive car and locomotive repair shops are being constructed at the junction, which will be one of the main repair places on the Baltimore & Ohio main line. The improvements now under way will not be completed within a year.

CARRIE WAS ILL-TREATED

Kansas Smasher Complains She Was Roughly Handled by Two Conductors on Traction Line.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Carrie Nation, the Kansas saloon smasher, has made complaint to Superintendent Coover of the Montoursville Passenger Railway Company that she was ill-treated and roughly handled by two conductors while a passenger on the car line. She alleges that the conductors permitted men to smoke on the car and, when she attempted to close the door, the conductors grabbed her by the shoulders and threw her back on the seat.

In concluding her letter, she refers to the advertisement signs in the trolley cars, saying, "Why is it that the traveling public must be advised by the railroad company to drink the poison that ruins body and soul? Have you nothing but a price in money for every principle of manhood and right?"

NEW ROAD WANTS BONUS.

Lisbon Board of Trade Requested to Donate $10,000 to an Electric Line.

LISBON, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The Lisbon board of trade has received a proposition from Gen. Asa N. Jones, John H. Ruhlman and J. E. Long, representatives of the Youngstown & Southern Railway Company, which will soon begin the construction of an electric line from Youngstown to Columbiana, for an extension across Columbiana county to East Liverpool, by way of Lisbon. They ask the city to raise $10,000 and assist in securing the right of way.

The Lisbon Business Men's association, which was merged into the board of trade today, has commenced to prepare for the city's centennial celebration next year. Lisbon became an incorporated village in March, 1803. It was the second or third town incorporated in the state.

Suicide Follows a Quarrel.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—With suicidal intent, Mrs. May Hess, aged 25, ran in front of a train this afternoon and received probably fatal injuries. A big hole was cut in the back of her head and her hip crushed. She had just quarreled with her sister.

Wife Burned Up $140.

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Stewart Hayes, a farmer with no faith in banks, sold a horse last night and hid the $140 in greenbacks in the stove. Early this morning his wife started a fire and the money went up in smoke.

PITTSBURGHERS' VENTURE

Will Build a Branch Steel Plant and Also Works for the Manufacture of Ross Cement.

RICHMOND, IND., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Representatives of the Harris-Gates syndicate and the Pittsburgh Pressed Steel Company held a conference with Dr. H. Oscar Ross and discussed the plan of erecting a $200,000 branch factory in this state. Representatives of the Westinghouse Company of Pittsburgh also were present.

It was virtually decided to erect a plant for the manufacture of Ross cement. Recently Dr. Ross sold his patent to these companies. It is said that his royalties will net him an annual income from $90,000 to $95,000.

The new company will be capitalized at $6,000,000, and will have 10 branches. The company has ties to the value of $200,000 already sold.

PARLOR MATCH MUST GO.

Only Old-Fashioned Sulphur or Safety Lucifers to Be Permitted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—After January 1 no licenses for storing parlor matches within the limits of Greater New York will be issued, except to manufacturers, their agents and wholesalers, for shipping outside of the city. Fire Chief Croker tonight said:

"It is a good rule, and will save the destruction of a great deal of property and the loss of many lives. The parlor match is a very dangerous thing, and its sale should not be allowed. Not only has it caused many fires, but many women have been burned to death by their skirts becoming ignited by stepping upon matches of that kind. The old-fashioned sulphur matches and the safety match are preferable to it."

Look for Shooting Stars.

The heavens will give forth a shower of leonid meteors tomorrow night, and astronomers throughout the country are making preparations to witness the phenomena. Professor F. L. O. Wadsworth of the Western University, and a party of fellow astronomers, will view the sight from the top of the Allegheny observatory. The observation of these interesting meteors this year will be seriously impeded by a full moon, which will obliterate all but the brighter ones.

Found Home, but No Wife.

John Meriotti, an Italian miner of Buena Vista, fainted when he reached home yesterday afternoon, after being released from jail, and learned that his wife Rosa had departed for her home in Italy on Tuesday morning. Now he is hunting for his brother-in-law, who advanced his wife money to make the journey. He declares that he will kill him. Beriotti was in jail for beating his wife.

SMALLPOX DEATHS CLOSE POSTOFFICE

WARREN, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The postoffice at Mineral Ridge was ordered closed today and the mail sent to Niles owing to the death of Postmaster Ohl and his mother, who was his assistant, from smallpox. A protest will be placed by citizens.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES POPULAR IN STATE

Commission Will Ask Next Legislature to Double the Appropriation..

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—The Pennsylvania state library commission held its annual meeting at the state library this afternoon. Matters pertaining to free and traveling libraries were discussed. The commission will ask the legislature to increase its appropriation from $10,000 to $20,000 for extending its work in the establishment and maintenance of traveling libraries.

The Rev. Dr. George Edward Reed, secretary of the commission, submitted a report which showed that the traveling libraries are in splendid condition and becoming more popular every year. The report also showed that the members of traveling libraries have increased during the year, especially in counties in which there are few public libraries.

The commission consists of J. G. Rosengarten, president, of Philadelphia; John Thompson of the Free Library, Philadelphia; Henry Berlin of Scranton, W. N. Frew of Pittsburgh, W. M. Stevenson of Allegheny, and State Librarian Reed.

CELEBRATED VICTORY.

Republicans of Venango County Have Dinner to Enthuse Over Recent Triumph.

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—A novel way of celebrating a political victory was inaugurated by the Republicans here at noon today. Instead of a parade, Congressman Sibley and the successful Republicans on the county ticket gave a big dinner.

The dinner was primarily to the 56 members of the Republican county committee, the 54 members of the various Republican vigilance committees of Venango county and a number of other invited guests. The dinner was held in Centennial hall. Gen. John A. Wiley acted as toastmaster and Congressman Sibley and others made speeches.

MANY NEW COKE OVENS.

Cambria Steel Company to Spend Millions on Additions.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—It is stated on high but unofficial authority that the Cambria Steel Company has plans completed for the erection of 960 Otto Hoffman coke ovens, in addition to the 200 now in operation here, and that furnaces and improvements in connection with the new coke ovens means an expenditure of $3,000,000 in the next two years. Large forces of men were today put to work clearing off the ground. Two mammoth blast furnaces will be erected near the coke ovens. The contemplated improvements when completed will swell the Cambria list of employes to 2,000 more men.

MAN HUNTED BY A POSSE.

Citizens Prepared to Deal Roughly With a Girl's Assailant.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—One hundred citizens, bent on avenging a brutal assault on Mary Findlay, searched several hours last night for the fiend who committed the deed. He escaped or a lynching would have taken place. The girl is 11 years old and a daughter of Andrew Findlay, a highly respected citizen of Sharpsville.

As she passed a dark alley she was seized by an unknown man. Her cries attracted the Inglis brothers, who failed to catch the man. The girl is in a serious condition.

Refused a Big Offer.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Thomas W. Phillips of this city, a member of the United States labor commission and one of the most extensive independent oil operators in the country, has just refused an offer of $75,000 for the great gas well he recently struck not far from the town of Butler. The Phillips gasser shows a minute pressure of 900 pounds and is said to be the greatest gasser ever struck in this country.

State Prison for Shooting.

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Benton Peoples was sentenced to three years to state prison by the Guernsey courts today. Last May Peoples shot his prospective son-in-law, Elijah Stuarts, on the morning of the wedding. He pleaded guilty but claimed temporary insanity.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

WASHINGTON, PA.—Thomas Anderson, aged 62, of Anderson station, was struck by a train and instantly killed.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The condition of Thomas Cornelius, who was shot at Blairsville Intersection by Charles Kuhns while Cornelius was masquerading as a woman, shows a slight improvement.

GREENSBURG, PA.—H. D. Harvey, the defaulting cashier of the Derry Coal and Coke Company, entered a plea of guilty to the three charges preferred by E. F. Saxman, and was sentenced to a term in the Huntingdon reformatory.

FAIRMONT, W. VA.—Thomas Weese made three unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide. His first attempt was to jump off the suspension bridge. He succeeded, however, in jumping out of a mill into the river, a distance of 50 feet. His condition is serious. Weese is evidently of unsound mind.

JUDGE SMITH ALSO LIKELY TO RETIRE

Gov. Stone Appoints Commission to Inquire Into Condition of His Health.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—Following the appointment of a commission to inquire into the condition of the health of Supreme Court Judge John I. Mitchell of Wellsboro, Governor Stone appointed a similar commission to report upon the condition of Superior Court Judge Peter P. Smith of Scranton.

The commission consists of Dr. J. V. Shoemaker of Philadelphia, who was also appointed on the commission of Justice Mitchell's case; Dr. A. G. Fell of Wilkesbarre and Dr. W. K. Dolan of Scranton, Justice Smith's family physician.

The entire judicial list of the state will be carefully inquired into by the governor, with a view to appointing a commission of medical inquiry into such conditions as may make such action necessary.

Judge Smith has been suffering from nervous debility for over a year, and it appears has been only nominally attending to the duties of his office. His presence on the bench has been sporadic, and Gov. Stone believes that during the past year his attendance upon the sessions and the scant attention given his duties, because of ill health, bring his case within the scope of the act.

Judge Smith's term will expire in 1906, and should he retire under the judges' retirement act he will receive half pay, or $5,750 for the three years of his term that remain. He is a Democrat, and if he should retire the Democracy would lose its representation in the court, as it is assured Stone will appoint a Republican to succeed him.

Judge John B. Livingstone of Lancaster, who has been in ill health ever since his election, may retire under this act, as it is understood he has not been in condition to attend to his duty.

Quarantine Bars Put Up.

MONESSEN, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Monessen board of health last night a quarantine was declared against all persons living in and about Shepiers station, one mile east of here, and the same will be enforced until Restraver township officials take action on the 12 cases of smallpox which developed there early this week.

DISTURBING PEACE COST BOYS $51.66

Pranks Played on Frank Gundling of Oakland Square Met Dire Results.

Nine boys were fined $1 and costs by Alderman McGovern of the West End last night. They were charged with annoying Frank Gundling of No. 2 Oakland square, who swore to the information against them. There was a wild scene in the alderman's office when the decision was announced. Several of the boys' parents declared they would not pay the fine, but would allow their sons to go to jail. All afterward relented and paid up. Hints were made that it would not end there. It is understood that the defendants will, in a body, appeal the cases.

Gundling stated that the boys had stolen a hitching post from in front of his house, assaulted him with missiles of various kinds and otherwise disturbed his peace. The boys separately denied the charges, but Alderman McGovern preferred to take the word of a grown man to that of a small boy and decided in favor of Gundling.

After Alderman McGovern had rendered his decision the room was filled with indignant exclamations. Several declared that they would sooner see their boys spend five days in jail than pay the fine and costs, which amounted to $5.74 each. They reconsidered their determination, although many stated that they would appeal the cases to court.

The boys who were fined all live in the vicinity of Oakland square and are Raymond Weidt, Karl Weidt, Adam McCauley, Richard Riley, Victor Green, George Henery, Sample Davis, George Ziegler and George Smith.

CHILD KILLS A DEER.

Conquers the Animal With a Stone and a Club Only.

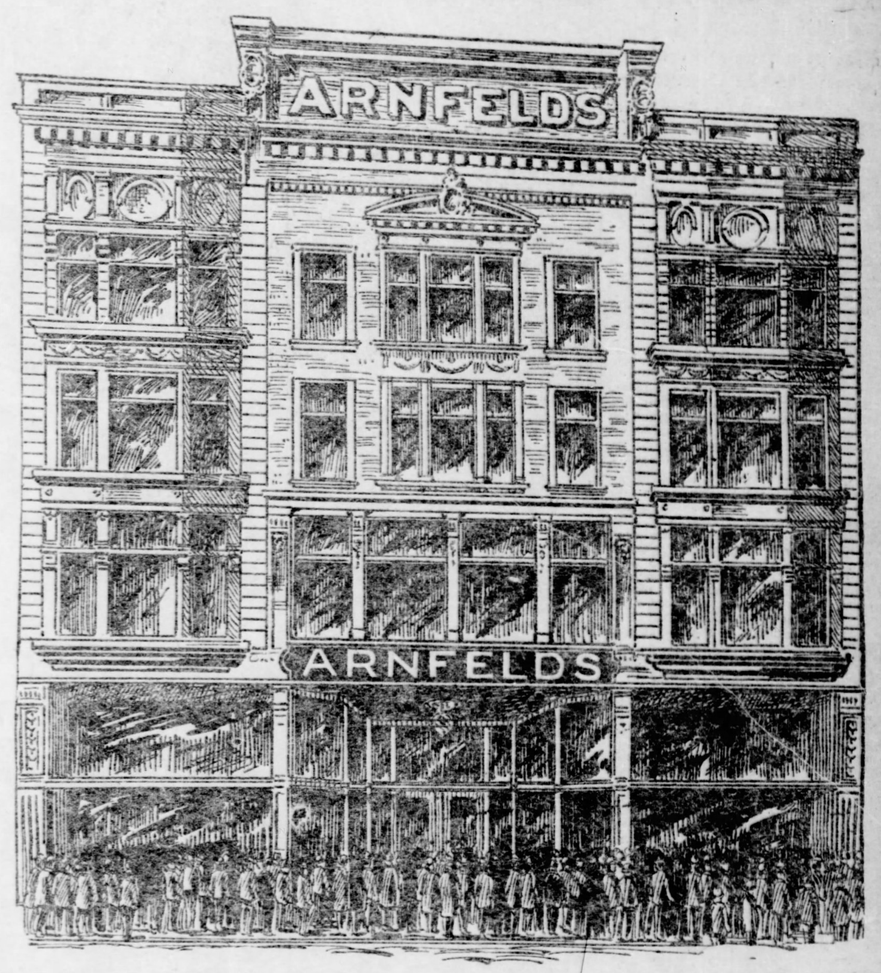
FORT JERVIS, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The plucklest boy in Wayne county, Pennsylvania, is Eddie Wilbert, the 10-year-old son of E. A. Wilbert of Atco. Yesterday morning he espied a deer bounding across one of the open fields on his father's farm, and, without weapons, he started in pursuit. He threw a stone at the animal, which struck and broke one of the deer's legs.

The lad then "closed in" on the deer and was promptly knocked down. Eddie managed to secure a club and vigorously belabored the deer until it was stunned. He then ran home and got a butcher knife, with which he cut the deer's throat. The deer weighed 130 pounds.

A GREAT STORE'S OPENING.

THE NEW ARNFELD STORE OPENS TOMORROW.

Astonishing Growth in the Last Few Years—A Radical Departure From the Usual Style of Openings.



With the opening of the new Arnfeld stores tomorrow, another chapter has started in the history of this remarkable house. The growth of this firm in a few short years is an every-day topic in the commercial world. From a small hat and gent's furnishing store to the present mammoth Men's and Boys' complete outfitting establishment, shows what honest, up-to-date business methods can accomplish.

The new building is modern in every detail. The store front is the first of its kind to be used in Pittsburgh. Its originality has occasioned much comment. The entire store front has been utilized for show windows; one set of windows resting right on top of the other, and it certainly makes a beautiful appearance, especially when illuminated.

The interior of the stores has been arranged for the complete comfort of the shopper. The enlarged clothing department being so arranged that every nook and corner is as bright as day. The hat, furnishing and shoe departments have been given much more space than they occupied in the old quarters, and are complete in every detail, and all in all, the Arnfelds can point with pride to one of the handsomest and most modern men's stores of the day.

The firm have departed from the usual style of openings. Instead of thousands of dollars spent in music, flowers and useless souvenirs, they have decided to give over their opening week to a great special opening sale, and they promise that every person who attends will have greater cause to remember their opening than if they were to present them with some trivial souvenir.

The Arnfelds have always been strong believers in advertising, their legend, "Your Next Suit" and "Your Next Hat" is known to almost every man and boy in Allegheny county.

The Gazette extends its congratulations to M. Arnfeld & Sons, and wish them as much success in their new store as they enjoyed in their old.

WAGE ADVANCE TO AFFECT ALL

Men on Pennsylvania Lines West Expect to Get It Also.

GOOD NEWS IS AWAITED

In Aggregate It Will Benefit 110,000 Men and Add About $8,000,000 to Yearly Payrolls. Came as Pleasant Surprise in East.

The 10 per cent increase in wages granted to 60,000 employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on November 1, and announced yesterday, will be extended to the employes of the other roads in the great system operated under Pennsylvania auspices, probably in the near future. It has always been the custom to do this, and there is no reason for believing that the Pennsylvania will begin now to discriminate in the wages paid to employes on the various integral parts of the system.

In the aggregate, the increase will affect close to 110,000 men, and will add to the monthly payroll of the system close to $660,000, or about $8,000,000 a year. The official order announcing the voluntary increase which enables its eastern employes to share in the present prosperity of the road was posted in the stations and other points of observation yesterday, and reads as follows:

"An advance of 10 per cent will be made in the wages of all employes permanently in the service of the Pennsylvania system east of Pittsburgh who are now receiving less than $200 a month, to take effect November 1, 1902, by order

"J. M. WALLIS,
"General Superintendent."

Announcement Is Expected.

That similar notices will be posted on the Pennsylvania lines west and all other parts of the great chain of roads operated by the Pennsylvania interests, is regarded by their employes as a foregone conclusion. The officials of these systems say they have no official notice of such an intention, but the same denials met efforts to seek confirmation of the report as to the action affecting the system east of Pittsburgh, and the notice to the western men will no doubt come as the same sort of surprise tendered their eastern brethren.

It is understood that the executive committees of the Pennsylvania and Panhandle companies operating the lines east of Pittsburgh have not taken any action on the wage question. First Vice President James McCrea was out of the city yesterday and others of the vice presidents would not discuss the matter. General Manager George L. Peck said when asked if the lines west would meet the advance:

"I have no information on that."

It may be already understood through conference of the heads of the eastern and western systems that the advance is to cover the western lines, and nothing develop of it till orders are issued by First Vice President James McCrea or Third Vice President J. J. Turner.

Affects Many Employes.

It is estimated by local officials of the Pennsylvania railroad that about 60,000 men are affected by the order posted yesterday. Of this number, 12,000 are on the Pittsburgh division, while the Monongahela division, or Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston, and the West Penn division, add still more to the number affected about Pittsburgh. It is safe to say that 15,000 men who live or deal in Pittsburgh are benefited.

It is stated that the average monthly wage of those affected by this increase is $60. This means then an increase of $360,000 in the monthly payroll of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or $7,220,000 a year. This increase alone is greater than the total payroll of all but a few railroad companies. The fact that it is effective from November 1 gives the men an increase for the present month, now half over.

While no official statement is made of the causes for the increase it is generally agreed that these are two-fold. The first is the tremendous increase in the business of the company, which has given it for two years now a most remarkable growth in earnings, and with it much more hard work for the men than ever before.

Cost of Living Is Higher.

The second reason is the growing spirit of discontent which has appeared upon the western lines openly, but has so far been felt here only in the more quiet way, and is largely due to the increased cost of living.

The company has taken the most effective way in the world to kill such trouble right at the start. With this increase it is probable that Pennsylvania railroad employes are as a whole better paid than those of any other large railroad company in the world.

This order affects all classes alike, receiving under $200 a month, except those who are not permanently in the service. The exception is translated to mean men engaged on improvement work, where large forces are at work for a short time, but are laid off as soon as the job is completed. The order will include all transportation men below the rank of division superintendent; all engineering department men, outside of a few in Philadelphia; all traffic men, from district or division freight or passenger agents down, and practically all men in the accounting and legal departments, except the general officials. It is probable that there is not one man in 200 who will miss an increase under this order.

First Vice President Pugh of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, speaking of the increase, said the advance was due to the increased business of the company and also to the fact that living is at present more expensive than heretofore. He also said that many employes of the company had not had their wages adjusted for some time, and it was considered only just that they should receive some substantial recognition of their services.

Shots Startled Deputies.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Intense excitement was caused in the chamber of deputies today by the firing of a pistol in the lobby. The members crowded to the scene and found that an officer of a colonial regiment had emptied his revolver in the air, while shouting "Vive La Patrie." He is believed to be crazy.

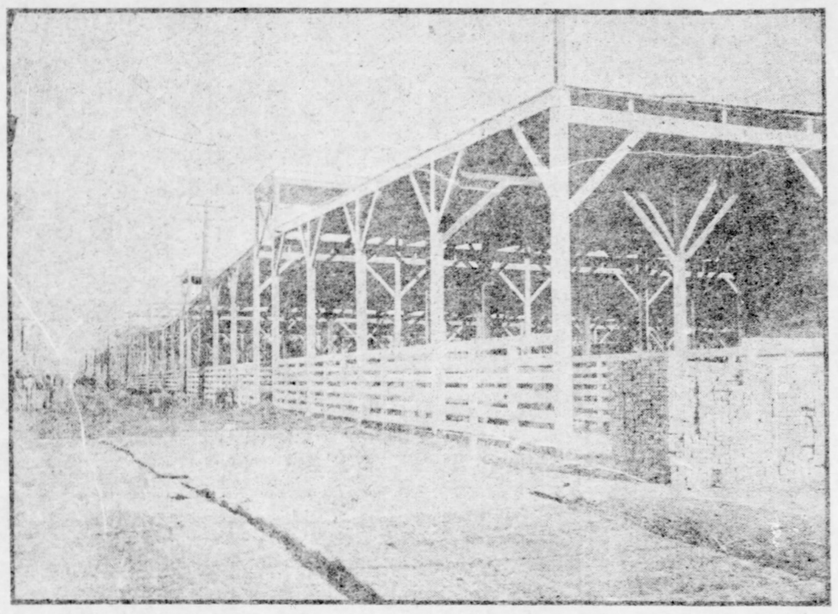
The Blind Made to See by Scientific Invention.

Many have heard of the marvelous cures which have been made with an electric appliance which, it is said, will cure the most stubborn case of blindness. The machine is pneumatic, is the invention of Dr. Henry F. Garey of Baltimore, Md., is used in treating cases of atrophy of the optic nerves, and all introcular diseases of the eyes. The treatment consists in oscillating the eyes forward and backward by a rapid pumping of air, performing a sort of massage of the optic nerves. It tends to effect an exercising of the various muscles which are diseased.

Much has been said of late of the remarkable cure of Senator Money of Mississippi, who says that his eyesight has been practically restored by this pneumatic device.

The story of his cure has been given wide circulation and many oculists believe that there will be a revolution in the treatment of all such diseases. Pittsburgh can now witness an innovation in the treatment of diseases of the eyes. An office has been opened in room 1502, Garrett building, and the public is cordially invited to call and see "The Ophalmo Oscillator" in operation.

LONG ROWS OF SHEDS FOR THE NEW STOCK YARDS GREATLY CHANGE THE ASPECT OF HERRS ISLAND



This illustration shows a long row of completed sheds forming part of the new stock yards on Herrs island, as seen from the Allegheny side of the Thirty-third street bridge. There are 16 long sheds, such as shown in the illustration, each containing 35 large herd pens, and four small sheds which have six pens each. The pens are 25x40 feet.

PUMPS TRYING TO KEEP BASIN FULL

Brilliant Station Working Against Leaks in New Highland Reservoir.

LARKIN IS STILL BUSY

Controller Is Getting Ready to Meet the Issue When Called Upon to Obey Supreme Court's Mandate.

Pumps at the Brilliant station have been put to work to keep the new Highland reservoir No. 2 from being emptied by the leaks through which water is pouring at a frightful rate, but the leaks are so extensive that the water is escaping about as fast as it is pumped in.

An engineer not in the employ of the city or the contractors visited the reservoir yesterday and made this startling discovery. He had made a trip to the reservoir a few days before and yesterday he found there were several million gallons of water less in the basin than when he made his former inspection, despite the fact that water was being pumped in.

Fear Felt in Fix's Hollow.

Director J. Guy McCandless of the department of public works is not attempting to fill the reservoir to its full capacity for fear of the disastrous results that would almost certainly follow. It is predicted by engineers who are posted concerning the condition of the reservoir that if it is filled to the depth of 27 or 30 feet it will burst, with a possible horror in Fix's hollow as the result.

Indeed the people in this hollow live in constant fear lest, even with the limited supply in the basin, the walls will give way some day or night and engulf them. The department of public works has been notified by these people of their danger and they have appealed to have the pumping stopped and the reservoir emptied, so that the crevices can be located and filled up.

The department of public works apparently is deaf to all such appeals or advice and seems determined to force the city to take the basin off the hands of the contractors and pay them for it.

Leaks Growing Larger.

A photographer of The Gazette, who took pictures of the leaks, visited the spot where the largest leak is located yesterday and found that the escaping stream was considerably larger than when he photographed it a few days ago, similar reports are made daily to Controller Larkin's office. A surprisingly large number of people have urged the controller not to pay for the work on the reservoir, advising him to disobey the mandate of the supreme court and suffer himself to be put in jail for contempt, believing that such a course would lead to the making of exposures even more surprising than those already made in connection with this scandalous reservoir job.

The revelations concerning the condition of the reservoir made by The Gazette have aroused an intense public sentiment against Director McCandless and others involved in the reservoir scandal. The publication in The Gazette yesterday that the friends of Controller Larkin were after Director McCandless' scalp was not based on mere rumor. It is their declared intention to punish the director for approving what is openly alleged to be a fraudulent piece of work, and if the director continues in his present course course there is not the least doubt that his removal will be demanded.

Evidence Is Collected.

The director is manifestly worried, but in spite of all evidence to the contrary he insists that the reservoir is sound and an excellent job. He says he cannot account for the criticism that has been heaped upon him in connection with the matter, or why the controller's friends should seek his removal.

Evidence, which tends to show that fraud has been committed in the construction of the reservoir and that public officials are incriminated is being gathered and will soon be ready to be used in the controller's defense when he is compelled to announce publicly his decision regarding the payment of estimates. It may be a couple of weeks before this issue will be up to the controller. He has not yet been served with official notice of the supreme court's decision and it is believed that the department of public works will not be as hasty as formerly in approving the final estimates. In the meantime the controller will have sufficient evidence at hand to enable him to take a decided stand.

Light Sentence for Murder.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Simon Abruson of Sharon, charged with the murder of his wife in August, was permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. Abruson came here to make a home for his wife and heard from his brother of her infidelity at Sharon. She followed him here, demanded part of the money which he had saved but refused to live with him. He shot her.

WOMAN IS RESCUED AT BRINK OF FALLS

Reservation Employe Lowered Into Rushing Waters Above Niagara by Comrades.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Helen Costello of Buffalo was rescued from the brink of the American falls today by employes of the state reservation.

This afternoon word was received at the reservation office that a woman had attempted to commit suicide and was floating down stream toward the falls. Superintendent Perry secured rope and hurried to the bridge which connects Green island with Goat island. The woman was seen clinging to a submerged log a few feet below the bridge.

A noose was fitted about the body of John Marshall, a reservation employe, and he was lowered into the rushing waters. He succeeded in reaching the woman's side and placed a rope about her waist. The two were then slowly hauled to the stone abutment of the bridge. A ladder was lowered and the woman was landed safely.

Mrs. Costello is very weak from exposure, but the hospital physicians say she will recover. Domestic trouble caused the woman to seek death.

FIGHT ON FREE DELIVERY

Swissvale Residents Meet to Urge Supply from Braddock Postoffice.

About 150 residents of Swissvale who live in Duquesne avenue and Palmer place met in the office of Justice W. C. Rice last night to forestall the opposition to a free postal delivery. About eight months ago a petition was sent to the postoffice department signed by several hundred citizens of Swissvale, who reside in that part of the borough lying south of the Pennsylvania railroad, asking for free delivery from the Braddock postoffice.

On the day after election it was discovered that a protest signed by several hundred citizens on the other side of the railroad had been forwarded to Washington to counteract the first petition. When this discovery was made the meeting was called.

A committee consisting of W. C. Rice, F. C. Scheibler, Jr., William Strong and Franklin Wentzell, was appointed to keep up the agitation. The committee went before the Swissvale council last night, presented its petition and asked for an indorsement. This was refused. It was stated that the council could not take official action on the matter. Franklin Wentzell has offered a building rent free if delivery is established.

W. P. Roberts, assistant superintendent of the mails, of Washington, has been in Pittsburgh for a few days making investigations of postal affairs of the boroughs and will visit Swissvale today.

APOSTOLIC MISSION HOUSE.

Cardinal Gibbons Breaks Ground for Official Home of Delegate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Cardinal Gibbons, in the presence of a large audience of visitors, students and professors of the Catholic university and surrounding colleges, broke ground on the site of the new Apostolic mission house on the grounds of the university, leased to the Missionary union today.

The ceremony marks the 13th anniversary of the opening of the university.

Cardinal Gibbons presided at the annual meeting of the archbishops of the Catholic church of the United States at the Catholic university today. The deliberations were confined chiefly to questions of discipline and other subjects of interest mainly to the church.

Boy Found at Last.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—For three weeks little Mont Boyle of Lowellville has been missing. It was thought by H. M. Boyle, the father, that his first wife's relatives were responsible for his disappearance. Mrs. Mary Mc. Nevin, an aged resident of Lowellville, and two of her daughters were brought into court, charged with kidnaping the boy. They were discharged and the boy was later found with relatives in Geauga county.

LOW FAVORS CHIEF CROKER.

Charges Against Head of Fire Department Likely to Be Dismissed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—If reports in circulation today are trustworthy, Fire Chief Croker has found a powerful friend in Mayor Low, who will see that the charges against the fire chief are dismissed when the proper time arrives.

Commissioner Sturgis is said to be as determined as ever to oust Mr. Croker, but has lately found the mayor so opposed to this procedure that it is probable he will be unsuccessful.

Whence Come Odd Pieces That Are Worthy

It is a matter of small concern what one's predilections are in the choice of furniture. So far as the ability to gratify one's taste goes, but one thing is necessary—and that is—visit McElveen's.

Many persons test a store's efficiency by its showing of odd pieces—or special things, as they are often called. And here is where this store is particularly strong—always displaying an assortment of out-of-the-ordinary pieces which command the attention of the most discriminating persons.

Sometimes the oddity is in the design—often it is in the embellishment—but oftener in both.

This is emphatically the store of unusual things—of exclusive styles—the place where every furniture want can be satisfied—and price inducements are always greatest at

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1902.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Allegheny county's Republicanism has suffered no diminution as may be seen from the official returns on the state ticket. Pluralities ranging from above 48,000 to more than 52,000 indicate that the "State of Allegheny" can be depended upon now as surely as in the time of Lincoln. The tabulation of the vote has not proceeded far enough into detail to show the total vote of the guerilla "Ballot Reform" party, but enough is known to warrant the assertion that it was pitifully small, compared with the effort made in its behalf. Allegheny county Republicans are not of the sort to prove traitors to their state ticket in order to promote personal or business interests—at least, not many of them.

These figures are significant upon another point, and that is that voters could not be fooled again by indefinite promises of reform into voting for Pattison. The two administrations of that gentlemen were clean and quite free from positive evils. They were, however, equally innocent of positive progress, and the campaign of the state Democracy offered nothing better for a third trial. There was a great noise about evils of Republican administration, but no effort to outline any specific program for betterment. Judge Pennypacker, on the contrary, represented positive reforms within the party, and pointed out particular policies to be upheld. He won to his standard all those who favor progress and who have observed enough of political history to know where to look for it. Even the division of the local factions did not appreciably lessen the vote for the state ticket of the party, though the pluralities must lead every Republican to wish the party united in the county as it is in the state for good government.

Republican times are popular and it is no wonder. Such incidents as the Pennsylvania railroad's announcement of a 10 per cent advance in wages tend to make them so. There were no such incidents during the Democratic times, though reductions of 10 per cent or more were not infrequent. This advance of 10 per cent does not represent a very large sum to each employe, but it will aggregate many thousands of dollars every month that will go to increase the tide of general trade along the company's lines. It is ordered in recognition of the efforts of trainmen, trackmen and others to care for the overwhelming tonnage of the system. The men who get it have worked overtime and strained every nerve to keep things moving. The company, which is highly prosperous, has deemed them worthy of a larger share of the earnings, and the men, in turn, will add something to the general prosperity. That is the working of Republican times when every man and his neighbor has full confidence in the safe administration of public affairs and the maintenance of sound policies.

Yet with all the increase of wages and increase of freight movement the railroads are not able to keep abreast of the growing demands upon them. It is this condition of things that has generated so much interest in the subject of river improvement and which made the convention at Parkersburg such a complete success. Naturally the motives which inspire enthusiastic demands for the Ohio extend to its tributaries, and nowhere with greater reason than along the Allegheny valley. The Allegheny is a noble stream, with great possibilities, in which Pittsburgh is vitally interested. There are vast deposits of coal under the territory between Pittsburgh and Parker, and sites for manufacturing that need both railroads and navigation to develop them to the full. It is these considerations that have led to the proposal to raise the bridges between Pittsburgh and Allegheny, which will be argued at the office of the United States engineer today. It may be expected the hearing will be largely attended.

In this connection we print, in another column, a communication from Mr. Dewey, who is at the head of the company which has undertaken the development of the old Brady's Bend Iron Company tract. He is an advocate of high bridges and is entitled to a hearing. But he considers mainly his own interest, which is not unnatural. The elevation of the Union bridge, to which he refers, might be accomplished without serious inconvenience to any one. It is not so with the bridges at Sixth, Seventh and Ninth streets. It is a simple enough matter to construct viaduct approaches, and it is not a difficult task of engineering to elevate the bridges, but that is not the question. The objections are on account of the obstruction to trans-river traffic; the effect upon business on the streets running to the river and the influence of the proposed changes upon property values. With the object lesson of the Fifth avenue "hump" constantly before them, the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny are not anxious to create a series of obstructing "humps" between them. It is a broad question and it must be broadly considered.

The members of the American Bankers' association, in session at New Orleans, tumultuously disapproved of Congressman Fowler's bill for assets, currency and branch banks. Such action was to have been expected from the class of county bankers who made up the bulk of the attendance. Branch banks would lower interest rates and reduce their profits from borrowers, and hence meets the opposition of those looking at the subject from the lender's point of view. The amendments to the national banking law by which bank incorporation was allowed with so low a capital as $25,000 has produced a multitude of little banks, whose expenses, necessarily, bear so large a ratio to their transactions that they have to get the highest possible rates for loans in order to make a profit. The influence of these banks will be, of course, vigorously exerted against any legislation in aid of borrowers, and it must be admitted that with a system of branch banking there would be little business left for dinky banks. The branches of banks of large credit and capital would be able to extend accommodations at rates on which the dinky banks could not live. These little banks under any good banking system would become branch agencies of large banks.

THE LOCAL POLITICAL SITUATION.

We are so glad to find that the Times concurs in our views on the municipal policy that we readily overlook the sulky and grudging way in which it expresses its assent. We regret, however, that in an article of a column's length devoted to a consideration of the Gazette's opinions, the Times did not get beyond one end of the proposition advanced by the Gazette. We did indeed say that "nagging and scrimping will never achieve real economy or make the government of Pittsburgh what it ought to be," but we said, also, that "true economy for Pittsburgh lies not so much in curtailing expenditures as in developing sources of revenue," and further that "the city of Pittsburgh ought to be receiving at least half a million dollars a year from the various corporations using the city streets for their business." About this the Times has nothing whatever to say, but since it agrees with us as to what ought not to be done we hope that it will eventually agree with us as to what ought to be done.

The branch of the subject which the Times ignores is the one which furnishes the explanation of existing political conditions. There was a time when local political management was animated by a spirit of enterprise and broad principles of public policy, which atoned for many shortcomings. The public had to pay dearly for what it got, but it did get much in return and a vast degree of municipal development was accomplished. But for years past even the pretense of public purpose has disappeared from the control of the local organization. Its affairs have been conducted upon frankly avowed principles of personal interest and business advantage, and any party obligation which stood in the way has been violated without scruple. It has become the tool of a ring exercising political control for the purpose of exploiting public resources on private account.

Claims of party regularity put forth in behalf of an organization which bolted the party caucus in the state legislature and whose boss in the last campaign engineered a bolting ticket, are too absurd for consideration. It is a fact, however, that the force of habit and tradition has kept in the ranks of the old organization thousands who have no sympathy with the selfish and sordid purposes of its management and no interest in the continuance of the policy which sacrifices party interests to those purposes. They naturally desire to see a party union accomplished which will bring Republicans together in one organization. The sentiment in favor of such action is so strong that it has evidently excited alarm among those who are not interested in party success, except as a foundation for their business interests, and they are now laboring to continue the old organization as a political faction. If they succeed they may be able to prevent the nomination of a regular Republican candidate for recorder, and the state convention may eventually be compelled to provide for party reorganization, but we hope the pressure of party opinion will be too strong for them and that in the next campaign the strength of the Republican party will be concentrated upon a candidate for recorder not identified with any faction, but a man above and beyond all faction.

GEN. GOBIN'S SUCCESSOR.

The old saying that it is time enough to bid the chief enemy of mankind good morning when you meet him ought to be quoted for the benefit of the perturbed persons who publish their fears that C. Bow Dougherty, senior colonel of the Third brigade, because he is a Democrat, may not be moved up into the brigadier generalship when Gen. Gobin's term expires. It is quite likely that Gen. Gobin's commission would be freshened for another five years if he desired its renewal, but he has made it known that he intends to retire. Positions of commissioned rank in the national guard below the grade of brigadier general, other than staff appointments, are elective, but the general officers are appointed by the governor. It has been the custom to promote the senior colonel of a brigade to the higher rank on the death or retirement of a brigadier general, and politics has never cut any figure in the matter. There is no reason to suppose that any different course will be followed in the appointment of a new commander for the Third brigade. The efficiency of the guard is the thing to be considered in making promotions, however, and regimental efficiency, as well as seniority of commission, ought to be taken account of in making a promotion to general rank. All things else being equal, Col. Dougherty ought to be awarded the single star. But the state of his command, in comparison with the condition of the other regiments of the brigade, is something that ought not to be ignored. The records of the inspecting officers and the reports of the brigade and division commanders from the organization of the guard are on file in the adjutant general's office at Harrisburg, and it is an easy matter for the governor to consult them. He ought to do so before naming Gen. Gobin's successor and act in the light of the information they give him. A man whose regimental record is good may not make a good brigade commander, but the chances are that he will; and it is not likely that a man whose record of efficiency as commander of a regiment is below the average will make the sort of commander a brigade ought to have. That is the whole matter in a nutshell. If Col. Dougherty's record is satisfactory his seniority ought to count greatly in his favor, and the complexion of his politics ought not to weigh in the scale one way or the other.

PREMIER VS. PRESIDENT.

The United States has loomed up so large in the world's affairs since the war with Spain that the press of Europe take an enormously enhanced interest in American affairs. The nature of our government is receiving much study, and the discovery has been made that while the chief magistrate of the United States has none of the trappings of royalty, he has more real power than royalty.

A late issue of the London Spectator goes into a detailed comparison between the powers of the British premier and the president of the United States, and the points it makes are of interest. It says:

In certain ways the position of a prime minister while he remains prime minister—i. e., has the confidence of a majority of the house of commons—is one of greater power than that of the president. In the hands of a British prime minister, while he keeps his majority in parliament, are literally clinched the whole might, majesty and dominion of the state. He exercises, granted that he can carry his cabinet with him, and if not he is hardly prime minister, without any possibility of challenge, the whole of the prerogatives of the sovereign. It is true that the sovereign has to be consulted and to be informed, but he cannot veto, though he can sometimes delay, executive acts. That is, the prime minister can appoint whom he pleases to all the great offices of state, can dispose of the armed forces of the nation and can mold foreign policy to his will. By virture of his majority in the commons he can, as long as his majority holds, obtain from the house of commons whatever legislative measures are necessary to complete his policy. Again, while he is the minister chosen by the commons, he has the treasury at his back, and can use the national resources in the way he thinks best for the nation. If he wants another million for this or that service, he is certain not to be refused it. The whole of the machine, executive, legislative and fiscal, moves forward evenly and together, and he directs its course.

The president of the United States, on the other hand, has no such power over the legislature. As regards the great appointments he must obtain the consent of the senate, which has a right of veto upon them. In the matter of making treaties the president can do nothing without the co-operation of the senate. If the president wants to do something which involves the spending of money, he must secure the agreement of the house of representatives before he acts. Again, if legislation is required to carry out his policy, he must obtain the concurrence of both houses of congress. Thus in certain ways the president's action is far more limited and circumscribed than is that of a prime minister. He cannot say: "Either I obtain the money (or the legislation) I demand, or I cease to direct public affairs." He is elected for four years, and practically cannot resign. If the senate or the house of representatives refuse even the most reasonable demands, he has no choice but to put up with their decisions. On the other hand, the president's tenure is absolutely secure during his term. He cannot be turned out of office and deprived of all his power by a snap vote in the house of commons obtained through the blunder of a subordinate. Congress may "resolute till the cows come home," but the president remains unmoved. He may not be able to compel them to support his policy, but they have no sort of right to alter it as long as he remains firm.

After weighing the pros and cons the Spectator decides that "though the president is often cruelly hampered, while an English prime minister remains free and untrammeled, the greater power and responsibility must be admitted to remain with the president," and it concludes that "the greatest office of power in the Anglo-Saxon world is that of the president of the United States."

Harpers Weekly has been at it again. It is terribly grieved over the result of the election in Pennsylvania, particularly because Pattison stood squarely for ballot reform. This sort of political comment makes the masses tired. Pattison never could be induced to define the sort of ballot reform he favored. Moreover, Pennsylvania is no subject for sorrow. It is prosperous and progressive. Its political evils are nowhere nearly as odorous as those of New York, and if the mugwump journals of the metropolis would turn their attention to cleaning the Augean stables at home they would never scent a stench from across the state border.

President John Mitchell has shown the possession of more than ordinary good sense and sound judgment in refusing to be drawn away from the position he holds at the head of the United Mine Workers of America by the tempting offer of a position that, while important, would narrow instead of broaden his sphere.

The earnest way in which the government is going about the establishment of wireless telegraphic stations along our coast lines indicates that official confidence in the practicability of this newest triumph of electricity is well grounded at any rate.

It may have been an off year, but there was nothing "off" about the majorities given the candidates on the Republican state ticket by Allegheny county.

Another chapter has been written in the crime of Charles Cawley, with only the result of deepening belief in his insanity.

The more the election results are studied, the more apparent it becomes that the west is becoming as solid as the south.

New York must feel rather lonely without its Molineux case, after so many years.

There will be a lively bridge discussion at the government building today.

Roosevelt on Preparedness.

From the Washington Star.

The president in his speech in New York again emphasized, while declaring for peace, the necessity of being prepared for war. He will be severely lectured for this. The anti-imperialists will tell him that such utterances are unworthy of his office; that they put fighting notions into the heads of excitable people, and encourage a spirit of aggressiveness and spoliation. Nevertheless, the president is right. We are now carrying a load of growing responsibilities, and must be able at any time to take care of ourselves in the company we are keeping. The world is not on a Quakerish basis, and not likely soon to be. A nation is respected in proportion to its ability and willingness to "make good" under a pressure of circumstances. In other words, with all of our rivals well armed and on guard we must be also, and whatever we as yet lack on land or sea necessary to bring us abreast of the day in that particular must be supplied. The country is with the president in his aspirations.

Guarding Cuba's Nest Egg.

From the Philadelphia Bulletin.

President Palma seems to be showing a commendable degree of prudence in financial affairs. When the American military authorities turned over the government of the island to its inhabitants they left on hand a gold reserve of about $1,250,000. This sum, it is asserted, has been rigorously safeguarded by the Cuban administration in spite of the numerous attempts which have been made to get at it.

The running expenses of the government have so far been met by the proceeds of current taxation, which have apparently been sufficient to provide for them on a modest scale. Office holders who want bigger salaries and individuals who are anxious to see fresh offices created in order to enjoy their emoluments have assailed Palma because he insisted on keeping this nest egg intact; but so far he has studiously refused to yield to their entreaties or abuse.

Where Habit Counts.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Habit counts for something in politics. The whole tier of states from Maine, New York and Maryland on the Atlantic coast to California, Oregon and Washington on the Pacific, have been going Republican with such unanimity and enthusiasm in recent years that it will be difficult to turn any of them back to Democracy again. Many of them, of course, would go back if the Republicans offered adequate provocation for the reaction, but the Republicans will carefully avoid this.

Codfish vs. Turkey.

From the Newark Advertiser.

Even if a trust shall succeed in cornering the turkey market for Thanksgiving Day people can take refuge in cheap fish balls. The news comes from Newfoundland that codfish is so plenty and the best grades are so cheap in price that the poorer grades are almost unsalable. There is much to be said for codfish as food. One point is that it is very "fillin'." When you have partaken of half a dozen fishballs you really don't hanker for Thanksgiving turkey.

Opponents, but Friends.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

Years ago politics made men of the leading parties hostile year in and year out. Fortunately we have learned better, and friendships and neighborly good will are not affected by a difference regarding political opinions.

PLATT AND ODELL BURY THE HATCHET

Governor Cordially Promises the Senator Support for Re-Election.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

What is the use of carrying deadly weapons when the war is over? Gov. Odell and Senator Platt disagreed when the question of a running mate for Odell was under discussion, and the governor won. At once it was declared that the "easy boss" was no longer the leader of the Republican party in the state of New York—that he had been retired to oblivion forever and aye. Odell, big, sturdy fellow that he is, said nothing about it. He had his hands full conducting his personal interests in his own campaign, and was not inclined to waste his strength fighting a windmill. So he waited until all was settled, and then he held out his hand to the leader, and told him in effect that there was no intention of turning him out of the place of honor in "Amen corner." Platt smiled one of those sunny smiles of his and bowed his acknowledgment of the courtesy. Platt would like to be United States senator again, but until today he was waiting to hear the opinion of the man he had come to regard as the probable Republican leader, B. B. Odell. "Why, bless your soul, I am in favor of your being sent to the United States senate again, of course," declared Odell. He said that in effect, even if he did not use those words. Platt's face lighted up, as he said, modestly, that he did not want to go unless it was in accordance with the wishes of the Republican majority in the legislature and pleasing to the governor. Then the governor smiled, and the two shook hands over it. That is the way it is described by men who were at the Fifth Avenue hotel today, and whether this account is accurate in detail or not, the outcome proves that the sentiment is well set forth, at least. Platt has managed party affairs well for many years. He has money enough to be above suspicion of seeking to further his pecuniary interests by public service, and he is an honest man. Moreover, his ability in political manipulation and his knowledge of men never has been questioned. Leaders are not easily found, whether good, bad or indifferent, and New York state hardly could afford to lose Senator Platt.

Pleasant Memories for Wu.

Wu Ting Fang will soon leave America, perhaps forever. That he will take with him many pleasant recollections, is a foregone conclusion. Among them, surely, will be the dinner given tonight in his honor at Delmonico's by the Silk Association of America and the American Asiatic association.

Molineux's Father Too Loquacious.

There is an impression that friends of Gen. Molineux should warn him against talking too much. The old gentleman is impulsive and full of joy over the release of his son, Roland, from a prison which for so long seemed to be a halfway house to the electric chair; but in his desire to show that Roland has a right now to be perfectly happy, he has allowed himself to deny a particularly unpleasant rumor affecting the character of his boy's wife, Mrs. Blanche Cheeseborough Molineux. Most people in New York heard the story long ago, that she had posed for a photograph which could not be shown to decent people, and it was generally conceded that the story was too monstrous to be true, although those that upheld the rumor averred that a copy of it was in the hands of a certain newspaper. Yet the general goes into print today, denying the slander, saying that he had offered $1,000 for one glance at the picture, but had been assured by disinterested persons who might be supposed to know, that no such picture was in existence. It will be a good thing for the Molineux family when the general realizes the folly of denying every idle rumor. The public here is getting tired of the whole Molineux business.

Jerome Racks Tenderloin Nerves.

District Attorney Jerome and Capt. Piner, deputy police commissioner, dined together this evening at the Civic club. The police are all wondering what it means, while the Tenderloin is shivering in its high-heeled buckle shoes. When Jerome takes dinner with a high police official the suspicion is that raids are planned and the cleaning out or two or three resorts a few nights ago may be only an introduction to further interference with the joy of life under the white lights. Jerome laughs at the idea that he would announce his intentions by ostentatiously taking dinner with a deputy police commissioner, but the Tenderloin continues to shiver, and will not be comforted or jollied.

Women's Election the Real Thing.

Talk about your election! That of Tuesday week was not a circumstance to the choosing of officers by the New York State Federation of Women's clubs in Brooklyn today. Lobbying was rampant. There were friends of Mrs. Lynch (the woman that talked too long, in the opinion of some of her sisters), Mrs. Lora Lyon, Mrs. Dow and a few other candidates for the presidency, and each one had her coterie of vigorous supporters. They did valiant work about the polls, and the prevailing sentiment seemed to be that each candidate should be made the victor by main strength. The secretary did her part toward making sure of an honest count, by carrying the ballot box with her to a matinee at one of the Brooklyn theaters and nursing it all through the performance, while other women watched to see that there was no attempt to steal it on the part of ushers or other evil-disposed persons.

A Wall Street Warm Wave.

Wall street soon recovers from a shock when the turn comes, and the general expression on the countenances of men in the street today was of satisfaction. The sharp advance of prices all through the list immediately on the opening of the stock exchange was like a warm wave. It seemed to send a grateful thrill to the heart of everybody, and only happy predictions can be heard tonight in the uptown hotels where the business of the past day is discussed and that to come anticipated.

Standing Invitation to Footpads.

Several women have been attacked and robbed by colored men in and near Madison and Fifth avenues lately, and there is something of a panic. The robbers do their work boldly. Their plan is to step up to some woman, often when she has a companion of her own sex, snatch her hand bag away and run for it. One of the rascals was caught last night and now the police are trying to connect him with the "Jack the Slugger" crimes in Boston. There is one good warning to women in these robberies: That is, not to carry money in those little bags hanging to their fingers or attached to the belt. They are a standing invitation to highwaymen.

Saved a Hat Out of the Wreck.

A man who had all the earmarks of being "up against it" went into city hall this afternoon to ask a question about one of the Democratic senatorial candidates in the late election. The stranger said that he had lost $1,700 in bets against Tammany, but had won a hat on the man about whom he was asking. "The $1,700 was all I had," said the visitor, resignedly. "But I have won that hat, and I want to collect it." And as the others in the room looked at his dilapidated "lid," they hoped, for his own sake, that he would.

Child Drinks Burns.

An 11-year-old boy was arraigned in the childrens court today, having been found helplessly intoxicated in a vacant lot. Whisky had been given to him by an older boy. "What did the stuff taste like?" asked the justice. "Like burns," answered the small prisoner. He was discharged, and it is not likely that he will drink any more "burns," for a while, at least.

A Pittsburgher's Banking Ideas.

William S. Power, the well-known advertising agent of Pittsburgh, was one of the speakers at a dinner of the Sphynx club at the Waldorf-Astoria last night. He was the first Pittsburgher ever asked to address the club, and the style of oratory he gave them has moved the members to say that they will not overlook him in future when making up the list of post-prandial speakers. The Sphynx club is an organization of influential advertising men and big advertisers from all the principal cities of the country. George H. Daniels, general passenger agent of the New York Central railroad, is president. Mr. Powers' remarks were on the development of new advertising and kindred topics, on which he is well qualified to speak. He dwelt particularly on financial advertising, and recounted the history of the banking-by-mail idea, of which he was the creator, and which is an important branch of his business in Pittsburgh. He traced the development of banking by mail from its small beginning, a few years ago, to the present day, when Pittsburgh savings banks are receiving deposits, on which interest is paid, from every civilized country in the world. As Mr. Powers was the originator of this line of financial business, his words were listened to with the closest attention by the 75 persons around the tables, and he was heartily cheered as he finished with a graceful peroration. The participants in the dinner were from New York, Chicago and many other cities. Mr. Power will be a guest at a dinner of the Quoin club at the Aldine clubhouse in Fifth avenue tomorrow evening. He expects to be home by Sunday.

Trying to Oust Dramatic Critics.

There is a rumor on the Rialto that some of the personages connected with what is known as the "theatrical syndicate" have been waging war on dramatic critics here. The story goes that the chiefs of several of the daily papers have been asked to dismiss their critics, and that in each case the request has been denied with considerable force. The severity of some of the dramatic reviewers here is notorious, but it does not look as if theatrical managers would be allowed to enforce such drastic action as they are said to have attempted.

New Bridge Badly Damaged.

Brooklynites feel worse than they did about the new East River bridge. The footbridge sags so badly that harbor traffic has been seriously interfered with and several ferry lines in Williamsburg have been compelled to stop short of their regular destinations or change their routes altogether. The damage to the cables was worse than the engineers, in their sanguine spirit, declared at first, and no one seems to know what will be the loss—in time as well as money. Incidentally, it may be said that the delay, rather than the money loss, is what troubles the long-suffering Brooklynite.

A Prosperous Season for the Turf.

Now that horse racing in New York and suburbs is practically over for the year, persons connected with them admit that they never made so much money in any one previous season. Aside from special reasons for this, it is evident that the general prosperity prevailing all over the country has had most to do with it. The attendance at race tracks in this part of the country this summer and fall has been enormous. When business is booming there is always a response at the race track; and when hard times come the turf feels it immediately. A great many Pittsburghers have attended races here this year. How they fared is their own secret; but I have been told that a coterie of prominent men well known about City hall, who are occasionally met in Broadway in the evenings when the races are on carried back to Pittsburgh large bundles of winnings half a dozen times this year.

Explosion Damage Cases Decided.

Now that damage suits against the Tarrant Drug Company, on account of the explosion at the corner of Warren and Greenwich streets two years ago, are coming up, it is significant that the first one has resulted in favor of the company. The suit is on account of the death of a boy, and his mother is the plaintiff. The decision of the court is that no one knows just what killed the boy, and, therefore, the company cannot be held for it. This may not be entirely satisfactory to the mother; but, then, many legal decisions are not satisfactory to the persons getting the worst of it. What concerns the public is that it places one at a sad disadvantage before the law if one happens to be blown out of existence by an explosion while walking peaceably along the public streets.

Green Coffee Cheapened.

Coffee is cheaper in New York now than ever before—that is, one certain brand, green Brazilian. Brokers on the street downtown today asked 5 1-16 cents for invoice lines, and they say that the indications point to a drop to 5 cents. The lowest previous price was 5¼ cents. Arbuckle Brothers and the American Coffee Company have reduced the price for their package coffee one-half cent a pound to meet a like reduction recently in prices for green coffee. Arbuckle Brothers are now quoting a net price of 8½ cents for their Ariosa brand, and the American Coffee Company is quoting 8 cents for its Lion brand of coffee.

No Color Line.

From the Philadelphia Press.

President Roosevelt speaks and acts for the national Republican party in refusing to permit a color line to be established in the Republican organization in Alabama. Collector Bingham, just removed, has a right to urge such organization of the Republican party in his state as he pleases and can persuade its convention to adopt; but he cannot use his position and prestige as a federal officer under a Republican administration to draw a color line in the party.

PERSONALS.

"We have at the present time 15 new locomotives in the course of construction by the Pittsburgh locomotive works, which have been promised us by the close of this year," said D. F. Crawford, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad at the Union station last night. Mr. Crawford was returning from a business trip in Altoona to his home in Ft. Wayne, Ind. "The motive power on our road is now in better shape than it has been in years," he continued. "For the past two weeks we have kept everything moving and the freight congestion on our lines has been greatly reduced. However, this has been the greatest year railroads in this country ever knew and the end is not yet."

Thomas L. Payne returned home yesterday after spending a few strenuous months in the Thunder Mountain region of Idaho. Mr. Payne left Pittsburgh last spring to try his luck in the mining districts of the west, and returns with established claims on some gold diggings that promise when developed to make him a rich man. During his brief experience Payne established the reputation of a plucky man. With two companions he made perilous journeys and located several claims near Yellow Creek Basin, in the heart of the "Big Creek country," where next spring there is likely to be a rush. Mr. Payne is a brother of Charles M. Payne, The Gazette's famous "coon artist."

Added to the heavy travel on nearly all the roads touching Pittsburgh will be the passenger traffic from this city to Princeton today and tonight for persons who will attend the Yale-Princeton football game at Princeton tomorrow. The Pennsylvania has four extra Pullmans now in the yards to be attached to the 10 o'clock train tonight and this will not begin to accommodate the travel. Members of the alumni of both colleges from nearly all points in Western Pennsylvania will leave from Pittsburgh.

E. E. Nelson of Sinclair street, McKeesport, returned yesterday from a trip to the Black Hills to look after 13 gold claims in which he is interested. There are 255 acres in the claims, with a shaft 150 feet deep and a five-foot ledge. Specimens of ore taken from claims were tested at the government assay office at Deadwood and found to be .995 fine. Mr. Nelson brought with him several specimens. He is much elated over his prospects and expects to return in a few days.

Some fine examples of Mr. White's work will appear in the new illustrated edition of the famous novel "Ben Holden." Mr. White was called to New York some months ago by Irving Bacheller, the author, and asked to make a series of illustration photographs. He has completed 12 pictures which are considered by New York art critics the finest camera illustrations ever presented. Mr. White will probably illustrate another novel that Mr. Bacheller is writing.

A collection of the most artistic photographs ever exhibited in Pittsburgh was shown to Director John W. Beatty of the art department of Carnegie institute yesterday afternoon. The collection was made by Clarence H. White, an amateur photographer of Newark, O., who came to Pittsburgh to show Mr. Beatty his collection.

Eduard Gwirl and A. Rasmissey, mechanical engineers of Christiana, Sweden, are in Pittsburgh to look over the great industrial works here. They have been sent out by their government to inspect machinery and mechanical appliances. The two men will remain in Pittsburgh for several days.

William Loeffler, treasurer of the American Window Glass Company, left for Chicago last night.

THE DEATH ROLL.

James Wilson Hays.

James Wilson Hayes, an aged and honored citizen of Waynesburg, Pa., is dead. He was born here in 1817. His father, William Thompson Hayes, was a prominent citizen of Greene county in its early history, filling the office of prothonotary and clerk of the courts for a period of 20 years, and serving in the legislature. James Wilson Hays was more than 50 years ago publisher of the Waynesburg Messenger, which his father founded in 1813. He later filled the position of collector on the Pennsylvania canal at Pittsburgh, and received an appointment in the postoffice department under President Pierce at Washington City, which he filled for three years. Subsequently he engaged in the mercantile business at Graysville. In 1875 he was elected to the state senate on the Democratic ticket. His surviving children are: W. T. Hays, merchant of Waynesburg; Rev. James W. Hays of Smithfield, Pa.; A. W. Hays of Washington, Jesse L. Hays of Tallahasee, Fla.; Mrs. James M. Farrell, New Freeport, and Mrs. James L. Smith of Waynesburg.

Mrs. Mary M. Beatty.

Mrs. Mary M. Beatty died at her home in East Brady Wednesday night after an illness of several months. Mrs. Beatty was 79 years, 11 months and 4 days old. She is survived by the following children: Harry E. Mulnix, of Denver, ex-state treasurer of Colorado; William H. Mulnix, of East Brady; James Mulnix, of Colorado; Mrs. A. C. Beeson of Pittsburgh; and Mrs. Sweet of Colorado. The funeral will take place at the family residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John Snebold.

John Snebold, aged 75, an old resident of Natrona, is dead after a brief illness. He is survived by his widow and six children.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Anna Hayes, aged 75, died at Sharon, Pa.

Michael McCann, aged 54, died at Sharon, Pa., of paralysis.

Johnston Small, a pioneer citizen of Beaver county died at West Bridgewater, Pa. He was 87 years old.

John A. Holliday, one of Canonsburg's old residents, is dead, aged 84. He was born in Washington county.

Mrs. Mary B. Miller, widow of the late Haslett Miller, died at New Castle yesterday. She was 68 years of age.

Circuit Court Judge J. P. Caldwell of Jefferson, O., died yesterday in Battle Creek, Mich. Death followed an operation.

Mrs. Matilda Johnson of Boston died at the home of her sister in Irwin, Pa., Wednesday night. She was 69 years old.

The Rev. James Hill, D. D., senior member of the Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, died yesterday in his 86th year, at Englewood, near Chicago.

Mrs. Hannah Levy is dead at Freeport, Pa., aged 60. She is survived by a husband and three children: Mrs. Grant Gibson, Allegheny; Miss Lottie Levy, Pittsburgh, and Samuel P. Hines, of Freeport. She was a sister-in-law of Samuel Wertheimer of Allegheny.

Col. Clinton F. Paige, grand secretary general of the Supreme Council for the thirty-third and last degree of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masons for the northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States, died Thursday at his home in Binghamton, N. Y.

Consolation for Bryan.

From the Washington Star.

Where shall Mr. Bryan turn now for consolation? Where are now the hopes he cherished? Have they gone forever? Not so. It is safe to say that Mr. Bryan, whatever his feelings for the moment may be, will pick his flint and try again. It will console him a little to reflect upon the fact that none of his rivals for leadership in 1904 fared any better at home. Mr. Olney did not carry Massachusetts, nor Mr. Hill New York, nor Mr. Cleveland New Jersey, nor Mr. Gorman Maryland, nor Mr. Pattison Pennsylvania, nor Mr. Johnson Ohio. A rattling fight for control of the next Democratic national convention is coming on, and Mr. Bryan in some form will be in the thick of it. His next appearance will probably be as a delegate to that convention, equipped with his smile and a stirring oration. And then look out for a strong melodramatic play to the galleries.

Sterilize Their Names.

From the New York Mail and Express.

The continued unhealthy conditions along the Ambejemmackomas, Eskwakwewajo and Meekarkeeseebunk rivers in Maine have induced the state board of health to decree that no further use of the water from these streams for domestic purposes shall be made until their names have been boiled down.

HUMOR AT WOMEN'S CLUB MEETINGS

Members of Organizations Tells of a Few Odd Incidents.

"THERE be those so benighted who see no humor in the woman's club," said a bright little club woman in conversation the other day; "but the human being who cannot find good sport at the most solemnly conducted club meeting lacks the sense of humor. You understand, of course, that in not a few cases the humor is unconscious; but anyone with a sense of the ridiculous or the incongruous gets more than her money's worth at many a meeting the records of which make stupid reading.

And such clever little touches of feminine nature, too! Now, not long ago at an annual meeting we were having reports. Everybody had her best gown on and her most solemn expression—in short, we were all living up to the importance of the occasion.

"The secretary will please give her report," came from the president's chair.

"A moment of suspense, and again: "The secretary will please read her report for the year," called Madame President, a little louder and with a trifle more of emphasis.

"Miss Secretary was by this time a rich rosy red. She fidgeted about a moment, then pursing up her lips with a look of stern resolve rose from her chair, and what do you think she did You don't know? Why, she bent over, raised her dainty lace-trimmed skirts and, from somewhere, drew forth the report, which she read with distinct success.

"'Dear me!' said she to me after meeting, 'but I was embarrassed. You know I always carry my money and important papers in my stocking, and being detained on the cars I was a little late and rushed into the room without stopping to fish out that old paper. When the president called upon me for my report I nearly collapsed. Fortunately, it had not slipped down very far, and I got it without much trouble—now what are you laughing at? Where do you carry your money and papers? In the pouch of your blouse! Really, I think that is ridiculous' You see, one touch of caution makes the whole feminine world kin."

◆◇◆

DID you ever hear about the breakfastless baby and the lecture on the new homeology?

Not so very long ago at one of the suburban clubs a little woman was reading a paper, drawing a most ideally beautiful picture of the home of the future. The new homeology was the title of the picture.

It was about 11 o'clock in the morning and she was busy putting in the "high lights," when in a childish treble came the cry:

"Mamma, mamma; where is my mamma? I do want to get dressed and get my breakfast."

Everybody looked around, and behold! the youngest born of the speaker clad in "polar bear nighty" was making a bee line for the rostrum. A second later an excited servant appeared.

Exeunt baby and maid. In the meantime an embarrassed mother finished a paper, but the last few sentences lacked conviction.

ONE of the disappointed machine candidates for legislature over in Allegheny met a German of some influence in the Third ward at city hall the other day and began upbraiding him for not supporting his candidacy.

"You promised to help me out," said the defeated candidate, furiously; "but you didn't. How did you and your friends vote?"

"Ve all voted der shtraight Citizens ticket," replied the German.

"That was a nice way to help me out, wasn't it, you—liar!" yelled the defeated one.

BRIDGE CASES COME UP TODAY

Hearing Will Be Held in Government Engineer's Office.

PROTESTS TO BE MADE

Property Owners and All Persons Concerned Will Make a Fight Against Any Proposition to Change Allegheny Bridges.

The final appeal of the advocates of the raising of the Allegheny bridges will be made today before Capt. W. L. Sibert, the government engineer. The meeting will be held in the engineer's office in the government building and will be largely attended. All persons interested in the Union bridge have been invited and the outlook is that the report to the secretary of war will be adverse to any change in that structure. Tomorrow comes the hearing on the Sixth street bridge.

"If it is decided to raise the bridges at the expense of Pittsburgh business property a protest will go up that will be heard clear to the gulf of Mexico," declared Manager Thomas J. Fitzpatrick of the Pittsburgh exposition. Mr. Fitzpatrick will attend the meeting on behalf of the exposition society.

"If the Union bridge is elevated and the grade of Duquesne way is changed to a 4 per cent grade from Point alley, it will certainly damage the exposition property," said Mr. Fitzpatrick. "At the present condition of affairs the music hall is scarcely three feet above the street and with a slope beginning at the alley opposite the main entrance the exposition buildings would be left in a hole.

Entails Great Sacrifices.

"We all wish to see river navigation thrive, but it must not be gained through the sacrifice of business interests. It seems impracticable to elevate the bridges, particularly the Sixth street structure, by building viaducts or changing the grade of the streets. When we consider the number of persons and industries benefited by these alterations and figure them against the number that would be damaged it seems incomparable. The national government surely will respect Pittsburgh's business interests."

River enthusiasts are responsible for reports that the Union bridge was condemned and is a menace to navigation, as well as to the safety of pedestrians and vehicles which use it. Capable engineers have declared that there is no stronger wooden bridge in the country.

Bridge Is Still Strong.

During the flood in 1881 one of the piers was washed away and the framework sustained its own weight until repairs were made. On a recent examination it was found sound and safe. Underwriters who insure the bridge have pronounced it a first-class risk.

A contract was awarded yesterday to John B. McDowell & Son for repairing the roof of the bridge. This will be completed within a few weeks. James M. Bailey, president of the company, with several of the directors, will attend the meeting and present their side of the case.

Sixth street business men will be out in force to protest against changing the grade of the bridge. Thomas F. Kirk, resident manager for Nixon & Zimmerman, owners of the Alvin theater, said yesterday:

Scheme Is Impracticable.

"It's a hair-brained scheme. Just when the wonderful volume of traffic between the two cities has reached a point when it will become necessary to widen Virgin alley in order that we may have a continuous thoroughfare from Smithfield street through the dense downtown section to Allegheny, via the Sixth street bridge, up bobs the utterly impractical idea to wall things up and divert traffic into bystreets, where in a year or two the congestion will reach a stage that now cannot be realized.

"It would damage the Alvin irreparably, as it would every business house in this thoroughfare, but if any good would result to anybody, the pill would not be so hard to swallow. In my opinion it will never be accomplished."

"There is little doing on the rivers now," said another Sixth street property owner, "and the captains haven't much else to do. When time grows tedious on their hands they dream out some great scheme. Wait until they get steam up down on the wharf and they'll forget all about this, just as they did two years ago."

PLEA FOR HIGHER BRIDGES

Brady's Bend Property Owner Says They Hinder Navigation as They Stand at Present.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

In reference to your interview with W. D. Kountz in this morning's edition, I would respectfully state it is my opinion that the gentleman does not present a single argument in favor of the retention of the Sixth Street and Union bridges at their present elevation, beyond his own opinion that what has been should be, for time to come. In 1874, when the Union bridge was built, it was in the Ohio river, and congress had assumed the jurisdiction over all the bridges over the Ohio river prior to its construction. Its height, 35½ feet above pool surface, was in conformity to the conditions of navigation which prevailed at that time. When the Sixth Street bridge was rebuilt in 1890 with an elevation of 35 feet above pool surface, the bridge company agreed that when navigation and commerce demanded that they would rebuild the same at their own expense. Capt. Sibert of the corps of engineers, U. S. A., states that the Point bridge has the elevation that the Union bridge should have, and there seems to be no reason why the Pittsburgh approach to the Union bridge should not join the approach to the Point bridge, widening such approach if necessary. As the Union bridge is now old and entirely unfit for heavy traffic, it in any event will be necessary to rebuild it before it can be so utilized. As the Sixth Street bridge, he shows that it is practicable to raise this bridge without changing the approach on the Allegheny side. On the Pittsburgh side, viaduct approaches of easy grade riverward of Duquesne way reach street grades at Fifth and Seventh streets, respectively, with no property damage and at moderate cost.

Owning as I do a large property on the Allegheny river, and also voicing the sentiment of other property holders and manufacturers along the valley, I went to Washington last winter to interview our congressman to see what could be done toward abolishing the "Hell Gate" of Allegheny. I found that congress had already appropriated $1,000,000 toward its improvement, making the river slackwater 20 miles above Pittsburgh, but Major Bunker, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, said that further expenditures need not be looked for under the present conditions while the mouth of the river was obstructed and navigation interfered with to the extent it is at present.

Our river runs through a valley almost the entire width of this great commonwealth, endowed by nature with untold wealth of mineral resources, with room for manufacturing plants and homes for our workmen, and furnishing four-fifths of the water that forms the Ohio river at Pittsburgh. At the convention yesterday at Parkersburg, at which I was a delegate from the Allegheny River Improvement association, it was my good fortune to be placed upon the committee on resolutions, and it was the unanimous opinion of that committee and adopted by the convention, that a petition be presented to the congress of the United States to have removed when shown to be an impediment to safe navigation all artificial obstructions to the full and free use of the Ohio river, and its navigable tributaries.

We had a packet line running to Oil City in the early days of navigation on the Allegheny river, and should have packets now running at least to Kittanning, were it not for the interference to navigation presented by these low bridges. At the present time suitable packets for navigating the Allegheny river could not be more than 50 feet in height with the chimneys down. In fact, one of the Ohio river inland pool will have only 27½ feet clearance. The average towboat that carries Pittsburgh's products south has 45 feet with chimneys down. The least height of packets running south is more than 45 feet. The greatest number of days in any one year in which the pool towboats cannot go under the bridges is 58; the larger towboats and packets cannot go under them at all; nor can an ordinary crane-boat go under them.

The question whether these bridges have or have not the right to receive compensation for any pecuniary loss, is a matter for the United States courts to determine. Our government is inclined to be very liberal in such cases, and in the courts is where it will finally end. The public opinion among the property owners and manufacturers along the entire Allegheny river and its tributaries is very strong in this matter, and is by no means confined to the rivermen or lumber interests. The river belongs to the people, and as stated at Parkersburg, "we all have stock in it; it cannot be 'Morganized' but we do want it watered and pooled." Yours very truly,

EDWARD WILKINS DEWEY.

CAWLEY WAS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Younger Brother Indicted by Coroner for Killing Homestead Family.

At the coroner's inquest yesterday morning the simple word "yes" lisped by an infant voice cleared the mystery surrounding the murder of five members of the Cawley family on October 10 in Homestead. Little Agnes Cawley, the youngest of the survivors, testified that her brother Charles committed the deed. He was led back to jail to answer the charge of murder. A smile that wreathed his countenance was his only manifestation of interest in the proceedings.

The little girl was taken to the coroner's office by her uncle, P. J. Boyle, of the South Side. While tears stood in her eyes, she recounted the dramatic details of the tragedy. She was asked by Coroner McGeary if she had witnessed the killing of her mother and brother and sisters, and assented amid her sobs. She said she had seen Charles enter the room with an ax. She was asked if he had struck the fatal blows.

"Yes," she answered, while fresh tears streamed down her pallid cheeks.

The case was given immediately to the jury and a verdict charging Charles with murder was quickly returned.

In anticipation of sensational testimony the office was crowded. The brothers, James and Charles, were taken into the room. James, who is being held on a charge of highway robbery, was neatly dressed and throughout the hearing was deeply affected by the story of his little sister. Charles seemed unconcerned. He had neither collar nor necktie and sat motionless, gazing blankly at the witness with a fixed smile on his face. He was devoid of the emotions of pity, grief or fear. When the verdict was read to him, the smile became more pronounced. He made no comment in the few words he spoke to James, and walked doggedly back to his cell.

Dr. Walter C. McCandless, who, with Dr. Mark Baldwin, held the post-mortem on the bodies of the victims, described minutely the character of the wounds and testified that all could have been caused by an ax. Agnes, who is 7 years old, is expected to be an important witness at the trial.

TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT.

Engineer Pulls Open Throttle When He Faces Revolver—Four Men Are Arrested.

FRANKFORT, IND., Nov. 13.—Four men attempted to hold up the southbound Monon express at Cyclone early today. The train slackened speed on striking torpedoes on the rails, but when the engineer faced four revolvers he threw open the throttle.

The four men fired rapidly and often, but all trainmen and passengers escaped.

Sheriff Corns and deputies afterwards caught the men, who gave the names of Charles Johnson, James Mock, Frank Smith and Harry Gray, all claiming to live in Cincinnati.

HANGED BY MOB.

Tennessee Negro Lynched in Court House Yard for Murder of Farmer. Shot Before Captured.

LEWISBURG, TENN., Nov. 13.—John Davis, a negro, was hanged in the court house yard this morning by a mob of 500 men for the murder of Robert Adair, a farmer, near this city. Adair's body was found early today.

A small rifle and a knife covered with blood were near him. The knife was identified as the property of Davis.

Davis was caught about half a mile from town, but not until he had been twice wounded.

Gen. Matos Lands on Curacao Island Very Ill.

WILLEMSTAD, CURACAO, Nov. 13.—Gen. Matos, chief of the Venezuelan revolutionists, and his son arrived here this afternoon in a small boat.

Gen. Matos is very ill. His landing was witnessed by a considerable crowd. There were demonstrations of a varied character.

GREAT CONCERT PROGRAM.

Gabrilowitsch, the Russian Pianist, to Appear With Pittsburgh Orchestra.

Victor Herbert has prepared a great program for the second concert of the Pittsburgh orchestra at the Carnegie music hall tonight. The soloist will be Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the eminent Russian pianist, who makes his first appearance with the orchestra. Almost the entire program is new and represents compositions of striking variety and interest, as follows:

Concert overture—"Cockaigne" (In London Town).....Elgar
Concerto for piano and orchestra, in B flat Minor, op. 23.....Tschaikowsky
Suite No. 2—"Indian," op. 48.....MacDowell
(Five movements.)

GROWTH OF TWO BANKING HOUSES

New Colonial Trust Company Shows Net Earnings for Six Months of $281,498.

FIDELITY'S GREAT YEAR

Its Undivided Profits Are Swelled to $1,044,396 36—The Charter Arrives for the Colonial National Bank.

Two trust and banking houses of Pittsburgh at their annual meetings yesterday revealed tremendous business development. The Colonial Trust Company, which has only operated since April 1, showed net earnings of $281,498 97 for six months ending with October, and this after two 2 per cent quarterly dividends, aggregating $120,000, were paid. The Fidelity Title and Trust Company, for its fiscal year ending with October, swelled undivided profits from $846,982 31 to $1,044,396 36.

The charter for the new Colonial National bank was received yesterday from Washington, D. C. This bank, with the Freehold bank, the Colonial Trust Company of Sharon and the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh will form a family of banking institutions of one interest. The Colonial National bank will start with a capital of $1,000,000 and a surplus not yet determined, the stock to be owned by the Colonial Trust Company. The aggregate capital investment of the four, without the surplus of the Colonial National, will be $7,744,884.

Strides of the Colonial Group.

The Colonial Trust Company, early in its business career, on June 1, took over and liquidated the City Trust Company. Deposits of the Colonial Trust Company for the six months ending with October, increased $4,769,852 35, making the gross deposits over $8,500,000. In the same period the loans of the Colonial increased $6,044,028 29, making the gross loans over $4,700,000. The trust department of the Colonial company at the close of business, October 31, carried $13,344,000 of stocks, bonds, mortgages and cash due to trust estates. The company has a capital stock of $2,000,000; surplus, $3,130,000, and undivided profits, $241,500.

The affairs of the Freehold bank do not figure in the Colonial. The bank's deposits at the close of business, October 31, were over $4,324,000 and loans, $5,400,000. Of the liabilities of the bank there is $200,000 in capital stock; $1,000,000 surplus and $28,384 37 undivided profits. The Colonial Trust Company of Sharon, which started business in May with $125,000 capital, had deposits at the opening of business, November 1, of $301,362.

Showing Made by the Fidelity.

The Fidelity Title & Trust Company, with assets and liabilities at $9,091,968 48, shows cash on hand and in bank at the close of business, October 31, $1,470,400 67; demand and time loans, $5,388,743 92; investment securities, $1,606,960 76. The liabilities include the following items: Capital stock, $1,000,000; undivided profits, $1,044,396 36; due depositors, $6,936,899 23; treasurer's checks, $110,672 83. The trust department at the close of business, October 31, carried in mortgages, stocks, bonds, real estate and cash trusts, $23,745,366 22, an increase over the year before of $2,078,728 39.

The Fidelity company will hold a special meeting December 10 to vote on the recommendation of the directors that the capital stock be doubled by sale of new stock at $400 a share. This will swell the capital investment of the company to $6,044,396 36.

The Fidelity company elected the following directors: John B. Jackson, Albert H. Childs, James J. Donnell, E. M. Ferguson, Reuben Miller, Robert Pitcairn, Charles E. Speer, H. S. A. Stewart, John Walker, Frank Semple, Edward T. Dravo, James H. Reed, C. S. Gray, John R. McGinley and J. Levering Jones.

The Colonial Trust Company elected the following directors: Joshua Rhodes, James C. Chaplin, M. K. McMullin, E. C. Converse, Hon. William Flinn, James S. Kuhn, John C. Reilly, William H. Latshaw, George H. Flinn, Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, George W. Darr, J. D. Callery, John A. Bell and Charles Donnelly.

PROPHET GROSVENOR SEES A NEW VISION

It Is About the Speakership, but in This Case It Is Not for Publication.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 602 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.

They have a lot of good-natured fun with Gen. Grosvenor about his prophesying. For years he has been the official prophet of the Republican party, they say. Whenever an election or a convention is about to come off, the general gets out his little slate and begins to figure.

He made his biggest hit on McKinley's first nomination. Today the general was in the midst of a group who were complimenting him on his house forecast. He figured out 298 Republican representatives in congress to be elected, and that is about what it probably will amount to.

The only thing that he missed was his own district. It will be remembered that Gen. Grosvenor, in the heat of the campaign, got scared about his district, and allowed that unless "help" was forthcoming, the 9,000 infuriated miners in his district would snow him under, which they did not.

Somebody suggested that he should go into a trance and figure out the speakership contest. The general stroked his white beard, assumed a faraway gaze for awhile, and then said:

"With my prophetic eye I cannot see anyone in the speaker's chair but Uncle Joe' Cannon. I see him now, pounding the desk with his gavel or sawing the air with that long arm, as he expounds parliamentary law. I can only see 'Santa Claus'"—and here the general laid his hand on his own breast—"down in his old seat on the floor; I see Dalzell leading the host in a fight for a rule; I see Babcock in his accustomed place, diplomatic and able; I see Payne and Sherman pursuing their accustomed roles, and Littlefield doing business at the old stand—all this I see in my vision, but 'Uncle Joe' in the chair."

Then he came to and added: "But, of course, this is for prophecy merely, not for publication."

Representative Mudd of Maryland, who was re-elected to the Fifty-eighth congress by a heavily increased majority, said this morning that the four Republicans from his state in the next house would support Chairman Babcock of Wisconsin for speaker.

Ten thousand strikers, many armed with clubs and carrying banners and red flags, made a demonstration at St. Etienne today. They marched through the street, but seemed more bent on merry-making than creating disorder.

Garcia a Man Without Country, but Let's Steamship People Do the Worrying.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Traveling back and forth on ships which ply between Havana and this port, Constantino Garcia, a native Cuban, is affording the steamship companies much trouble and proving himself to be a man without a country.

He started four months ago by stowing away at Havana. Arriving here the immigration officials ordered him back. At Havana the Cuban officials refused him landing because he was a stowaway. He was again returned to New York and again refused permission to land.

The steamship companies are compelled to obey the order and return Garcia to Havana or pay a heavy fine. They have been unable to find any work aboard ship which their unwelcome passenger can do. Meanwhile Garcia says he is letting the others "do the worrying."

MRS. TINGLEY APPEALS.

Asks for Reversal of Decision to Send Cuban Children Back to Santiago.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Notice of appeal was filed with the treasury department today in the case of the 11 Cuban children who were detained by the bureau of immigration when they arrived en route from Santiago, Cuba, to Mrs. Katherine Tingley's school of theosophy at Point Loma, Cal.

The appeal calls for a reversal of the decision of the special board of inquiry that the children be deported. They were to have been sent back on a steamer which will sail November 21.

The notice of appeal acts as a stay, and the little immigrants will remain in the comfortable apartments of the immigration commissioner at Ellis island until Secretary Shaw acts on the appeal, unless he should uphold the board's decision before November 21.

GAYLEY GETS HIS WATCH.

Identifies the Property Which Holland House Porter Purloined.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—James H. Gayley, vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, visited police headquarters today and identified a watch which was found in the rooms of Patrick Boland, who is charged with stealing $12,000 worth of jewelry from the Holland house.

The watch, which is solid gold hunting case, was presented to Mr. Gayley 20 years ago by his employes in the Missouri Furnace Company.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION OF THE COLLEGE TEAMS

TEAMS SIZED UP BY WALTER CAMP

Dwells on the Points of Yale, Princeton and Harvard.

HARD AT PRACTICE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 13.—In the current issue of the Yale alumni weekly, Walter Camp sums up the chances for the Yale-Princeton game as follows:

"Neither the Harvard, Princeton nor Yale team of this fall is the equal of the best team that any of these universities has produced, but all are above the average and each is very powerful when at its best. No one of them has been able to keep up a sustained pace through two of three games. Of the three, Princeton has been the most consistent performer, for she has allowed no eleven to cross the goal line, the only team to score being a weaker one who succeeded in getting a drop kick. On the defense, therefore, Princeton has done the cleanest work. On the offense, in the running game Princeton has never in any contest shown the scoring ability exhibited by Yale in the Syracuse and Bucknell games, or by Harvard in the Indian game. In kicking, Princeton once more has the lead, for Dewitt has done better punting and better drop kicking than any man wearing the blue or crimson. In long runs, both from a scrimmage and in a broken up field, Harvard has done the best work, and with Graydon, Keerman, Stillman and Marshall, the chances are good that there will be a long run or two by the visitors at New Haven on the 22nd.

"Of the three teams, Princeton has distinctly shown the greatest aggressiveness and dash, but not as great smoothness in the working of plays, even when at their best, as Yale. The game between Yale and Princeton, as it is played at Princeton, gives the Jerseymen the advantage of home grounds, which, however, ought not to be a great factor, unless the day of the contest or a day or two before the contest proves rainy. Then the slippery condition of the field would be very much against Yale. When these two teams face each other, Princeton will have three of her veterans of last year in the line and Yale an equal number, possibly four. Yale will slightly outweigh Princeton in the line, although Coach Hutchinson of Princeton states that his line will average more than 190 pounds to the man, and that his back field will outweigh Yale's. This latter statement is emphasized still more by the recent changes at New Haven in putting Metcalf into the back field, and Rockwell at quarter. The difference in the two teams in this respect will not in the aggregate be marked. In fact, it is seldom that teams representing the two universities have met where all conditions were so even, with one possible exception—Dewitt's kicking. Yale is not particularly strong on this, and her kickers are not as quick to get the ball away as those of former years. One thing which they do possess, to make up for this deficiency, is an ability to work short gains with a good deal of power. They will find Princeton stiffer in defensive work than anything they have met thus far."

Fine Practice by Tigers.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—To hear the sons of "Old Nassau" cheer at football practice this afternoon was enough to fill any team with enthusiasm, and it helped the Tigers eleven to play as well, at least, as at any time before this season. During an intermission Capt. Davis was asked what effect the cheering produced. He replied that it made him feel as if he should like to grab the ball and made a touchdown.

For two periods of 15 minutes each the 'varsity and scrubs struggled. When time was pulled the 'varsity eleven had five touchdowns to its credit. The fumbling that marred Tuesday's practice was almost entirely done away with, and the interference was formed with a precision and accuracy that not only rolled up so many points against the scrubs, which was made up for the most part of substitutes, but also caused the coaches to look happy.

Pearson, McClave and Davis, by excellent interference, scored touchdowns after runs of about 40 yards. Short again played the pivotal position, Brown playing tackle. Since Short has been taken from tackle the position has been considered to be the weakest point in the line, but by persistent coaching Brown has been rounded into something like 'varsity form.

The men will be given only very light work tomorrow in preparation for Saturday. For the last hard practice that of today was very encouraging. The trainers assert that the men are all in the very best of condition.

Yale's Players In Fine Shape.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Yale's football coaches wound up their scrimmage season this afternoon with a 10-minute half in secret and without any lineup, after the gates were opened. It was another afternoon of light work. Cautious handling this week has resulted in rounding every player into first-class trim, except Metcalf, who is still somewhat fine. Chadwick's form has improved rapidly the last three days and he will smash into the Princeton line in his best form. The absence with which Glass was threatened has not materialized and he will face the mighty Dewitt in tiptop condition.

Fully 300 students marched to the field singing and cheering for the team during the practice. All of the open practice today was devoted to the perfection of the punting game. The backs were kept catching kicks for half an hour and they showed raggedness, Rockwell's muffing being noticeable. Bowman was used at drop kicking and both he and two between the goal posts from the 40-yard line. The players will go to the Yale field tomorrow for signal practice and will leave for New York immediately after supper.

Harvard's High Tacklers.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 13.—The old trouble with the line, in penetrating to playing too high, and consuming too much time in charging, has again manifested itself. The coaches are working on these lines at the night secret practice, but there are one or two offenders. The men are in great shape for the Dartmouth game. Sugden will possibly be King's successor, as his record has been carefully gone over, and his abilities observed. Harrison, as substitute fullback, does great work, but is too fond of rough house. Jones, the leading candidate for left end has recovered from the strain he received during the West Point game, is running through signals and doing light work only, but will be in tune for the big game. In the lineup today, spectacular give away was practiced by the 'varsity. It fooled nobody.

Cornell Players Overtrained.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The Cornell football eleven is badly overtrained and the coaches have been obliged to resort to heroic measures to get the candidates in shape for the game with Lafayette Saturday. The linemen move about sluggish and slow and for several days back the play has been almost utterly devoid of snap. Yesterday's 'varsity was played to a standstill by the scrubs. This set the coaches to pondering with the result that today was practically a holiday, as far as physical exercise was concerned. Unless the Ithacans get more ready on their work Saturday defeat by Lafayette will be in store.

SCHOOL TEAMS WILL DO BATTLE TODAY

Allegheny Preparatory and Trinity Hall Elevens Ready for Second Meeting.

At the Colosseum grounds this afternoon one of the most interesting school games of the year will be played between the Allegheny Preparatory school's strong team and Trinity hall of Washington, Pa. The Allegheny Preparatory school eleven is without doubt one of the strongest teams of its weight in the country. It averages but 117 pounds and can walk away with anything in its class. To find interesting competition it is necessary for the Preps to play entirely with teams much heavier.

The Trinity Hall eleven, which averages over 20 pounds heavier, was defeated at Washington on its home grounds by a score of 17 to 11. Other games of the season have been: Sewickley High school, 10 pounds heavier, 12 to Allegheny's 0; Pittsburgh High school, 30 pounds heavier, 41 to 0; W. U. P. Engineering, 25 pounds heavier, 15 to 0; Bellevue High school, 5 pounds heavier, Allegheny 36, Bellevue 0; Lincoln A. C., 5 pounds heavier, Allegheny 38 to 0; Armstrong Stars, 15 pounds heavier, Allegheny 12 to 5; Shadyside Academy second, 15 pounds heavier, 18 to Allegheny 0.

Trinity Hall has been practicing hard and will fight hard to retrieve the former defeat by a lighter team. The game last year won by Allegheny was one of the prettiest ever played on a local gridiron. The line up for today follows:

Allegheny Prep.		Trinity Hall
Smith	L.E.	Siegler
R. Carson	L.T.	Sherlock
Zimmers	L.G.	A. Wagner
Mayer	C.	Hill
Gilg	R.G.	Frey
J. Carson	R.T.	Campbell
Denny	R.E.	Round
Fleming	Q.	Paul
Knox	L.H.	Reed
Retter	R.H.	Jackson
Tustin	F.B.	McCracken

The Association Game.

Homestead and the Semaphores of Swissvale, two of the leading aspirants for the association football championship of Western Pennsylvania, will have it out at Steel Works park, Homestead, tomorrow afternoon; and there promises to be some tall old hustling among the members of both teams. The game will be the means of attracting a large crowd, as the clubs are evenly matched and have been practicing hard for this game.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

A good game is expected over on the South Side Saturday between the South Side A. C. and the Comptons' team.

Unique A. C. players must report for practice Friday evening, as they play the strong Emsworth second team Saturday at Emsworth.

The Liberty A. C. is without a game for Saturday. Any 60 to 65-pound team desiring a game can line up L. W. Monteverde at 10 Court or 2251 Main.

The Shaner A. C. want games with all 125-pound teams. Address A. P. Dougherty, 129 Steuben street, city, or call 516 ring 3 Grant and ask for Dougherty.

On Saturday the Pequots of Allegheny will play Sterling Reserves of Wilkinsburg on the latter's grounds. All Pequot players will please report for practice this evening.

In answer to numerous challenges the manager of the South Side A. C. wishes to state that his team is strictly amateur and will play no games for money or side bets.

The Aspinwall Juniors must have a game for Saturday with an 85-pound team, to be played on their grounds. Address Earl Brittain, Commercial National bank, or call 149 Court.

The Eckerts of Allegheny will meet the Tumbler A. C. on the former's grounds Saturday morning at 10 a. m. The members of the Eckerts will report for practice this afternoon at 4:30.

The Suburban A. C. would like to hear from all 75 to 85-pound teams having grounds. Would like to hear from Emsworth second team for a game for Thanksgiving day. Address James Jones, Mt. Oliver.

The Lincolns of Allegheny desire games with 70-pound teams having grounds, school teams preferred. Address J. Goldsmith, 715 Talbot avenue, Braddock. They were defeated by the U. S. Grant Friday through a duke by a score of 5 to 0.

The people of Sewickley valley are looking forward to the game Saturday at Sewickley between the Sewickley High school and the Shadyside Academy. Both of these fast football an interesting game is expected.

The Emeralds play the Ellwood City eleven Saturday and Capt. Mackey requests all the players to report for practice Friday evening at 7 o'clock sharp. Manager Donnelly would like to hear from Scottdale, Everson, Natrona or any other out-of-town team for November 22. Address E. M. Donnelly, 2706 Carson street, South Side.

Orient A. C. wants a game with a 50-pound team for Thanksgiving afternoon at 2 o'clock, to be played on Orient grounds. One-half expenses and good treatment. Orient will play Grant A. C. Thanksgiving morning. Address C. A. Digley, No. 1, Randolph street, Allegheny. Little Orients also want a game with some 20 or 30-pound team. Address Dan Burke, corner Island avenue and West Market street, Allegheny.

The people of Beaver Valley are looking forward to the game between Allegheny Athletic association and the Rochester teams at Rochester on Saturday. Both teams are working hard to be in the best possible shape for this game. The three As will will for the first time since their game with U. of W. Va., have their regular team out in its full strength. Coach Hogan has been putting on new formations, which will be sprung on Rochester for the first time, and some of these plays are bound to prove good ground gainers.

The Sewickley Y. M. C. A. desires a game for Saturday with any first-class team on the Sewickley grounds, teams from Pittsburgh preferred. Full expenses guaranteed. For games, call up Sewickley No. 28.

The Franklins will line up against the Carnegie high school tomorrow on the latter's grounds. All members are requested to meet for practice this evening no later than 7:15 o'clock. Saturday the Franklins' managers are working hard to be in the best possible shape for this game. The three As will will, for the first time since their game with U. of W. Address Berry Himelhius, 811 Fifth avenue.

MAY GET FRANCHISE. NOT CLINCHED YET

Report That Pittsburgh Was Admitted Into American League Is Denicd.

Quite a stir was created in local baseball circles yesterday by the positive announcement that the American league had finally decided to locate a club in this city next season, and that the Detroit franchise and players would be transferred here.

Charles J. Pedder, who represents the local capitalists seeking an American league franchise, repudiated the report and said: "I don't know how or where such a statement was made, but to say the least it is just a bit premature. Of course, I am confident that we will eventually get an American league franchise for this city, but there is nothing definite about it yet. The situation is the same as it has been for the past week."

Mr. Pedder, who was one of the party to call on Vice President Somers in Cleveland on Monday last, said that the conference was of a most satisfactory nature; in fact, the Pittsburgher came away with the feeling that a franchise was almost as good as within their grasp. Still, Mr. Somers was not in a position where he could give a positive statement. Mr. Pedder is of the opinion that a meeting of the American league will be held within a day or two, and at this meeting the franchise for Pittsburgh will be granted.

The Pittsburghers who made the Cleveland trip on Monday seem to have had their eyes opened as to the intention of the American league to enter New York. Last week Mr. Pedder said the statement that a site had been secured in Gotham, but he has changed his mind and says the American has the site and is sure to place a club there. He says that no matter what the New York outcome may be a franchise is sure for Pittsburgh, but it has not yet been granted.

A special telegram to The Gazette from Detroit says:

"S. P. Angus, owner of the Detroit ball team, has been in New York at the Waldorf since Wednesday completing a railroad deal in which he is interested. There is no other person connected with the club who is authorized to speak for Mr. Angus on the Pittsburgh deal, which has caused much comment here for the past fortnight, though Secretary Henry entered a general denial of the truth of the latest story.

"Mr. Angus, in an interview printed in the Free Press a few days since, commented on the efforts that are being made by Pittsburgh to break into the American league. 'There is nothing in it as far as Detroit is concerned,' he said. 'The league cannot take my franchise from me, and I intend to have a club in the American league in 1903. I do not know any of these Pittsburgh people, have never heard of them and do not intend to have anything to do with them. Ban Johnson has never discussed the matter of a transfer with me.'

"This interview was printed on Sunday and bore on exactly the same possibilities that are presented in stories now being sent out which Mr. Angus then referred to as 'hot air.'"

POOL EXPERTS TO MEET.

Ex-Champion Clearwater and Cowboy Weston Will Compete.

An interesting exhibition of 1,000-ball pool will take place at the Brunswick pool parlors under the Grand opera house on Monday afternoon. November 17, continuing for two afternoons and evenings, at 2 and 8 o'clock, games to be played in blocks of 100 balls.

The contestants include W. H. Clearwater, ex-champion of the world and winner of the last pool tournament, and Charles Weston, of Cowboy expert, winner of second prize in the last tournament and tie for first.

The Washington Team Won.

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Kelley's Originals, the local colored football team, suffered defeat by a score of 28 to 0 at the hands of a colored team from Washington, Pa., today. In the second half, however, the locals took a brace and held the visitors successfully, their scores being made in the first half. The team from Washington was too heavy for the Originals, the visitors weighing almost 20 pounds to the man more than the locals.

WASH.-JEFF. WILL INVADE THE CITY

Agreement Signed for Game With East End Thanksgiving.

COACH GREENE OUT

All doubts about the Washington and Jefferson football eleven playing a game in this city on Thanksgiving day were removed yesterday when articles of agreement for a contest between the college team and the East End Athletics were drawn up and signed by the managers of both teams.

The announcement made in this paper last Monday of the possibility of the Wash-Jeff team breaking in here for a game caused quite a stir, as it had been announced that the Washington county eleven would not be able to secure a game in this city, owing to a lack of playing grounds. This publication brought forth renewed attempts to block the game, but these attempts have proved unsuccessful and the red and black team will be here to share public favor with the big All Star eleven.

Yesterday Manager Craig of the Wash-Jeff team came to the city, and at once held a conference with Manager P. J. Walsh of the East End eleven. The result of this conference was an agreement duly signed by both managers which calls for a game between the W. & J. and East End teams to be played on Thanksgiving day at Friendship park. The managers will meet again today to make further arrangements and post forfeits for the carrying out of their parts of the agreement.

There was some talk of the failure of the teams to secure Friendship park, but that was merely guesswork. City Assessor George L. Gosser, who is a member of the central board of education and who has full charge of the grounds, stated yesterday that he had granted the use of the grounds to Manager Walsh of the East End eleven for Thanksgiving day, and he understood that the W. & J. team was to be the attraction there.

Walls in the city yesterday Manager Craig confirmed a report from Washington that Elbridge H. Greene, the ex-Harvard star, who has been coaching the Washington county eleven this season, has severed his connection with the team and will leave today for Cambridge, Mass., to help prepare the Harvard eleven for its big game with Yale. Mr. Greene's duties as a coach for W. & J. are ended and he will not return from the east.

The dethronement or slipping down and out of Coach Greene will not occasion much surprise in football circles, as such a move has been anticipated for some time. The Washington county eleven has made a miserable showing this year, in fact the worst showing of any red and black team for 10 years, and the blame is laid at the door of the coach, whose methods have been far from successful. It is asserted by those close to the team that the players know no more about football now than they did the first day they went out for practice.

On the other hand, friends of Coach Greene assert that the material given him to handle was of the poorest quality and that no man, no matter how skillful a coach he might be, could weave it into winning material. Manager Craig said yesterday that for the rest of this season the team will be handled by graduate coaches headed by Finis Montgomery, the star halfback of last season's team, and assisted by Seamon, Core, Brownlee, Mathews and Schroutz. The Harvard style of play will be discarded and Princeton methods adopted again.

WILL HAVE HARD GAME.

Pittsburgh Stars Preparing for East End Team—Must Cut Out Rough Work.

The Pittsburgh team yesterday put in a busy afternoon at practice, including a long basketball game and much hard running and bumping together with an hour's signal work. There may be a change in the line up for the game with East End A. A. Saturday. Coach Richardson said that he was satisfied that his team will be in for a severe game. He also said that he would not stand for any such work as happened in the last East End game. "We will be ready and willing to play football from the sound of the whistle, and if we can't play football without fighting, we won't play."

"Our new formations are good ones," said Richardson. "Ellis will not be in the game, having been ill in bed nearly all the week. McChesney will play full back and probably Miller and Crollus half back. I may take a shot at my old position of half back before the game is over. Crollus has recovered from his injury in the Philadelphia game and may play full back part of the time."

VICTORY FOR ST. VINCENTS.

Defeated Liberty in Closely Contested Bowling Match.

The St. Vincent and Liberty bowling teams met last night on the St. Vincent alleys, and after three closely contested games, the St. Vincent team proved the winners, taking two games out of the three.

The members of both teams were in good bowling form, and the result was three games about as closely contested as will be seen this season. For the St. Vincents C. Hahn showed the best work, while Mailbach put up the best bowling for the Liberty team. The scores follow:

St. Vincent.	First Game.	Second Game.	Third Game.
C. Hahn	178	125	191

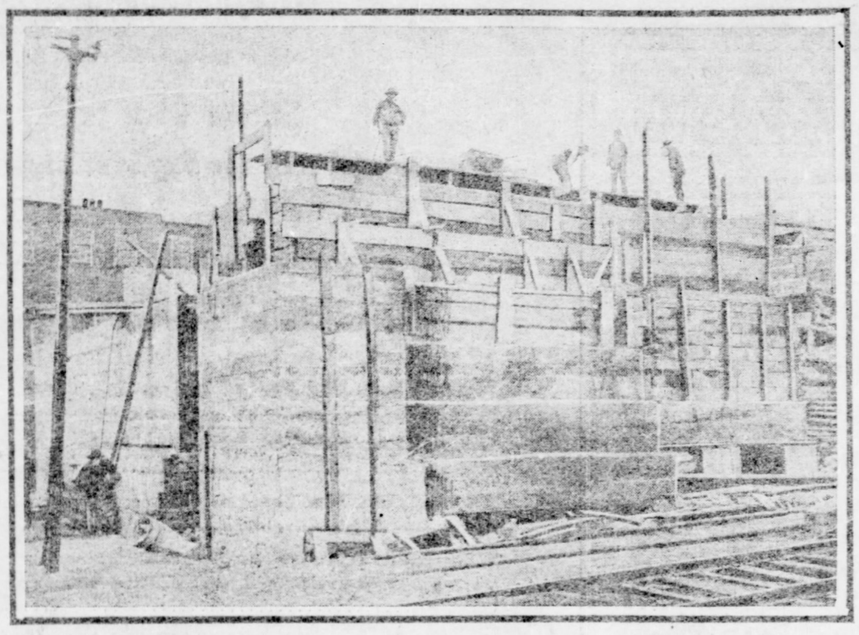
Broke Only Track Record.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 13.—In an attempt to lower the trotting record for one mile, Cresceus, the champion, driven by George H. Ketcham, this afternoon went the distance in 2:07, breaking the record for the Riverside park track. The weather was warm and the track in good condition.

GREAT MOUNDS OF CEMENT CONSTUCTED IN ALLEGHENY FOR THE FORT WAYNE'S ELEVATED TRACKS.



This illustration shows a section of the wonderful work going on in Allegheny, along the line of the Ft. Wayne road for the elevation of the tracks. The work is of a most substantial character and involves the use of millions of bushels of cement for the construction of solid masses upon which the tracks will rest.

PRESIDENT'S PARTY TAKES TO THE WOODS

Bear Dogs Forget the Honor Awaiting Them and Go Astray After Deer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SMEDES, MISS., Nov. 13.—President Roosevelt and his party arrived shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon, and in their hunting togs started soon afterward for the camp on the Little Sunflower river. As the distance is about 15 miles and the trail rough, the chances are that it was after dark before they reached the camp.

The president was clad in hunting costume, riding trousers, heavy leather leggings, blue flannel shirt, corduroy coat and brown slouch hat. Around his waist was buckled his cartridge belt and at his side hung his ivory-handled hunting knife.

The story came back from camp that in trying the pack of hounds half of the dogs went off after a deer, which was jumped while they were on the trail of a bear. As there are only 22 dogs in the pack, the split is disquieting. Mr. Mingum, as soon as he heard of the accident, put himself in communication with Bobo, a famous bear hunter, who has a fine pack of 45 dogs on his place, about 100 miles north of here, at Bobo station. If his pack can be secured, there will be a sufficiency of dogs.

Holse Collier, a negro, who was a scout in the confederate army and who afterward acted as guide for Gen. Wade Hampton, will be the president's guide. Among the hounds Collier has in camp is the most celebrated bear dog in this country. This is his last hunt, as he is old and decrepit, though he has one more hunt in him, and when he opens his mouth it means bear.

Collier is credited with having been in at the death of 1,000 bears.

DEAD BABY FOUND PACKED IN HAT BOX

Left in Ladies' Cabin of a Ferryboat by a Young Man, Who Said He Would Be Back.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The police of this city and Camden are working on a ferryboat murder mystery. A murdered boy baby was found in the women's cabin of the ferryboat Pennsylvania. The body was turned over to the Camden morgue keeper.

The body was wrapped in cheesecloth and cotton, soaked with ether and packed into a hat box with newspapers. Just as the ferryboat was about to leave Vine street a well dressed young man, apparently about 23 years old, came on board carrying the hat box. He entered the women's cabin, and placing the box on the seat in a far corner, walked out again to the wharf. William Curry, the ticket taker on board the ferry, had looked sharply at the young man.

"I am just going for a cigar and will be right back," said the man, in answer to Curry's questioning look. He did not return.

BASKETBALL GAMES.

Lively Doings Among the Players, and Some Strong Contests Are Arranged.

The South Side basketball team of the Interstate league will practice tomorrow night as a starter in the preparations for the opening game on the South Side with the fast Manchester team, next Saturday night. This game should be a hummer with which to open the season, as the games between these two teams in the old Junior league were always fast and very closely contested, the last game between the two teams ending in a South Side victory, 13 to 12. South Side would like to hear from some strong team for Saturday, November 29. Address Evan M. Roberts, Twentieth and Jane streets, South Side, city.

The Manchester team will be up against a tough proposition next Monday night in the shape of the Keystone team. This team is composed of the best players of several different teams of this vicinity and is, in reality, an all-star aggregation.

The Manchester Juniors will play the Homestead third team. This will be another hard game because the Homestead lads have been practicing for several weeks at the H. L. A. C. and are now putting up a very fast game. Both teams have several open dates for the near future and would like to hear from all the best teams in their respective classes. Address S. W. Graham, 1308 Juniata street, Allegheny, Pa.

The Riverview basketball team will open its season in its gymnasium tonight when it will meet the Enterprise A. C. of lower Allegheny.

WILL GET TUNNEL FRANCHISE.

Tammany Will Not Bear Odium of Defeat of Pennsy's Plans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—In obedience to orders given by Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, the Democratic majority in the board of aldermen is prepared to assist without delay, and probably without opposition, the franchise for the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel, which will be forwarded to the board tomorrow by the rapid transit commission.

Tammany is unwilling to assume responsibility for the defeat or delay of the great enterprise, and is equally desirous of claiming credit for its accomplishment.

Railroads Will Refuse Freight Unless Marked in Right Fashion

All the lines from Pittsburgh west, as well as from Buffalo west, have issued notices to their freight agents to accept no shipments of freight in less than carload lots, unless each package, bundle or piece is plainly marked by the shipper with the information necessary to carry it to its destination and insure its proper delivery, even if separated from the way bill.

This rule is to be enforced after December 1 with the greatest strictness. The cause of its adoption has been the many instances of freight going astray when the marking was insufficient to make its intended destination certain.

There will be a special rule in effect for iron and steel articles, and the new rule adopted for this class of freight shipment provides that all these shipments, including castings, "must be marked with a label, linen or tin tag (securely fastened by wire tie or tarred rope), stencil or paint, as may be preferred by the shipper, showing the initials or full name of consignee and the destination in full." Each bundle must be marked and the address in stencil or paint must be allowed to dry before the property is tendered for shipment.

It is also likely that this rule will go into effect in the territory from Pittsburgh east, almost as soon as from Pittsburgh west. The movement is to become a general one, including all parts of the country, if those now behind it in the central territory can make it such. Failure to observe these rules exactly as laid down will result in the refusal of the shipment by the railroad companies.

5,000 CARS AT CONWAYS.

Ft. Wayne Yards Enlarged and Still Congestion Blocks Traffic.

By means of the extension of the old tracks and the addition of several new ones within the last few months, at the great Conway yards on the Ft. Wayne, the capacity of these yards has been increased to about 5,000 cars. With this increase, however, the yards still remain too small for the present rush of traffic. Day after day there are times when only one through track for freight can be had in the yards, and it is necessary to operate both east and west-bound freight on this one track.

The freight congestion remains still as bad as ever. There seems to be no prospect of the business letting up. The west is asking for all the grain cars that can be sent, and a car shortage as well as a shortage of motive power and yard facilities is in sight in the near future.

Blast of Whistle Stops Trains.

Those who have come through the Union station yards on a foggy morning, when their train was brought to a sudden standstill, as well as all other trains in sight, may have noticed a blast from a whistle immediately before this stoppage. At each of the four signal towers in these yards there is a whistle of sufficient loudness to be heard in all parts of the yards controlled from that particular tower. The whistle is blown whenever a train or engine has run beyond its signal or other danger threatens, or when the train director has made a mistake and wishes to rectify it at once. Many an accident has been prevented by this method of stopping all train movements almost instantly. The Union station yards are the only ones in this vicinity equipped with this safety precaution.

New Panhandle Officials Named.

Several new appointments on the Panhandle were announced yesterday. Two new positions have been created in Ohio, due to the increase of freight from the construction of the Wabash line. Agencies have been established at Goulds, O., with R. L. Maxwell in charge, and at Folks, on the Cadiz branch, with A. B. Snyder as agent. A. T. Engel has been appointed assistant yardmaster at Steubenville, O., a new position, and H. E. Griffin has been made assistant yardmaster at Dennison, O., to succeed E. C. Haskins. E. E. Lehew has been made acting agent at the Chestnut street station of the Panhandle in Washington, Pa. He takes the place of F. H. Fogle, who has been granted a six months' leave of absence.

Wireless Telegraphy for Train Safet

General Passenger Agent George T. of the Grand Trunk has just issued a pamphlet descriptive of the test of wireless telegraphy, as a safety device for train running, which was made when the train of the general passenger agents, en route to Portland, Ore., was run over that line. These experiments are to be continued by the Grand Trunk. With St. Dominique, a station on the Grand Trunk, as the transmitting station, the train was kept in constant and complete touch for 10 miles in each direction. Officials of the road say this demonstrates the possibility of keeping a train in connection with the telegraph stations both ahead and behind, and preventing accidents by that means.

Inspecting Western Maryland.

A complete inspection of those points on the Western Maryland railroad where improvements are needed to convert the road into the eastern end of a great trunk line, was started yesterday by President Winslow S. Pierce and Vice President P. S. Landstreet. The greatest interest centers in the tunnel through the Blue Ridge. By making this a mile long it will be possible to secure a low grade crossing. The tunnel will run from Deerfield to Edgemont. The road to tidewater will probably be by the Gwynn's Falls route, branching off the main line about 10 miles out of Baltimore. Work on these plans is to begin very soon.

Signal Engineers See Local Sights.

The visiting railroad signal engineers, who ended their annual convention at the Schenley Wednesday night, spent a busy day yesterday visiting local points of interest. In the forenoon they saw the Union station yards and the plant of the Union Switch and Signal Company at Swissvale and lunched at the Union station as guests of the company. The afternoon was spent on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, looking over the signal system near the station, and visiting the new building with its many modern engineering features of interest.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The complete four-track system of the Panhandle from Birmingham station to the eastern end of the Sheraden yards has now been put into use.

W. P. Paton, general eastern agent of the National Railroad Company of Mexico, was in the city yesterday in conference with H. J. Falkenbach, the company's representative in Pittsburgh.

H. D. Kilgore, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, with headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., is in the city in conference with the general officials of the passenger department. Until three years ago Mr. Kilgore's headquarters were in Cleveland.

A special train will leave the Union station at 2 p. m. Sunday and stop at all stations en route to Pitcairn for the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Railroad Young Men's Christian association. The main feature of the program is the address of President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash.

Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash, announces that on Thursday next the Wabash will initiate a personally conducted tourist car service between St. Louis and Portland, Ore. The route will be over the Wabash, Rock Island and Union Pacific systems. The train will leave St. Louis at 9 a. m. Thursdays of each week and reach Portland Sunday afternoon.

CASE OPENS TODAY.

President Mitchell Will First Present Miners' Side of Controversy to Arbitration Commission.

SCRANTON, Nov. 13.—All the members of the anthracite strike commission are now here and in readiness to begin the hearing of the differences existing between the miners and their employers. The sessions will begin tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Lackawanna county court house.

Most of the representatives of the contending parties are also on the ground. President Mitchell, representing the miners, will probably open the proceedings with a formal statement in which he will present the case of the miners to the commission.

Following this formal presentation of the miners' side of the issue, it is expected Mr. Mitchell will call witnesses who will be examined by his attorneys, by those representing the coal companies and also by the commissioners. Most of the witnesses will be practical miners.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

After a year's search $800 worth of jewelry stolen from James M. Laird, of the Greensburg Argus, has been recovered and is now in the hands of Chief of Police Grogan of McKees Rocks. Grogan has been working on the case ever since the robbery was committed. The goods were found in a pawn shop in McKees Rocks yesterday.

AN EASY WAY.

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all important thing is to keep the stomach right and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject; he says: "I am 68 years old and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

"My physician first advised me to use them because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks, I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past 50 years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best-known and most widely used, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well regulated household from Maine to California and in Great Britain and Australia, are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a 50-cent package will often do $50 worth of good.

SOCIETY

A LARGE party of Pittsburgh people will be in Princeton tomorrow for the Yale-Princeton football game. The fact that three men from Pittsburgh are on the Yale team, and one on the Princeton, has aroused Pittsburgh's pride, and the city will be well represented when the game is called.

Mrs. Joseph Wood and Mrs. James McCrea will chaperone a party of young people who will leave this evening in a private car. In the party will be Miss Margaretta Wood and her house guest, Miss Waterman of Clarkford, Conn.; Miss Ada McCrea and her two guests, Miss Tappey and Miss Longyear of Detroit; Miss Laura McGinley, and Miss Crozier of Philadelphia, who is visiting her Cooper Wood, William Wood, Jarvis Geer, Richard Hoffman, Hayden Collins and Alexander McCrea. They will return home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moorhead, Jr., whose son, Turner Moorhead, is on the Yale team, went east several days ago and will remain in New York over the two Yale games, the one on Saturday with Princeton and the latter game, Saturday, November 22, with Harvard. Mrs. William J. Holland goes east tomorrow night and will chaperone Miss Laura Smith to Princeton. Miss Martha Dalzell was also to have gone, but will not be able to because of illness.

Another Pittsburgh man on the Yale team is Harvey C. McClintock, a Shadyside academy boy, who later went to Phillips, Andover, before entering Yale. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McClintock of Amberson avenue, Shadyside. Charles Rafferty, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert T. Rafferty, who are now living at the Waldorf-Astoria, is the third Pittsburgh man on the Yale team. Like his brothers, he is over six feet tall. He plays left end. Harvey McClintock is fullback.

Most of the Pittsburgh guests at the wedding of Miss Wilcox and David Aiken Reed in New York on Wednesday will remain east for the game tomorrow. The Darlingtons are staying at the Holland house, and Miss Darlington, Miss Laughlin and a small party of friends will go up to Princeton.

The following Saturday will come the Yale football game with Harvard. Mrs. James M. Guffey will chaperone her daughter, Miss Mary Guffey, and her friend, Miss Paul of La Crosse, Wis., east for that game. Several other Pittsburgh people will also go.

Excavations at Nippur.

The Rev. A. T. Clay, Ph. D., of the University of Pennsylvania, delivered a most interesting lecture last evening in the Carnegie institute lecture hall, before the Academy of Science and Art. His subject was the recent exchvations at Nippur, with special reference to the work accomplished by Prof. Hilprecht, in which he is interested. The lecture was richly illustrated by stereopticon views showing the appearance of the site of the city, whose beginning was 4,000 years before the time of Abraham, before the archiologists began their work, the ruins as they were brought to light, and the remains of ancient learning found in the temple and temple library.

In these excavations, as described last evening by the Rev. Mr. Clay, many interesting facts were brought to light. The earliest form of the keystone was found in Nippur in the temple of Bel, a period several thousand years before the time of the Etrusians, who were supposed to have originated that feature of architectural support. From the library of the temple, a small portion of which has been excavated, some 20,000 tablets of an educational, astronomical and mathematical interest, making it evident that at least 150,000 will be found when the whole library has been explored. The earliest known museum has been found in this library, consisting of 10 specimens of archeological interest, even at that time they were placed there, thousands of years ago.

In closing his lecture Mr. Clay showed the confirmation of the Bible story as told in Genesis of the early Chaldean tales, their Kings and their battles, all of which are frequently spoken of as myths, by the recent excavations in Nippur.

Mrs. David R. Breed Entertains.

Mrs. David Riddle Breed and her daughter, Miss Breed, gave a large reception yesterday, at their home in Dithridge street, Bellefield, between the hours of 2 and 5. The Breeds have only recently returned from their summer home, at Wequetonsing, Mich., where the family went early in the season. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Breed and her daughter were assisted in receiving by Miss Denny, Mrs. Henry Breed, Mrs. Thomas Marshall, Mrs. William Henry Sliker, Mrs. John G. Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. John Davis, Miss Margaret McClung and Miss Chalfant. The house was exquisitely decorated. In the parlors were graceful tropical plants with white chrysanthemums in the hall the decorations consisted chiefly of palms and ferns and vines, while in the dining room upon the table was a large centerpiece of white roses. Branches appeared over mantels banked with small white and pink flowers and gave a charming effect. Yellow chrysanthemums were also effectively employed. Mrs. Breed wore a handsome gown of black and white silk, her daughter appearing in a dainty blue voile, trimmed with lace. Miss Breed returned from Manila in July, where she had been staying with Lieut. and Mrs. Francis Pierpont Sliker. She was accompanied home by their little daughter, Elizabeth Sliker.

For Two Brides-Elect.

Mrs. Robert Walker Guthrie and her daughter, Miss Guthrie, received yesterday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 6, at their home in Shady avenue, the guests of honor being Miss Mary Crossan Hays and Miss Marion McLean Sellers, whose engagements were recently announced. It was a very delightful affair, the guests including both the older friends of Mrs. Guthrie and the younger girls and matrons, friends of Miss Guthrie and the guests of honor. Mrs. William H. Hays and Mrs. Frank J. LeMoyne were also in the receiving group, while assisting were Mrs. Charles Gibbs Carter, Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Julia McBride, Miss Mary McBride, Miss Mary Baggeley, Miss Helen Bowman Mason, Miss Winifred Jones, Miss Rebecca Jones and Miss Margaret Reed. The house was prettily decorated with foliage plants and flowers, fragrant red roses appearing in the drawing room where the hostesses stood, with yellow chrysanthemumme in the hall and in the dining room, Miss Mary Crossan Hay and Francis Sellers Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker Guthrie, will be married December 16. No date has been set for the wedding of Miss Marion McLean Sellers and Robert Pitcairn, Jr.

Tea and Housewarming.

A new house and a delightful social atmosphere were among the features which made Mrs. Thomas G. McCutcheon's tea yesterday afternoon, so enjoyable. It was a housewarming for the new home in Castleman street, Shadyside, into which Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon recently moved. Yesterday's entertainment was the first large and formal affair given there. Mrs. McCutcheon received alone. Her assistants included Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, Jr., Mrs. James Holland Hammond, Mrs. William Kuhn, Mrs. George L. McCoy, Mrs. William Wolfe, Mrs. John P. Knable, Mrs. Charles Lipscomb, Mrs. Charles J. Harrison, Mrs. James C. Bergstresser, Miss Nellie Harrison of Somerset, Pa., and Miss Nellie Holmes, Miss Blaine of Washington, D. C., was to have been present, but was unable to arrive in Pittsburgh until today. The floral decorations were unusually beautiful.

Braddock Man Married.

James Rose, son of Councilman Russell Rose of Braddock, was married yesterday to Ida Belle Shaler, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Shaler, at New Washington, Clearfield county. The guests included only relatives and close friends. The couple left last evening on an extended eastern trip. They will live in Connie avenue, Braddock.

Kindergarten Anniversary.

The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association will hold a reception on Saturday afternoon, November 29, from 3 o'clock until 5, in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the organization of the society. The reception will be a general one and managers who wish to invite their friends are requested to send in the names of their guests to Mrs. Elizabeth B. O'Neill at the Kindergarten college, that invitations may be sent them. The reception will be informal; one address will be delivered, but the greater portion of the afternoon will be devoted to social features. The association has established over 50 free kindergartens since it was organized. It disposes of over $50,000 annually and the children in the kindergarten schools number more than 2,700.

A Pretty Sewickley Luncheon.

Miss Louise Baker gave a very pretty luncheon at her home in Graham street, Sewickley, yesterday, in honor of Miss Hortense Elaine Watts, whose wedding to Robert Dickson will be on event this month and Miss Elizabeth Snow of Greenfield, Mass., who will be an attendant at the wedding. It was a 1 o'clock affair and the appointments were all in red, carnations being used on the table and souvenirs in the form of dainty hearts filled with candy were at each plate. The guests were Miss Watts, Miss Snow, Miss Lotta Lyons, Miss Margaret Fallbush, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Clyde Nichols, Mrs. Frederick Way, Miss Eva Nible, Mrs. Eugene Murray and Mrs. Samuel Wilson.

Entertained at Cards.

Mrs. Alfred V. Watterson gave two card parties yesterday, at her home in Lincoln avenue, East End. They were in honor of Miss Magruder, who is visiting Mrs. Watterson and her daughter. Both were charmingly appointed, pretty decorations and handsome prizes, together with the presence of visitors from another city, combining to make the occasion very enjoyable.

Miss Lydia McGary of Western avenue, Allegheny, entertained yesterday afternoon at cards, the affair being the first of a series Miss McGary intends giving.

Announcement Cards Are Out.

Mrs. H. H. Hopkins of Wilkinsburg has issued cards announcing the marriage of daughter, Miss Alice Hopkins and Charles Bomer Cramer, Jr., of the East End, on Wednesday, November 12. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. B. F. Woodburn. Mr. and Mrs. Cramer are now enjoying their wedding trip. At home cards for days after December 1, at No. 5146 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, were enclosed with the announcements.

In Honor of Three Guests.

The reception given by Mrs. Thomas M. Donehoo of No. 568 Oakwood street, Brushton, yesterday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. James Francis Bunting, Mrs. Hollis Wells Jencks and Mrs. Jacob Weisman, Jr., formerly Miss Cora Goehring of Wilkinsburg, was a delightful affair. Nearly 100 guests were present.

Notes of Society.

The Strollers club gave a theater party last evening at the Alvin, followed by a supper at the Hotel Henry.

The first of a series of four subscription dances under the direction of Miss Maxwell and Miss Taylor, was given last evening in the South Highland auditorium.

A stereopticon lecture and recital, entitled "Ben-Hur," will be delivered this evening by the Rev. Howard S. Wilson, in the Wylie Avenue United Presbyterian church.

The second of the whist tournaments under the direction of the Whist league, the president, Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, directing, opened yesterday at the Twentieth Century club and will continue today and tomorrow, the "whisters" from the different clubs in the league playing for the pins which are awarded semi-annually.

Vegetable Pie.

Cut young carrots, turnips, onions and sweet potatoes in slices and put into a saucepan with a little butter or good beef drippings and stir and cook until brown; then add peas, shredded lettuce and parsley, and add enough veal or vegetable stock to make a good gravy when stewed down until the vegetables are tender. Season with salt and pepper. Have a dish lined with a good paste, with top crust, which should be supported by placing a cup turned upside down inside the pie. Bake thoroughly, then remove the top crust, put in the stewed vegetables, replace cover and set in the oven long enough to get very hot; then serve.

Giblet Pie.

This is a very good pie, and in some markets you can obtain the giblets of fowl in quantity. Stew these in a small quantity of water, with a little onion, black peppers and a bunch of sweet herbs, until they are nearly done. Then let them get cold. If you do not have enough to make a deep pie, lay strips of beefsteak, veal or mutton in the bottom of the dish with the giblets on top. Have the sides of the dish lined with paste and the top covered. When pie is baked pour into a cup of hot cream sauce.

Pigeon Pie.

This is an old Cornish dish. Prepare two young pigeons, wash and wipe them dry and rub inside and out with salt and pepper and put inside the livers chopped fine with a little ham and parsley. Line a deep baking dish around the sides with a paste made of a pint of sifted flour, quarter of a pound of beef suet chopped fine, half a teaspoonful of salt, and nearly a cupful of cold water. Leave enough of the paste, after lining the dish, to cover the top. Put the pigeons in the bottom of the dish, cover with alternate layers of sliced, tart apples, onions, bits of lean, cooked mutton or lamb, occasionally dredging with a little flour and laying in a few bits of butter. Fill the dish in the manner; then pour into it the water in which the mutton (one and one-half pounds) has been stewed. Cut crosswise strips in top crust and lay it over the pie, pressing the edges of top and side crust together and bake an hour in moderately hot oven, being careful that the crust does not burn.

English Chicken Pie.

Take one large fowl, skin it and cut up into joints; put neck, legs and backbones into stewpan; add a pint of water and onion onion with a saltspoon of salt, cover and simmer for about an hour, then strain off the liquor to use for the gravy. Have ready three slices of bacon and three hard-boiled eggs. Put a layer of the fowl at the bottom of bacon then a layer of hard-boiled eggs, cut in rings, a dust of salt and pepper. Proceed in this way until the dish is full or all materials are used. Use in all, for seasoning, a teaspoonful of salt and saltspoonful of pepper and flour in about half a pint of water; border the edge of dish with ordinary pie crust, cover dish with same, ornament the top with diamonds, rings, etc., of the paste, and bake in a moderate oven. Boil in moderately hot oven from one and one-quarter to one and one-half hours, and when done pour into the top the gravy made from the neck, legs and backbones. Serve hot or cold.

Codfish Pie.

Line a deep baking dish with a rich biscuit crust made as follows: Measure four cups of sifted flour into a bowl, and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a teaspoonful of salt; sift all together to mix thoroughly, then rub in half a cupful of lard, mix to a soft dough with milk. Roll out the upper crust and spread twice with butter and fold and roll out. Cover a pint of picked codfish with boiling water and let stand ten minutes, then drain. Put a layer of the fish in a baking dish, sprinkle with bread crumbs, pepper, and if you find the fish too fresh add a little salt, dot with bits of butter, cover with a layer of cream sauce. Cream sauce is made with three or four eggs, keeping the yolks whole. Then begin with another layer of the fish and continue as before, having the eggs on top. Put on top crust, first cutting a few incisions in the top to let out the steam. Bake until the crust is a nice, delicate brown.

Veal Kidney Pie.

Take three nice veal kidneys, wash, trim and soak them in cold salted water, then in fresh water. Chop them very fine with the fat and mix with the chopped yolks of four boiled eggs, a few finely chopped stalks of celery and herbs, and add dash of nutmeg, ground mace, cloves, white pepper and salt to taste. Line a deep dish with puff paste. Mix the kidneys and all the seasoning thoroughly together and put into the dish. If you use wine in cooking moisten with three or four tablespoonfuls of sherry, otherwise a little good broth can be used. Sprinkle chopped parsley over the top, cover with top crust, trim the edges evenly together. Make two cross cuts in center of top crust and slightly lift the points to give ventilation while pie is baking. Bake on moderately hot oven for at least half an hour and serve hot.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

A subscriber writes: Will you kindly send me a recipe to make rice curry?

Rice Curry.

Wash a pound of best Carolina rice in three waters; parboil it in two quarts of water, drain in colander. Mix a dessertspoonful of curry paste with a little brown gravy, put in a saucepan one and one-half cupfuls of brown gravy, add the mixed curry paste to this, with an onion which has been browned in a little butter. Let it boil up well, then add the rice and cook 15 minutes, covered closely. It will be done. Heap the rice upon a hot dish, pour the gravy over it, first squeezing in the juice of half a lemon. Serve very hot.

Apple Cheese, With Cream.

M. J. J. wishes to know how to make apple cheese.

An equal weight of tart, not too ripe apple and sugar, one pint of new milk or cream; yolk of two eggs; peel and juice of one lemon, a little cinnamon stick and a teaspoonful of orange flower water. Boil the sugar in a little water until clear; skimming carefully; then put in the weight of sugar in apples, pared, cored and cut in quarters, adding the juice of the lemon and the peel cut very fine. Set the saucepan over the fire and cook until the apples are boiled to a thick jam, then turn into a mold (not metal) and set in a cold place to harden. When turned out pour around it the following sauce: Add to the yolks of two well beaten eggs a pint of new milk or cream, a stick of cinnamon, and the thin peel of a lemon. Cook in a double boiler a few minutes, stirring constantly, then when thick, turn out to cool.

FOOD OF THE CANARY ISLANDERS.

The Canary Islanders are among the most healthy people in the world. They live on gofio, which consists of wheat and corn parched or dextrinized in an iron kettle over a fire, then ground and eaten mixed with water. Attention was first called to this food by an eminent physician visiting the Canary Islands, who was cured of chronic dyspepsia by eating gofio. A prominent Chicago physician lived on gofio for many years, which he obtained from the Battle Creek Sanitarium, where it was formerly used in the treatment of various digestive disorders. By an important discovery a great improvement was made in the preparation, which is now known as Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey, crisp and delicately sweet, its use cures indigestion and chronic constipation.

Mother and Child

For people who live in the country and get fresh milk from healthy cows there is little or no danger; but few of us are so fortunate. We get milk from we know not where or through what channels. Particularly in families having young children should the milk be sterilized, and this may be simply done by placing the jars of milk in a wire basket in a pot with some water in the bottom, which on boiling produces steam, the heat of which does the sterilizing. The milk must be heated through.

How to Sterilize Milk.

Another way is to sterilize at a lower temperature for a longer time, by which method less change in the constituents of the milk is effected. Immerse the bottles in water at 190 degrees Fahr. and maintain the temperature for an hour. A chemist's thermometer may be had for a trifle at any pharmacy, but if there is not one at hand heat the milk until a scum forms on top and keep it as nearly as possible at that temperature for an hour. Do not let it boil.

This is a simple, old rule for ginger cookies handed down from a past generation, the kind our country grandmothers delighted to make for hungry children:

Cookies That the Children Will Like.

Mix one cup of butter and two cups of molasses together. Add one cup of milk boiled, with two heaping teaspoonfuls of soda put in while it is boiling. Pour hot over the other ingredients. Stir this mixture into enough flour to make a soft dough. Add a tablespoonful of ginger to the flour before sifting it. Roll out and cut into round cakes. Bake in a quick oven. These cakes or cookies are not the same as ginger snaps—thin and crisp—but are soft and rather thick, such as all cookies are.

That the theatrical claque is not confined to playhouses was demonstrated beyond all shadow of doubt to the teacher who was drilling the pupils for the exercises in one of the public schools. The unresponsive bit of femininity over whom the amateur "coach" worked rejoiced in the name of Sarah.

Sarah Was Sure of Applause.

When Sarah began to talk all her vocal organs took joyful holiday and retired in favor of her nose. Her nasal drawl was worthy any veteran Vermonter. In vain the teacher begged and implored. Sarah still clung to her monotone. Then the teacher did an unworthy thing. She threatened.

"Sarah," she said, "if you don't try to do better, you will fail utterly, and then how will you feel?"

"Oh, they'll appaud me, Miss Brown," returned Sarah, easily. "My mother is goin' to give my little brother Andy 10 cents, and if he don't begin clappin' the minute I sit down he's goin' to be strapped within an inch of his life."

The nervous baby must be carefully dieted. Find out which food suits her, and then stick to it. Give her lots of fresh air, and use plenty of water, and keep her very quiet. Never let her be dazzled by a bright light, or startled by banging doors, clattering fireirons, etc. Don't let visitors excite her, or try to make her show off any little new accomplishments. See that she gets regular hours of sleep, that her bed clothes are warm and light, and accustom her always to the sound of gentle voices; even a baby should never hear a voice raised in anger.

The Nervous Baby.

If you are nursing a nervous mite of your own, remember that you must exercise marvelous control over yourself, and never get suddenly excited, depressed or irritable, and, above all, avoid fretting; it is bad for you and worse for baby. It's not easy, but any woman with any strength of mind can cultivate a quiet spirit, which will benefit her as well as baby.

Probably most readers, especially those who are mothers, have listened to the child, usually about 6 years old, who comes in with quickened breath and glowing eyes to earnestly announce some impossible wonder he has just seen or heard. Some little folks have a way of retailing the most fabulous stories of the happenings they have witnessed and are listened to with delight by their elders, who understand them and know that they have no thought of deceiving them—indeed, these children may be straightforward and truthful when questioned and pinned down to practical matters. They simply cannot help romancing.

Youthful Imaginations.

Certain it is that a supervivid imagination must be controlled, curbed and trained, else the child will develop into the sort of man or woman we sometimes

Certain tendencies of childhood, such as sucking the thumb, biting the nails and bending the fingers into almost impossible positions, should be promptly checked, as their continuance is detrimental to the symmetrical development of the hands; and that impish trick of school children, cracking the joints, if repeatedly indulged in, makes the joints large and inflexible.

Disagreeable Habits.

* * *

A pretty party frock for a little girl of 5 was of ivory white surah silk, with a band of hand embroidery above the skirt hem. A proud tucked collar of net and lace beadings strung with black bebe velvet finished the cut-out neck of this wee confection, which should be worn with a black velvet sash and hair bow.

Frocks for Little Folks.

Black is evident in children's clothes see, boastful, vainglorious, envious or jealous, mischief-making and probably a laughing stock to associates, simply through that propensity to see common things with distorted mental vision. In a child the tendency to exaggerate is amusing and entertaining; in an adult it may be entertaining, but it is pretty sure to cause the person who indulges in it to lack the respect of others.

No matter how much we may secretly chuckle over a child's stories, it is our imperative duty to the child to sift these tales, get at the exact truth and require him to confess it in a few simple words. He can soon be taught in childhood that these tales are wrong and will get him into trouble; but if the habit is encouraged and neglected even for a few years, it will be confirmed and will surely make him despicable in one way or another.

TREATY SNAGS ON BOTH SIDES

Neither Cuba Nor the United States Senate Over-Anxious for One.

ENVOY BLISS' MISSION

He Will Be in Havana Early Next Week to Jog the Island Government—People May Pin False Hope on Foreign Powers

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Gen. Tasker H. Bliss will sail for Cuba Saturday if he can secure steamship accommodations. If not, he will go by way of Tampa and reach Havana early next week.

It is the intention of those interested in the commercial treaty with Cuba to have it ready, if possible, in three weeks, and Gen. Bliss will try to adjust the differences by that time. It is considered important to have the treaty sent to the senate before the holiday recess.

It will require a two-thirds vote to ratify the treaty.

Those best informed regarding conditions in the island do not expect speedy action. They believe many Cubans are much opposed to granting the concessions the United States will demand. There is also talk that they may test the effectiveness of the Platt amendment by entering into negotiations with other countries regarding trade relations. The position which our government holds in Cuba and our relations with the leading foreign nations is such that it is believed none of the governments would care to make any treaty with Cuba which was not sanctioned by the United States.

It is the desire of this government to leave the negotiations should they fail, in such shape that it will not appear that an attempt has been made to extort from Cuba more than the United States was willing to give.

It is said by an official dealing with the subject of Cuba that a commercial treaty will be necessary to establish Cuba on such a basis that she can float the proposed loan. With all negotiations hung up and strained relations existing between the old and new republics, it is believed there would be difficulty in selling the bonds of Cuba. At the same time this government does not wish to appear in the attitude of holding this particular club over the Cuban government.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Change of Penn Avenue Station Site. Ridiculous Name Dropped

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The site of station No. 5, Pittsburgh postoffice, has been ordered removed from 2460 Penn avenue to 2800 Penn avenue.

The name of the postoffice Tub, in Somerset county, Pa., has been changed to Springs.

The following postmasters were appointed today: Pennsylvania—Federal, Allegheny county, Norman W. Cheeks; Morrvail, Bradford county, Martha P. Kennedy. West Virginia—Whites Creek, Wayne county, George B. Dickson.

Harrison's Portrait on Stamp.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The postoffice department has been notified that the new issue of 2-cent stamps, bearing the portrait of the late President Harrison, will be ready for supply to postmasters next Saturday.

FOR SOUTH SIDE PARK.

Improvements Depend Largely on Disposition of the Property Owners.

Upon the public spiritedness of South Side property owners depends the project of a park and library in connection with the improving of the approach to the Twenty-second street bridge. The $250,000 of the recent bond issue is sufficient for the widening of the approach, for which it was assigned, but will not purchase the property necessary for the other improvements, unless the steep prices demanded several years ago are scaled down. The department of public works refuses to act at the prices asked.

The property which those interested in the park and library wish the city to purchase is 574x192 feet. A committee of South Side citizens, working on the matter, is headed by Dr. Z. T. Miller, but a meeting will not be held to consider improvements until the decision of the public works department as to how much property is to be purchased is received.

There is good reason to believe that the whole plot can be purchased and the desired improvements made, as several of the property owners have reduced their demands.

DALZELL WILL PRESIDE.

Popular Congressman to Be Toastmaster at Chamber of Commerce's Annual Dinner.

The banquet committee of the chamber of commerce has about concluded arrangements for the annual dinner on November 25. The Hotel Schenley promises a menu of good things to eat and drink, these with the decorations and all else that may enter into a banquet, will be on a scale probably the best ever provided in this city.

The Hon John Dalzell will act as toastmaster. The Hon. D. M. Parry, president of the National Manufacturers' association and L. F. Loree, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, besides other well-known men, will make addresses.

Magistrate Sued for $5,000.

Suit was entered yesterday by Robert G. Brooks against Magistrate J. H. Armstrong for $5,000 damages. Brooks says that on June 22 he was arrested and taken before the defendant charged with "impersonating an officer." Although there was no evidence against him, he was fined $10 and costs and $1. Brooks is a private watchman for residents in the Squirrel Hill district.

Biggest Crowds in History.

"The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" will begin the second and last week of its engagement at the Alvin next Monday night. There is no possibility of extending the run of the piece here, as Annie Russell has been booked for Thanksgiving week, in her new play, "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" is playing to the biggest crowds in the history of the Alvin.

Rights Granted to West Penn.

At a special meeting of Allegheny select council yesterday afternoon, the ordinance granting to the West Penn Railway Company the right to elevate the grade of Bridge street, across Herrs Island, and to construct sidings from the West Penn tracks to the island, was passed without opposition.

MORMON SENATOR IS NOT UNLIKELY

If Smoot Is Elected in Utah, He Probably Will Retain His Seat.

ROBERTS CASE DIFFERS

Charge of Practice of Polygamy Hung Over Him, But That Is Not in the New Apostle's Way. Alleged Deal Concerning Idaho.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
803 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.

Although Apostle Reed Smoot of the Mormon church may be elected a senator from Utah, his reception will be somewhat different from that accorded Mormon Roberts, who was expelled from the house. This will be because their records are different. Mr. Roberts was under indictment for polygamy and Mr. Smoot is not, nor is it charged that he is a polygamist.

Only one question can play any part in the consideration of the seating of Apostle Smoot, should he present credentials to the senate. That is whether he has been duly elected. The matter of his religious connections, or the nature of the Mormon church, will not enter into the question. The fact that he is not under any indictment charged with polygamy will fix his status before the committee in that respect.

The Mormon church has proclaimed that the doctrine of polygamy is in abeyance for the present and that polygamy is not practiced or demanded of its adherents.

It is expected that should Apostle Smoot come to the senate he will be met with a flood of hostile petitions, and, doubtless, there will be some opposition to seating him; but this opposition will be based on charges that cannot affect his case before the committee, nor later affect it before the senate. The charge probably will be of the same nature as the charges made against the seating of Roberts, except the charge of having a plurality of wives will not be made with the same force as that with which it was alleged against Roberts.

There is much talk in the press of the west about a deal having been fixed up among Republicans for the seating of Smoot in exchange for Mormon influence in Idaho for the election of a Republican senator from that state. Senator Heitfeld will be succeeded by a Republican. The Mormons are more influential in the elections of Idaho than in any other state outside of Utah, and this fall they generally voted the Republican ticket. They will be largely represented in the legislature. Smoot, doubtless, will be seated if elected, and those who have sanctioned this story about the deal will then be able to claim the correctness of their predictions.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

BENEFIT FOR SINGERS.

Testimonial Concert at Duquesne Garden Tomorrow Night for A. H. Busby and Herbert A. Davis.

There will be a testimonial concert for A. H. Busby and Herbert A. Davis, singers of Pittsburgh, tomorrow night at the Duquesne garden amphitheater. They are pupils of Mrs. A. Parker of the Duquesne Garden school of opera, and will soon leave for Milan to complete their musical studies. Mr. Busby will sing the part of Count de Luna in four scenes from "Il Trovatore," which will be presented, properly costumed and staged as the second part of the program.

The entire program, which consists of selections from grand operas, will be given in costume. It is as follows:

PART I.

Prologue—"Pagliacci" ..... Leoncavallo
Herbert A. Davis.
Ambra Leggiero—"Dinorah" ..... Meyerbeer
Miss Lena Baechkoff.
Ah! quel giorno, cavatina—"Semiramide" ..... Rossini
Miss Annetta E. Frazier.
Harold Reihill.
Aria—"Der Freischutz" ..... Von Weber
Mrs. Helen L. Gilmore.
Duett scene—"Il Trovatore" ..... Verdi
Miss Baechkoff and Mr. Davis.
Ah! non cre dea mirarti—"La Sonnambula" ..... Bellini
Miss Mae Stillwagen.
"A Few Moments with the Audience," C. A. Parker.

PART II.

Scenes from "Il Trovatore," in costume.
Leonora ..... Miss Lena Baechkoff
Inez ..... Miss Dola McClean
Manrico ..... Harold Reihill
Count De Luna ..... A. H. Busby
Ferrando ..... E. C. Clark
Ruiz ..... O. H. George
Concluding with the Sextet—"Lucia di Lammermoor" ..... Donizetti
Helen L. Gilmore, Annetta E. Frazier,
Messrs. Busby, Davis, Reihill,
George and chorus.

"UNCLE TOM" APPOINTED.

Former Slave Obtains Position as Messenger in Controller Larkin's Office.

Controller Larkin has appointed Thomas J. Gatewood, an aged and widely-known colored man, to the position of messenger in his office. "Uncle Tom" is a type of the old school. He is 63 years of age and was formerly a slave in Virginia.

His master was at one time a United States senator from the Old Dominion, and during all his life "Uncle Tom" has associated with persons of quality. He escaped from slavery during the latter part of the Civil war, following Sheridan's army down the Shenandoah. He settled soon afterward in Pittsburgh and has since made this city his home.

For many years he was employed as nurse in prominent families, acting in this capacity for the late Christopher Zug, the iron manufacturer. He is a resident of the Thirteenth ward and has been an active worker among the colored population for the Citizens party.

Will Do Its Own Butchering.

The Banksville Co-Operative association, formed by the men of that mining community, has arranged to invest $1,000 to start a butcher department. Later the company will do its own slaughtering. The move has no bearing in the Pittsburgh butchers' strike, except possibly to furnish employment to some of the idle men. The Banksville concern is famous for its success, after once meeting failure, and it now pays 12 per cent dividends quarterly.

Temperance Committee Officers.

The permanent committee on temperance of the Presbyterian general assembly has elected the following officers for 1903: William C. Lilly, president and treasurer; Charles L. Rose, vice president; the Rev. John F. Hill, corresponding secretary; the Rev. Charles S. McClelland, recording secretary. Vacancies on the committee were filled by the appointment of the Rev. A. R. VanFossen, the Rev. Edwin F. Warrell and Maj. R. M. Ewing.

Hanna's Health All Right.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—The attention of Senator Hanna was today called to published reports that his friends have become alarmed over his health. "The story is simply ridiculous," he said.

CAMPBELL'S. Black Silk Waists

are worthy an advertisement entirely to themselves, as we are selling more black than colored waists, and we have a charming variety from which to select. While plain de sole seems to have the preference, yet we are selling many fine taffetas and Indias; beautifully corded waists with hemstitch effect. At $3.50 and at $5.00 we are showing the best line and greatest values we have ever seen. Still finer waists at $6.75, $7.50 and $8.50—all sizes from 32 to 44.

THERE ARE STILL GREAT OPPORTUNITIES IN WEST PARK

FOR THE PEOPLE WHO ACT NOW!

No more transfers! Take McKees Rocks cars marked "West Park" on 5th ave. at Market st. corner.

How can anybody considering the way in which West Park is building up, let the lots in addition No. 2 go off the market without pushing in with the crowds trying for the best location?

You may have to inconvenience yourself, or cancel an engagement in order to get here early enough to pick the spots you prefer, but isn't the opportunity worth the effort?

Multitudes of intelligent people who know how to select real estate visited our other sales, bought sites, and now own and occupy homes in West Park that would be a credit to any community. The miles of street improvements that we promised when these people bought have been made just as we said they would be!

The splendid traction road, with cars running to and from the city without transfer, on a schedule of 24 minutes, has been finished and extended through the property on a belt line just as we agreed to have it.

Modern 60-foot wide Broadway has been graded, sewered, paved, curbed and provided with electric lights, etc., as far as one can see in fulfillment of another promise to our customers.

Other streets have been graded and sewered even beyond our promises, and there is city water, both gases, fire department service, police protection, and every city convenience.

All this has been accomplished on a property that has not been on the market more than two years.

Yet we do not ask you to consider West Park wholly from its street improvements, traction service and unparalleled building activity, which has given it hundreds of beautiful residences and many handsome business structures in an incredibly short time.

We want you to compare West Park with other real estate in Greater Pittsburgh, and see whether you can find any that will make as much money for you.

Industrial expansion, growth of manufacturing wealth, is what builds up real estate and makes it increase in value.

Go to McKees Rocks, where West Park is located, and you'll see more of this industrial expansion than there is anywhere else in the entire state, and still West Park is not where the dirt from there runs to and settles. It is the only level clean spot, nature having protected it most marvelously, considering its close proximity to these great smoky centers.

Only a short walk or ride from it are the Pressed Steel Car Works, P. & L. E. Round Houses, the new P. & L. E. Car Shops, Fort Pitt Malleable Iron Works, McKay Chain Works, American Bridge Works, Crucible Steel Works, Lockhart Steel Mills and Kidd Frost & Berger's Wire Works. On most of these colossal industries fortunes have been expended in the erection of immense new plants. The new plants have necessitated the employment of thousands more workmen.

"The coming in" of these thousands more workmen has sent the prices of McKees Rocks real estate higher than any mortal man believed possible. This has naturally created a tremendous demand for homes in West Park, where there is a clean place to live and there are finer and more improvements.

There is one point especially, that railroad men, as well as other investors, have to put down and be gained by, West Park is within the P. & L. E. Calling limits, situated close to where 5,000 railroaders report for duty. This present army of 5,000 will be increased to 5,750 when the P. & L. E. and Panhandle projects under way are developed.

Add to these 5,000 workmen the vast armies employed in the great iron and steel mills of McKees Rocks, and you will have enough people to organize a population equal to that contributing the third largest city in the state.

When you get deeply into these facts visit the property, and take in this enormous industrial expansion with your own eyes. You won't need to have anybody tell you where the best property to plant your dollars in now is.

Another point to consider is that you can buy $50 to $800 lots in West Park Addition No. 2 by paying any reasonable amount down and balance at the rate of $5 per month.

10 per cent will be allowed for cash if paid within 60 days.

No interest or taxes are charged, interest not even being charged on back payments in the event of purchasers falling behind by reason of sickness. The names of our stockholders are sufficient guarantee that you will receive upright and honest treatment at all times.

Title of the property is guaranteed by the Fidelity Title & Trust Co., of Pittsburgh.

URGENT SELLING SEEMS TO BE OVER

The Wall Street Outlook Favors Dull and Professional Markets Until Money Becomes Easy. Local Stocks Also Quieter.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

As a rule, the highest prices in the Eastern stock market yesterday occurred during the first half hour's trading, and the lowest during the closing half hour. There was a decidedly better feeling at the opening, which was stimulated by the improvement noted in London, and initial transactions were at sharp advances. St. Paul was a leader in this movement, touching 179, the shorts being large buyers. There was also heavy investment buying of Pennsylvania, one commission house being credited with purchases of 10,000 shares. Other standard dividend-paying railway shares which have suffered in the recent slump were also in fair demand and higher. The buying appeared to be less for the purpose of supporting values and more for the purpose of obtaining cheap investments. The new Rock Island securities appeared on the regular board for the first time, and as they were well supported the impression was created that this pool at least was able to take care of its own. Urgent liquidation appeared to be over, and with the selling pressure removed, dealings fell off. There is, however, a strong bear party in the market, and this interest appears determined to follow up its recent successes. During the afternoon it looked as though there was a hunt for weak spots, particularly among the non-dividend paying shares, which have only held their relatively high level of values because of the pools operating in them. Brooklyn Rapid Transit proved to be a vulnerable stock and it broke to 55¾, the lowest price in two years. This stock has sold as low as $5 a share and as high as $187 within the past seven years, and in all that time has never paid a dividend to its stockholders. Reading was another target for the bears. Its dividend record is as brilliant as that of Brooklyn. Amalgamated Copper made a great show of strength at the opening, selling at 58, but traders are beginning to compare this stock paying 2 per cent on par with other stock paying 4 per cent on par and which are selling 20 points lower in the market, and the comparison is not favorable to Amalgamated. The latter became weak in the late trading and declined to 55¾. The selling during the closing hour was set down to professional operators who had purchased during the panicky conditions prevailing earlier in the week, and were inclined to take profits. The total sales for the day reached only a little more than 700,000 shares.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The outlook for the stock market seems to favor a gradually diminishing volume of trade, with fluctuations based upon speculative conditions rather than upon any decided change in legitimate conditions. If gold exports should assume anything near the size predicted, and rates for call loans again become stringent, there would likely be a resumption of liquidation; but for the present the latter seems to be over. There was one incident in the money market yesterday which was rather puzzling. It was the application of three New York institutions to the treasury department to transfer $2,000,000 to San Francisco. The day before the treasury transferred $1,000,000 gold which had arrived at San Francisco to New York, and the application yesterday was not explained. The sub-treasury continues to withdraw money from circulation, the banks having lost about $4,200,000 since last Friday. These figures foreshadow an unfavorable bank statement tomorrow, and justify the current firm rates for money. The weekly statements of the foreign banks yesterday did not indicate any important change in the situation abroad. The Bank of England reduced its loans by $4,075,000 and increased its reserve by $1,145,000. The Bank of France reported an increase of $5,695,000 in loans, a decrease of $500,000 in cash and a decrease of $9,600,000 in notes in circulation. The statement issued from Washington covering our exports of domestic products for the month of October was not so favorable as expected. The total exports of breadstuffs amounted in value to $21,900,000, which was about $500,000 in excess of the total for the corresponding month last year. Exports of cotton, however, were $42,000,000, compared with $46,689,000 in October last year and $60,473,000 in October, 1900. The total values of our exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions and mineral oil for October was $85,443,055, against $70,043,732 in September and $81,964,000 in the corresponding month last year.

The local stock market was less active yesterday than on any previous day of the week, there being a falling off in the volume of business as well as a decrease in the number of securities dealt in. As a rule the tone of the market was better, and at the close there were more net gains than losses. Local traders, however, still kept one eye upon the New York board, and are considerably influenced by the fluctuations on the latter. The character of the buying here is necessarily better than the selling, because of the fact that the majority of brokers are compelled to refuse new margin accounts, owing to the continued firmness of the money market, and the purchases are generally for cash, or by persons able to carry the same. The bulk of the selling is naturally supposed to be liquidation, because no one would voluntarily sell at prices which are in many instances the lowest of the year. There is very little short interest in the local market, and for that reason any material advance which may occur when money becomes easier must be initiated by purchases by investors.

Crucible Steel was the most active stock yesterday. The common opened firm and higher, advancing to 19¼. Later in the day it declined to 18¾, but just before the close recovered to 18⅞. The preferred stock sold at 84, declined to 83¾ and recovered to 83⅞. The United States Steel stocks were less active, but the tone was firmer and the closing sales showed net advances of ⅛ for the common and 1 per cent for the preferred. The coal stocks were quieter than for several days past, fluctuating within narrow limits and closing fairly steady. Westinghouse Electric second preferred made a strong rally to 99⅞ and closed firm at 99 bid, a net gain of ½. Airbrake was unchanged at 173. There was less pressure against the Fire Proofing stocks, but the common closed ¼ lower at 26¾. Philadelphia Company was firmer; the common rallying to 46⅝. Brewing common declined to 30½, while the preferred recovered to 47. Window Glass was fractionally higher at 50⅜ to 50⅝, but Pittsburgh Plate Glass was lower, selling at 150, closing at that price bid.

American Trust rallied $5 a share to 150, or within a point of the high price quoted on last week's movement. Real Estate Trust was also strong and higher, selling at 292 and rising to 295 at the close, an advance of 7 per cent over the day previous. Fourth National bank sold at 155, a decline of 5 from the last previous public sale. The remainder of this list was steady and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Pittsburgh & Charleroi Railway 5s sold at 104⅜.

London is credited with buying nearly 50,000 shares American stocks yesterday.

The gross earnings of Mexican Central for the first week in November increased $110,353.

The gross earnings of Canadian Pacific for the first week in November increased $65,000.

Standard Oil interests are credited with purchase of 75,000 shares Southern Pacific during the past two days.

The gross earnings of 53 roads for the first week in November show an average net increase of 6.72 per cent.

German-American Savings & Trust closed at 162½@165. A five-share lot of Diamond Savings was offered at 245.

At the opening of the local stock board Guffey Oil stock was offered down to 50 in the effort to establish a market price.

The Adams Express Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of $2 and an extra dividend of $2, both payable December 1.

The annual report of the American Malting Company shows gross profits of $781,410, an increase of $23,469; net surplus, $323,754, a decrease of $59,807.

Manhattan reports for the quarter ended September 30, a surplus after fixed charges and dividend, of $112,690, against a deficit for the same time last year of $139,917.

There were no dealings in Fidelity or Colonial Trust stocks yesterday and no quotations on regular lots. Both companies held their annual meetings, reports of which will be found in another column.

President A. W. Thompson, of the Republic Iron & Steel Company, says the company is sold ahead for the next six months, that prices are as good as they have previously been, and that the situation, both current and future, is highly satisfactory. The directors will meet November 29 to act upon the preferred dividend.

Union Trust was quoted at $1,801 bid, $2,207½ asked. On Saturday the first installment of 5 per cent, amounting to $100,000, on the new stock subscriptions, which were at $2,000 a share, will be payable.

The bear party, which is well organized and confident from its recent successes, sold freely and was able to force general declines at the close of the eastern market. The temper of speculation was on the whole rather heavy.

The new international Axe & Tool Company will have a total authorized issue of stock and bonds of $42,000,000, of which the following are to be issued: Seventeen million dollars 5 per cent bonds, $4,000,000 7 per cent preferred stock and $12,000,000 common stock.

The directors of the National Fire Proofing Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock, payable November 25. The common stock needs a new low point on this movement by selling at 26¾. At this price the return to the buyer is over 9 per cent.

Unusual interest is taken in Saturday's bank statement, for the reason that it will then be able to form a clearer opinion than is possible at present as to whether stocks have really passed into strong hands or are still being carried on margin. Should the loan show heavy decrease the street will be very much encouraged, but a decrease is necessary in order to offset the heavy losses sustained by the banks in their transactions with the sub-treasury.

The contending factions in Colorado Fuel & Iron have a strenuous time of it in maintaining their positions. President Osgood is out in a new circular to stockholders calling a meeting for the 24th inst. to elect Edwin Hawley, E. H. Harriman and George J. Gould to be added them for proxies to be used at the next annual meeting of the company. He points out that these three gentlemen will be very acceptable to the present directory, should they give them absolute control of the company would be unwise and unsafe, as they represent other interests which are at least competitive to the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company. By giving them such control they would antagonize several other railroads like the Atchison, the Burlington and Rock Island. He therefore urges that proxies favorable to the present management be given.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

—London is credited with buying nearly 50,000 shares American stocks yesterday.

—The gross earnings of Mexican Central for the first week in November increased $110,353.

—The gross earnings of Canadian Pacific for the first week in November increased $65,000.

—Standard Oil interests are credited with purchase of 75,000 shares Southern Pacific during the past two days.

—The gross earnings of 53 roads for the first week in November show an average net increase of 6.72 per cent.

—German-American Savings & Trust closed at 162½@165. A five-share lot of Diamond Savings was offered at 245.

—At the opening of the local stock board Guffey Oil stock was offered down to 50 in the effort to establish a market price.

—The Adams Express Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of $2 and an extra dividend of $2, both payable December 1.

—The annual report of the American Malting Company shows gross profits of $781,410, an increase of $23,469; net surplus, $323,754, a decrease of $59,807.

—Manhattan reports for the quarter ended September 30, a surplus after fixed charges and dividend, of $112,690, against a deficit for the same time last year of $139,917.

—There were no dealings in Fidelity or Colonial Trust stocks yesterday and no quotations on regular lots. Both companies held their annual meetings, reports of which will be found in another column.

—President A. W. Thompson, of the Republic Iron & Steel Company, says the company is sold ahead for the next six months, that prices are as good as they have previously been, and that the situation, both current and future, is highly satisfactory. The directors will meet November 29 to act upon the preferred dividend.

—Union Trust was quoted at $1,801 bid, $2,207½ asked. On Saturday the first installment of 5 per cent, amounting to $100,000, on the new stock subscriptions, which were at $2,000 a share, will be payable.

—The bear party, which is well organized and confident from its recent successes, sold freely and was able to force general declines at the close of the eastern market. The temper of speculation was on the whole rather heavy.

—The new international Axe & Tool Company will have a total authorized issue of stock and bonds of $42,000,000, of which the following are to be issued: Seventeen million dollars 5 per cent bonds, $4,000,000 7 per cent preferred stock and $12,000,000 common stock.

—The directors of the National Fire Proofing Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock, payable November 25. The common stock needs a new low point on this movement by selling at 26¾. At this price the return to the buyer is over 9 per cent.

—Unusual interest is taken in Saturday's bank statement, for the reason that it will then be able to form a clearer opinion than is possible at present as to whether stocks have really passed into strong hands or are still being carried on margin. Should the loan show heavy decrease the street will be very much encouraged, but a decrease is necessary in order to offset the heavy losses sustained by the banks in their transactions with the sub-treasury.

—The contending factions in Colorado Fuel & Iron have a strenuous time of it in maintaining their positions. President Osgood is out in a new circular to stockholders calling a meeting for the 24th inst. to elect Edwin Hawley, E. H. Harriman and George J. Gould to be added them for proxies to be used at the next annual meeting of the company. He points out that these three gentlemen will be very acceptable to the present directory, should they give them absolute control of the company would be unwise and unsafe, as they represent other interests which are at least competitive to the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company. By giving them such control they would antagonize several other railroads like the Atchison, the Burlington and Rock Island. He therefore urges that proxies favorable to the present management be given.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—Seven cases of typhoid fever, five of diphtheria and three of scarlet fever were reported yesterday.

—James P. Smith, aged 25, of Harlem avenue, Allegheny, was yesterday sent to the insane department of the Allegheny City poor farm, at the request of his father.

—The hearing in the case of Benjamin Lewistone, charged with violating the Baker ballot law on election day, was postponed until Tuesday morning by Magistrate McKenna.

—W. B. Price of Ben Avon on yesterday asked the police to find his sister-in-law, Cora Bruhter, who has been missing for several days. Price is colored, but the girl, who is 16 years old, is white.

—John W. Barr of De Sota street was held for court by Magistrate Armstrong on a charge of false pretense. Barr is charged by Henry Aitstatt, who lives at Carnegie, with passing a worthless check on him.

—Mrs. Lizzie Price, wife, with whom he had been quarreling, Charles Fenwick of Formosa street, Brushton, yesterday bought rough on rats and threatened suicide. He was arrested and Magistrate Armstrong sent him to the workhouse.

—Harry Smith, aged 28, of No. 1504 Center avenue, died yesterday at the municipal hospital from smallpox. He was colored and married. But one new case of smallpox was reported yesterday. A corps of physicians went to the downtown wards last night to vaccinate the visitors at the cheap lodging houses.

—The regular meeting of the Andrew Carnegie Naturalists' Club will be held in the lecture room of the Carnegie institute tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Frederick S. Webster will deliver a lecture on "Bird Life, as Represented by the Collections of the Carnegie Institute." The classes for birds and insects will meet at 1:30 to start their work for the year.

IN THE SUBURBS.

—Thieves late Wednesday night broke into the paint store of the Watson Glass and Paint Company, Shaw avenue, McKeesport, and carried away brushes and other articles.

—The store of R. J. Barnhart, wholesale liquor dealer of Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, was entered by thieves late Wednesday night. They took 22 quarts of whiskey.

—Richard Fenton, aged 50, of McKeesport, was robbed early yesterday morning by two footpads on the Baltimore & Ohio tracks near his home. The robbers beat Fenton into insensibility.

—It was stated in McKees Rocks last night that Lewis Hall and other citizens would oppose the erection of a viaduct over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad tracks at Turner station and would take the matter to court at once. The railroad company is to build the bridge and the borough is to maintain it. Hall claims that the borough is unable to pay its bills now, and with the added expense the treasury would be completely swamped.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Coffee futures opened steady with prices 5@10 points lower and more or less liquidation, which had as its immediate cause the break in the French market, whose early quotations showed a loss of a full franc. The other foreign markets fluctuated about as expected and therefore exerted little influence in either direction, while the heavier movement to primary points having been discounted in yesterday's trading were also comparatively steady. Shortly after the opening buying by shorts for profits induced a steadier tone and this was encouraged by a reaction in the French market and a light movement reported at Santos. Interior receipts, prices recovering 5 points of the early loss. Later there was another weak period under pressure from bears and the close was steady and quiet at 5@10 points net lower. Sales amounted to 65,500 bags, including December at 4.70@4.75c; January, 4.75@4.80c; February, 4.85c; March, 4.85@5.00c; May, 5.10c; June, 5.20c; July, 5.25c; August, 5.30c; September, 5.25@5.40c.

LENNOX APARTMENTS BOUGHT FOR $105,000

First National Bank Believed to Be Buyer of Wood Street Lots---New Offer for Church Is Reported.

Jacob Kaufmann of Kaufmann Bros. has purchased the Lennox apartment houses in the Twentieth ward, for $105,000. The deal was negotiated by Samuel W. Black & Co. The apartments occupy a lot fronting 125 feet on the east side of Mathilda street, between Penn avenue and Friendship park, and having a depth of 147 feet to an alley. They are three stories high, faced with pressed brick and handsomely finished, provided with all the latest conveniences. Each apartment contains 12 flats of four rooms each. The building is known as Nos. 223-231 Mathilda street and was built by George H. Shickler about two years ago. In part payment for the apartments Mr. Shickler took a property at the east corner of Liberty avenue and Fifteenth street, but in the deal at $57,000. The lot measures 85x162.5 feet and has erected thereon a two-story brick factory building. Mr. Kaufmann takes the apartments for an investment.

The deeds were registered yesterday in the sale of the McCord and Fifth avenue, Wood and Fifth avenue, both deeds having been made out to Samuel W. Black. Title to the McCord properties was secured from the Real Estate Trust Company, and the Fifth avenue land from Dr. F. Junkin, trustee of the estate of John McCord, the consideration being $120,000. The other property was secured from William B. and Charles A. Wolfe for $150,000.

Site for Skyscrapers.

The lots are each 20x80 feet and are improved with three-story brick buildings. It is generally believed that the two purchases were made by Mr. Black in the interest of the First National bank, which is reported to be securing all the property between the present building and Virgin alley as a site for a skyscraper.

Through the agency of Charles F. De Long of McKeesport James L. De Long has sold to T. T. Hibben an improved business property in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, for $13,000. The lot is 25x283 feet and has erected on it a two-story brick building with a front in the rear.

The sale of the T. T. Wallace block in Wilkinsburg, published in yesterday's Gazette, proves to have been incorrect. Mr. Wallace, when seen, said that although a deal was on for the building no sale had yet been consummated and that he had since been offered $95,000 for the property.

It is reported that the trustees of the Second United Presbyterian church of Allegheny have received assurances from the board of trustees of the Allegheny General hospital that a sale of the church property to the latter institution may be effected soon at a price approximating $70,000. The offer is open until November 15, it is said, and in the meantime the trustees will arrive at a decision. The last offer made by the hospital was $65,000. The lot measures 90 feet on Stockton avenue, adjoining the hospital property, and has a frontage of 120 feet in Sandusky street. The hospital already owns 60 feet in the rear of the church.

20 Houses Will Cost $50,000.

F. B. Tomb, who recently purchased the Oak Hill plan of lots in East Pittsburgh for $50,000, is taking bids on 20 houses which he proposes to build this fall and winter. The houses will be brick and frame structures, containing six rooms each and are estimated to cost about $2,500 each.

A permit was granted in Allegheny yesterday for the erection of a three-story brick warehouse in Chateau avenue for W. C. Landes & Co. to cost $18,000. Other permits were granted in Allegheny as follows: To John Moorehead, Jr., for a brick addition to his stable at Ridge and Sandusky streets, cost $1,000. Joseph and Peter Raehn for two two-story frame dwellings in Glendale avenue, to cost $1,000 each, and to J. J. Smith for a two-story frame dwelling in Dalley avenue, to cost $3,000.

In Pittsburgh these permits were issued: H. H. Miller, brick dwelling, 205 Romp street, Twentieth ward, $8,000; Isabella Bellz, brick dwelling, 5241 Second avenue, Twenty-third ward, $3,000; Henry Ambill, frame dwelling, Arlington avenue, Thirty-first ward, $3,000.

A Millvale Purchase.

Millvale: W. L. Scott & Co. sold for an Allegheny business man to H. A. Wise No. 323 Lippert street, Millvale, a seven-room house, lot 22x88 feet, for $2,000.

Kelly street: William S. Beck sold to Jacob B. Hench a lot 75x155 feet in the north side of Kelly street, near Homewood avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $3,100.

Idlewild street: Charles P. Brown sold to James Hosmer an improved lot, 28x100 feet, in the south side of Idlewild street, near Sterrett street, Twenty-first ward, for $4,550.

Winebiddle avenue: Blanch B. Dorfshaffer sold to Ernestine Kassel an improved lot, 30x100 feet in the east side of Winebiddle avenue, near Dauphin street, Nineteenth ward, for $2,600.

Wilmot street: William P. Halcombe, trustee for Henry C. Patterson, sold to Otto F. Maiser a lot 25x154 feet in the south side of Wilmot street, near Juliet, Fourteenth ward, for $1,500.

Wadsworth street: E. T. Wright sold to John Mahaney a lot 25x109 feet, in the north side of Wadsworth street, Thirteenth ward, for $500.

M. O. Coggins, the Liberty avenue produce merchant, has purchased from the Gillespie estate a vacant lot 50x150 feet, in the north side of Dawson avenue, between Rodgers and Thomas avenues, Third ward, Bellevue, for $750, the deal having been consummated yesterday. The property adjoins former holdings of Mr. Coggins, giving him a total frontage of 250 feet in that part of Dawson avenue.

Small Residence Sales.

Jane street: Christine Rothleder sold to William Ruskin an improved lot, 20x69 feet, in the north side of Jane street, near South Eighteenth, Twenty-sixth ward, for $2,000.

Liberty avenue: Alice Halter sold to Joseph N. and Albert J. Halter one-third interest in an improved lot, 42x92 feet, at the east corner of Liberty avenue and Edmond street, Sixteenth ward, for $2,000.

Townsend street: David T. Evans sold to Isaac Friedman an improved lot, 24x100 feet, in the northeast side of Townsend street, Eighth ward, for $6,200.

McCandless avenue: D. W. Carrard sold to Henry Aiken an improved lot, 32x106 feet, at the east corner of McCandless avenue and Herison street, Eighteenth ward, for $5,500.

Chaucer street: James H. Miller sold to J. W. Walker an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in the south side of Chaucer street, near Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $2,500.

Charles G. McCoy sold to Ida W. Massena an improved lot, 37x100 feet, in the Paterson street, Dallas avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $2,000.

Iowa street: William W. Pease sold to Adolphus P. Howard a lot 100x100 feet, in the east side of Catalpa street, near East Herron avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $7,500.

Trent street: Patrick Higgins sold to James Atwell a lot 22x54 feet in the west side of Trent street, Eleventh ward, for $850.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A dispatch from Helena, Mont., says: "A rich vein of copper ore has been struck in the Richmond claim of the Bitter Root Copper Mining Company, operating about five miles from Saltese. Samples show from 25 to 50 per cent copper, from $8 to $12 in gold, a few ounces of silver, making it a strike of the first magnitude.

The Bald Butte Mining Company has declared its regular monthly dividend of 10 cents per share, payable to stockholders of record on the 15th inst. This makes a total of $165,000 paid this year, and brings up the total dividends paid to $1,282,148.

The Big Six Mining Company of Park county, Mont., has purchased for $40,000 the Berry, Bullion and Copper King claims in the immigrant mining district.

The entire Missouri-Kansas mining district continues a menace to zinc ore prices and there seems to be no immediate relief in sight. Within two weeks the price of zinc ore at Joplin has reduced $1 60 per ton and for no other reason except the car shortage, causing the accumulation of a large reserve stock.

Advices from Ore Fine, Idaho, indicate that rich samples of ore have been brought in from the Mascar mine, near there. The lead now being worked is increasing in width with depth, and the ore is said to be of slightly 40 degrees. The surrounding country has been one of the richest placer fields in Idaho.

During the month of October the Daily-West Company marketed 7,000 tons of ore, and concentrated that netted $280,000—nearly one-fifth as much as was produced during the entire year of 1901.

DR. ANNA ROLLINS TELLS STORY OF THE ARREST

Accuses City Detectives of Subjecting Her to Unusual Indignities at Central Station---All Deny Her Statements.

The trial of the case of Dr. Anna B. Rollins, formerly Schultz, of Chicago, against Roger O'Mara, Detective Kelly and ex-Detective McGovern for damages for false arrest, occupied the day yesterday in Judge Buffington's branch of the United States circuit court. The plaintiff detailed the incidents following her arrest.

She said on her arrival in Pittsburgh on March 7, 1901, she left the train and had gone about half a car length when she heard some one say: "Hello, Laura." She protested it was not her name and Detective McGovern she said, insisted that her name was "Laura Jackson," and that she was pretty smooth.

Dr. Rollins testified that she showed him a card bearing her name, and on her request for a cab to Central station she was told they would haul her in a patrol wagon. They finally decided to walk. She was asked to walk with Detective Kelly, who, she said, "was something of a gentleman."

At Central station, she testified, McGovern turned her over to the matron, remarking: "Here's a crook, search her and search her well." The search, she said, was humiliating, as she was compelled to disrobe and shield herself in a corner from the gaze of McGovern, as he paced past the slightly opened door. She said she could see his eyes fastened on her and that he finally entered the room and volunteered to assist the matron, if she needed it.

The matron found nothing, and the witness went downstairs with McGovern, who remarked, "You are pretty swell."

Her Meeting With O'Mara.

The witness became indignant, and McGovern took her by the arm and pushed her into a room, where Detective Kelly and Charles Anderson were sitting. She appealed to Anderson to get her a lawyer or do something for her; that she had been stripped and submitted to indignities.

She was then ushered into the "chief's room."

"This is the chief," she was told.

The chief told her to stand up. "You are pretty tall," he said, "and well put up."

She testified that she again made efforts to prove her identity, but without avail. She said her visit to Pittsburgh was to reclaim a sister, who was leading an immoral life, and in this she was successful.

Andrew A. Broune, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, produced the telegram sent by Dr. Rollins from the Baltimore & Ohio station on the morning of her arrest. It said: "I have been stopped in Pittsburgh on suspicion. Get Senator Hanna to wire authorities. Anna." It was sent to Thomas H. Carter at Washington.

Stationmaster Gallagher of the Baltimore & Ohio testified about McGovern calling at the baggage room with the check for Dr. Schultz's suit case and searching it.

Charles Anderson, colored, testified he came from Cumberland on the same train with Dr. Schultz. He was introduced by Mrs. Catlett to the plaintiff and afterward went to the station house, where he said he saw her after she came downstairs. She was nervous and crying, and said she had been searched and received terrible treatment. She asked him to get some one to help her.

Attorney Burleigh, in opening for the defense, said they would show that the officers had every reason for arresting the plaintiff; that she answered the description of a woman wanted for stealing $4,200, and that she refused to give her name. He averred that she was treated in a considerate manner.

Detectives Make Denials.

Detective Kelly described the arrest. He said when he exclaimed: "Hello, Laura," she turned quickly. When he told her of the contents of the telegram she refused to give her name, saying it was none of his business. She did not tell her name until she reached the public safety building. The woman was released at 7 p. m. upon the receipt of a message from Superintendent Sylvester of the Washington police saying she was not the woman wanted.

On cross-examination Kelly denied that any indignities were offered the plaintiff, but admitted there had been no effort made by the authorities to look for a South Side undertaker named Jackson, who, the woman said, could identify her.

McGovern denied Mrs. Rollins' accusation as a whole. He said they were merely acting in the line of duty and that the prisoner was compelled to submit only to the ordinary police routine. He said she refused to give her name when arrested, and her actions were such as to justify taking her to the station house.

He said Dr. Schultz exclaimed, when placed under arrest, "You are a fine lot of wise men—you don't know a thief when you see one."

Concerning the patrol wagon incident, when she asked for a cab, he said he had jokingly replied, "The only thing we have is a patrol wagon."

He denied walking up and down past the door during the time she was searched. He denied offering any assistance to the matron, and said he was in the inspector's office during the time and the door was shut, preventing anyone from hearing what was going on. McGovern also denied the use of the words attributed to him by the plaintiff. He denied having taken anything from her baggage while searching it.

McGovern Asked About His Discharge.

On cross-examination he was asked by Attorney Randolph: "You were discharged from the detective department, were you not?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"For incompetency?" asked the attorney.

"No, sir," was the positive answer.

Roger O'Mara testified that he had the witness brought into his office to look her over. "I told her she was rather large," he said, "and answered the description in the telegram. I told Detective Kelly, after she had told her story, and said she had a sister here, to telegraph as she directed, and told McGovern to locate her sister. I left instructions, if her story was right, that she should be discharged." O'Mara denied he had offered her any insult or indignities.

The trial will be resumed today in Judge Buffington's private chambers, and only the witnesses and newspaper reporters, aside from counsel and jury, will be permitted to listen to the evidence. The matron who searched Dr. Schultz at Central station will be the first witness called.

DUNCAN STILL IN JAIL.

Application for Release on Bail Had to Be Postponed, Bondsman Having Sold Property.

"Make the time short," said Dr. Ellis S. Duncan yesterday, when he discovered that arrangements for his release on bail had not been perfected. He is charged with the felonious shooting of Bruce Mead at the Greentree camp of Kerr & Co. last month.

Attorney W. A. Challener, one of Dr. Duncan's legal advisers, announced that the application for bail for his client would have to go over. It is understood that one of the persons to be named as bondsman recently sold his property. Dr. Duncan seemed very much disappointed in not obtaining his release. He showed the effects of his confinement in jail when he was brought into court. Attorney Challener was informed that 48 hours' notice would have to be given before Dr. Duncan could be admitted to bail.

BLOWING ENGINES WORTH $1,000,000

Mesta Machine Co. Wrests Fat Contracts from Older Makers.

TEN ORDERS YESTERDAY

Has Over $2,000,000 Worth of Engine Contracts to Fill. Besides a Heavy Business in Rolling Mill Machinery.

The Mesta Machine Company has on its books unfilled orders for heavy blowing engines aggregating in value over $1,000,000. Besides these it has orders to fill for over $1,000,000 worth of reversing engines. In addition to all this the company has a tremendous business booked in rolling mill machinery.

The Mesta company made its advent into the field of blowing engine manufacture about three years ago, with the completion of its big plant at West Homestead. Since then it has taken many millions of dollars' worth of business of this character from the older manufacturers at Milwaukee and Philadelphia, which had the run on it.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company yesterday placed a contract with the Mesta company for 10 blowing engines to feed five blast furnaces, the engines displacing old ones. These new engines will be of the smaller class manufactured by the Mesta company, the air cylinders being of 84 inches diameter by 60-inch stroke. The same Tennessee company a few months ago placed an order with the Mesta company for a large reversing engine, which will weigh 400 tons.

The National Steel Company, Union Steel Company, Illinois Steel Company and others combine with the Tennessee company in the more than $1,000,000 of blowing engines orders which the Mesta company now has to fulfill. There are 26 of them.

In a shipment just made from the works of the Mesta company it was necessary to use the great four-truck cars of which the Pennsylvania company has four, made for the transportation of heavy ordinance. They are the so-called gun cars, and were sent to the Mesta company works to carry two castings, each weighing 85 tons, to go into a monster reversing engine for the Alan Wood Steel Company at Conshohocken, Pa. This engine has a pair of cylinders of 50 inches diameter and 60-inch stroke and is a radical departure in make-up.

Richard G. Wood, formerly vice president at the head of the Pittsburgh department of the American Sheet Steel Company, and Alan W. Wood are associated with their uncle in the Alan Wood Company, which is to become one of the most extensive steel corporations in the east.

PUNISHABLE BY DEATH.

Highway Robbery Made a Capital Offense in Philippines.

MANILA, Nov. 13.—The United States commission has passed an act to assist the suppression of ladronism. It makes highway robbery, committed by three or more persons, a capital offense. A conviction does not require proof of the actual commission of the crime, the existence of a band of brigands under arms being sufficient. The commission has also passed a sweeping vagrancy act, drawn up so as to reach both dissolute natives and foreigners.

WORK BEGUN THAT SHOULD BE DONE

Telephone Poles Should Be Off Seven Thoroughfares by This Time.

ORDINANCE LET SLIDE

Streets Should Be Clear by Next May, but Only Downtown District and Fifth Avenue Will Be Finished.

The residents of Fifth avenue, who have been complaining to the department of public works of the dirt and inconvenience caused by the laying of conduits in the street, are only experiencing something that the residents of Liberty, Penn, Wylie, Center, Fifth and Forbes avenues and Carson street ought to have experienced long ago. The work of laying the conduits is imposed upon the telephone companies by ordinance, and, instead of only being begun, should, by the terms of the ordinance, be nearly completed.

It is useless to make complaint to the department of public works, for it was the director of that department, Dr. McCandless, who is the immediate cause of the upheaval of Fifth avenue. When the work of laying the conduits has been done the street will be clear of unsightly poles and the wires will be buried under ground.

Work Should Have Been Completed.

Early in his term he came across an ordinance of May 22, 1895, pertaining to the removal of electric light, telephone and telegraph poles. This ordinance gives the companies until May 22, 1903, to remove poles from certain streets and bury the wires.

The work of burying wires has practically been completed in the downtown district, but the ordinance stipulates that, beginning at the edge of that district and extending to the eastern property line, poles must be removed from the streets named.

Furthermore, the ordinance provides that one-eighth of the work must be done every year, so that, if the companies had obeyed the city law all the work of laying the wires underground would have been completed. While the companies have nearly six months in which to do the work, the season available for this year is about over, as the streets cannot well be dug up in winter.

Fifth Avenue to Be Cleared.

It was made the duty of the director of the department of public works to watch the companies and compel them to do the one-eighth of the work required by the ordinance. He found that this had not been done. When the companies had completed the work of laying conduits in the congested district they stopped, and left the seven streets untouched, from the edge of the congested district to the eastern property line. Thereupon he notified the companies to begin the work so that the one-eighth of the work he was bound to see done might be completed before the end of 1902. About three months ago the work of laying the conduits in Fifth avenue was started. Gratifying progress has been made. Director McCandless said yesterday that before freezing weather sets in all Fifth avenue will be free of poles.

It is supposed that the companies will ask for an extension of time beyond May 22, 1903. The ordinance provides no penalty, so that they cannot be punished for not having completed the work.

DEMAND TROOPS WITHDRAWN.

Chinese Want German and British Soldiers to Leave Country.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—Unusually strong articles are appearing in the Chinese newspapers, declaring that by the withdrawal of the British troops from Shanghai to Wei-Hai-Wei, and the withdrawal of the German forces from here to Tsing-Tau (Kiao Chou) the independence of the Yang-tse valley is still menaced.

The Chinese want the British and the Germans to get out of China altogether, instead of merely evacuating Shanghai and withdrawing to their respective garrison stations in China. The papers add that a conflict between Germany and Great Britain is inevitable.

U. S. Imports Affected.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in the house of commons today, denied that the Bond-Hay convention prohibited Newfoundland from according preferential duties to its mother country and her colonies. But he admitted that if such preferences were made it would also, by the terms of the convention, apply to the chief imports of the United States.

Secretaries Are Barred Out.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 13.—In the general missionary conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today a sharp debate took place on the question as to whether or not secretaries of the conferences had the right to sit and vote as members. By a vote of 26 to 19, it was decided not to admit them.

Ports Closed by Scourge.

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, Nov. 13.—President Zelaya has issued a decree declaring Nicaragua's Atlantic ports to be quarantined against vessels from Colon, Colombia; Bocas del Toro, Colombia, and Port Limon, Costa Rica, because of the outbreak of yellow fever at those places.

WARSHIPS FOR SALE.

British Government Wishes to Dispose of Antiquated Vessels.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—As a result, apparently, of agitation by Vice Admiral Beresford and others regarding the lack of "up-to-datedness" in the British navy, the admiralty has announced that the battleships Agamemnon, Ajax and Edgar, the turret ships Hecate, Glatton, Cyclops, Hyra and Gorgon, the torpedo ram Polyphemus, the frigate Nettle, the cruisers Heroine and Hyacinth, and some smaller vessels, are all for sale.

They will be dropped from the navy list immediately.

THE VOTE FOR MAYOR.

Special Election Probably Necessary for the Town of Ithaca, N. Y.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The official canvass, as completed for Ithaca today, reveals that the vote cast for Democratic and Republican candidates for mayor was a tie. William R. Gunderman, the present mayor, who was the candidate on the Republican ticket, and George Miller, the Democratic candidate, each received 1,682 votes. A special election will probably be held.
